WHAT COUNTS IN WINNING THE GAME

(By Margaret Galloway)

The games of football, baseball, basketball, and the like are not the only games in which we may participate. To me, the game of life, in which we all take part, is the greatest of all games.

Many things count in the winning of this game of life. To be able to make something of ourselves we must have certain qualities in our characters to make us win the game of life. We must have certain qualities emotional, social, and intellectual to give us the will-power to win this game. There are certain qualities that people have had who have won the game of life, but that does not necessarily mean that we must have all of the following qualities to be a success.

First, we should have a general tendency to be cheerful. We should not be grouchy. We need a certain degree of humor in order to have a well-balanced attitude toward life.

We should have friends. On the other hand, we should not be extroverts and live outside ourselves, but we should have a certain degree of introversion. One of the most important emotional traits we should have is belief in ourselves. We should have confidence in ourselves and know we have the power to do the job we are undertaking.

Most of the qualities mentioned in the preceding paragraph are emotional qualities. Now I shall turn to the social traits which count. We should like companionship; also we should try to get along with even the most impossible people. We should join in activities with them and make them our friends. We should be trustworthy and honest and feel as if we could be trusted by anyone and, most of all, be trusted by ourselves.

Now come the intellectual traits, which are very important. We should have good common sense in addition to having book sense. Some people who are bubbling over with book sense are empty to the extent of common sense. We should have original, but sensible ideas, and a certain degree of creativeness. Another good quality to develop is a good memory. Then we should reserve a certain amount of our time for work aside from our usual studies. Another important trait that we should develop is self-criticism. We should always consider well what we are doing; and then, if it is not satisfactory, we should criticize ourselves for our mistakes.

Of course, much could be said about this subject, but I consider these few emotional, social, and intellectual traits the most important in winning the game of life.

SENIOR INJURED IN ACCIDENT

(By Lois Moore)

It was with regret that the students and faculty of Brevard high school learned of the serious injury which Louise Gravelly, a member of the graduating class, suffered in an automobile accident last week. Miss Gravelly received a fracture at the base of the skull, as well as other less serious injuries. The entire school group wishes for Louise a speedy recovery and an early return to her work.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

(By Hale Chamberlain)

George Washington, the first president of the United States, was a real character. We are very apt to forget that such a man actually lived, for we always associate him with the dead, misty past. It isn't until we are well into high school that we begin to suspect the authenticity of his existence. But a reference to Washington will still evoke from most of us only a hazy vision of a man with lofty countenance and white powdered wig who chopped down a cherry tree in his youth and would not tell a lie.

George Washington was remarkable as a man of enormous energy governed by a cool and steady brain. His inflexible sense of justice can be compared only to that of Lincoln. In peacetime as well as wartime, his ability as a leader was extraordinary. Even today one is inspired by his serious, masterful countenance that seems to hold in check a wealth of power and might. It will be well to give a thought today to the man who, 208 years ago, was born to give our America the inspiration to become a great nation.

STUDENTS HEAR MR. BILLUPS

Bob Huggins

The Rev. E. P. Billups was guest speaker at the assembly period Thursday. Mr. Billups, in view of Lincoln's birthday, appropriately chose this great man for his subject and read with understanding Ida M. Tarbell's deeply human poem, "He Knew Lincoln."

MILLS RIVER DEFEATS BREVARD

By Sarah Hester Fowler

The Mills River boys and girls easily defeated the Brevard basketball teams Thursday night.

The Mills River girls were like red flashes as they darted here and there making enough points to keep ahead of the Brevard girls from beginning to end. Although the Brevard girls played hard, they were outplayed by the opposing team. McKinney of Mills River led her team with 17 points. Bennett and Fowler scored 4 points each for Brevard.

In the boys' game Cagle of Mills River was the high scorer with 9 points. Carland was second, looping 7 points. At the half the Brevard boys had only 1 point, but scored 11 more the second half, making a final score of 21-12. Both teams played fine ball with Mills River leading from start to finish.

ON THE COURT WITH "HANK"

By Henry Carland

Robert Jackson is on a sit-down strike until he grows a little, so he can get up in the air like McCrary from Hendersonville.

Cecile "Ballet Dancer" Gevodon can get around better, now that he has been taking dancing lessons.

Robert "Snagfoot" Tinsley surely does like to play basketball. This boy would almost walk two blocks to get to practice.

I guess the Hendersonville band would love to suck lemons now that the boys from Brevard have shown them how it is done.

Lonnie Jones has the big head now and will not travel to the games with the rest of the boys; he had rather drive Rooster Sinsard's car.

A. J. Parker, the "Bad Boy" from Pisgah Forest, is now on a diet so that he can reduce. He may get to play some time next year if he gets rid of some fat.

We play two games here this Thursday and Friday, so root for us, folks, we'll need it.

BREVARD BREAKS EVEN WITH HENDERSONVILLE

By Jean Bennett

Friday night the Brevard Blue Devils split a fast and furious double bill with Hendersonville's brightly clad Bearcats. The birds from Brevard were ahead throughout the game, though their victory (30-27) was far from a "walkaway." The boys played a hard game, too, but lost 13-33. Both games proved to be exciting and very rough—a total of 46 fouls being called in the girls' game.

It took a while for the two Blue Devil teams to acustom themselves to the large, slick floor, because two steps and a push sent the player all the way down the floor. But after a while the sliding helped rather than hindered.

For the girls, forward Thelma Daniels was high pointer, with 17 points. Bob Jackson made 6 points for the boys.

A large crowd attended the game, including many adults from Brevard. Also the Hendersonville school band made a fine showing at the games and served to increase the excitement of the crowd and the players.

HERE AND THERE

By Frances M. and M. J. Brown
 Who's who at Brevard high school this week:

Suit Case—The plaintiff, Paula Mae, has filed suit against Here and There typist for making a mistake. She declares that it was she who said that glamour-boy Link was always sweet, instead of Hale Chamberlain's Bertie Mae.

Trio Mystery—Persons involved—Thelma B., Doug W., and Melba S. Only clue so far—note to Thelma to answer and return to Melba, who has her instructions. Signed "Texas".

Old Faithful—"Gals" doesn't have to be called twice when Jean B. is involved.

We hope—The junior-senior banquet is just around the corner, unless the juniors decide otherwise.

Leapin' Lena's Love—It might have been cold in the rumble seat, but Lonnie was there. Who was she?

Missing Parties—Who's missing? Mary Will and Jack H.

Who's missing them? Robert T. and Katie S.

Cupid Strikes—Carl, have a "Hart". Marie's on hand, and Cupid's busy, "Faithful Forever."

Who else but Dot M. and Herman R.? And they're still going strong.

Anonymous—Comic valentines—Bob, see "Snooks" for revenge.

Coincidence?—Does it just happen that Robert J. sits by Sarah Hester in three classes? I wonder.

Ponder's Ponderings—Does N. L. think as much about Mary Alice H. as vice versa? More power to you, Mary Alice.

Robbing the Cradle—Mutt, have you had a letter from Chapel Hill lately? Gone but not forgotten.

Suspect—Wee Willie Wilson—what went on up at the M.D.'s—good-looking doctor or sompin'?

Two-timer—That's Grace M. Did you see "them" at the game Tuesday afternoon while Jack wasn't looking? The other half of 'them' was James G.

Honorable Mention—Wonder what junior boy Patsy hated to leave. Anyway, Mrs. Wike changed her seat in study hall.

Just a college "twerp"—That's why Jeanne H. broke the date for Saturday night. Are you disappointed, Twerp?

Pastimes—Odell McCall's—Robert Head Junior Miller's—Kathleen Wilson (show good?)

Helen Pick's—Bob Gash Jim McRae's—making fudge Jacky Wiley's—snow bailing Margie Perry's—just anything Ruth Osborne's—keeping a diary Nelia Galloway's—passing notes to Hazel and Margaret.

You're the jury. Did you say that was enough? Court's adjourned 'til next week.

Correction

It has been brought to my attention that, inadvertently, a perfectly understandable bit of misinformation slipped into the Here and There a week ago. It seems that one Bertie Mae Orr and one Charles Link were paired. For the sake of accuracy, as well as my own, I hereby refute this statement. The esteemed C. L. is more properly to be associated with Paula Mae Smathers, and last week's News should have been to this effect. The staff extends its most profound apologies to Bertie M. Orr and Paula M. Smathers.

Transylvania County Recreation NEWS

(By Mrs. Bess W. May)

A state-wide marble tournament will be conducted in all counties of the state with finals being run off in Greensboro in June.

The recreation center in Brevard will conduct the play off in Transylvania county. It is requested that all county schools enter this contest and send winner to the recreation center, for the county play off, at a date to be specified later by this paper.

A brief summary of rules for conducting this tournament is as follows: The tournament is open to boys and girls of 14 years or under. A boy or girl who becomes 15 on or after July 1, 1940, is eligible to play, and one who becomes 15 any time before July 1, 1940 is not eligible to play.

The ring must be 10 feet in diameter with 13 marbles arranged in the center in a cross. Steel marbles cannot be used, and official games will be run off with clay marbles. A player must knuckle down so that at least one knuckle is in contact with the ground.

To determine the order of shooting two straight lines opposite each other should be drawn tangent to the ring. These are known as the Pitch line and Lag line. Players stand to the left of the pitch line and toss shooters to the lag line. The order of nearness to the lag line will determine the order of shooting. The same shooter must be used in both lag and game.

A player may continue to shoot when he knocks one or more marbles out of the ring, provided his shooter remains inside the ring.

An official set of rules will be furnished each school upon request. These rules cover the contest in detail.

Further information covering dates of final run off will be published as the season progresses.
