"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

Is it necessary to be a high school graduate in order to enlist in the Navy?

No. Navy enlistees need not be high school graduates. All applicants will be given an examination containing approximately 100 questions. A grade of 50 per cent or better on this examination is sufficiently high to pass the Navy educational standards. However, a high school education will be valuable to the seaman during his Navy enlistment.

If I enlist in the Navy or Naval Reserve, will I be sent to a Navy Trade School?

All new recruits are sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and after a training period they may take examinations for entrance into Navy Trade Schools. Those recruits who pass their examinations with sufficiently high grades are sent to Navy Trade Schools before assignment to the fleet. While attending these schools, they will receive regular Navy pay and free schooling valued at $1500.

What is the greatest possible pay I can expect to earn during my first term of enlistment?

It is possible to earn as much as $125 a month by the end of your first term of enlistment, and remember that your clothing, lodging, medical and dental care are all supplied free.

After I have served my term of enlistment, what benefits do I get for re-enlistment?

Depending on your rate and length of service, you can get a cash bonus up to $300 plus 30 days leave with pay.

What does the term "ash can" mean in the Navy?

An "ash can" is a slang term applied to the depth charge used to combat submarines. The average "ash can" is a container filled with approximately 300 pounds of T.N.T. and can be dropped overboard from a ship and so controlled as to explode at depths ranging from 36 to 300 feet. These are generally carried by the fast ships in the fleet, as a boat dropping a charge regulated to explode at 70 feet depth must move away from the explosion area at a speed of 25 knots or more. These "ash cans" are either rolled off the stern or shot from "y-guns" which hurl one right and one left simultaneously.

Collects Smallest Ants In The World

GRAND FORKS, N. D.—Dr. Neal A. Weber, biology professor at the University of North Dakota, believes he has eight of the smallest ants in the world.

Weber collected the minute insects in an African jungle near the headwaters of the Nile and Congo rivers. He says the ants, so tiny that 12 together are the size of a pinhead, are the smallest of the world's 13,000 known ant species.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

There seemed to be an awful lot of excitement last week. I wonder what caused it. Oh! I see. It was the big fair at Hendersonville.

Say, Donna Ruth, what's wrong with Middle Fork these days? Or is it the bus driver you like?

Well! Well! The "sucker" season is in again. But you better not be taking them to chemistry class or you may be called on.

Don't tell me old romances don't mend. Just how about Betty B. and Brandon S.

They tell me Lucy T. and T. C. M. surely have a time reading the paper together.

Elaine O. was nearly tickled when she saw that Bert S. had grabbed her picture.

Wanda G. enjoys sitting in the back of the room in study hall and winking at boys and laughing when someone says "candy".

"Cindy" wake up and live even if "Shorty" did get Carmel H. you still have Ford O. yet, I hope.

J. B! Such funny noises you make in math.

Tolvin M. seems to enjoy napping in study hall. Could he be studying in his dreams?

Potato chips seem to be a favorite with W. B. H. Especially in second period.

Vivian G. and Ray I. were talking in the hall the other day. Could their subject have been about the war?

Well, well, Louise. How is the same old romance between you and your Asheville guy?

Tut! Tut! girls, you had better be careful about running through the hall for there is a hidden eye watching you.

A feature movie entitled, "Everything On Ice", was enjoyed by the school on Monday. Many interesting and educational features were shown in the picture. Another educational picture will be shown for the students on October 7.

8TH GRADE AG. BOYS INITIATED

By Pat Summey and John Underwood
The eighth grade agriculture boys were initiated on Tuesday. Blindfolded and with their shoes off, they were taken to a dilapidated farm, where they had a number of interesting experiences, including a trip to the electric chair. They were presented a green hand which they were to wear a week, after which the president announced them members of the Future Farmers of America.
