

Ecusta Inter-Department Bowling Off To Good Start

Machine Booklet and Office, Champagne and Pulp Mill Successful

There was much activity in the Ecusta Inter-dept. bowling leagues last week and the first of this week. In the girls' duck pin league Machine Booklet B team defeated Finishing A by the score of 2-1. Marjorie Reynolds had high single game and high set for the winning team, but Mabel McNeely rolled the highest set score of the evening. Her actual score was 263.

In the same league Office downed Hand Booklet A 3-0. Roberta Bryant led the winners with a 260 score. Justine Williams was next high with a 235. On the following night Hand Booklet B won over Endless Belt 2-1. Ann Morris, captain of the Hand Booklet B team, was high scorer with 265 for the set. Her high single game score was also tops for the evening. It was 195. Machine Booklet A handed Finishing dept. B a 3-0 shellacking that same night.

On Monday night Captain Buck Albert's Champagne team showed its temporary superiority by handing Paper Mill a 3-0 trimming. Albert led the way with a 497 set and was ably assisted by Jimmie Glanville who had a 204 single game. Ed Williams was high for the losers with 495.

Despite Bruce Reynolds' high set of 513 and Bob Kapper's 509, Inspection won two from Maintenance. Captain Bill Long of the winners had the best score of the evening with 517, which is mighty good bowling in any industrial league. Emil Vassey had the best single game. He rolled 207.

Also in the men's ten pin league Monday night, Pulp Mill won over Office 2-1. The old reliable, as his teammates call him, "Knuckle Ball" Morris, led his team to the win with a 480 set score, while the best the Office had was Pete Eberle's 423. The game the Office won was their first victory of the season, but with good bowlers like Pete Eberle and George Huskamp, the Office team will have a good chance of upsetting several teams.

Ed McCoy, manager of the Centennial alleys, says that many spectators have been witnessing the matches and the public is cordially invited to any or all of them.

The question in the sports world this week is: What happened to Carolina against Tulane last week? We don't know; we'd like to know. Coach Wolf said his boys had their heart taken out of them when the first kick-off was returned for a touchdown. Sports scribes say the four 200-pound lines of Tulane just kept the Tar Heels knocked off their feet all afternoon. Anyway, it was the worst defeat the Tar Heels have encountered since the coming of Wolf to North Carolina.

We venture to say, tho, he'll be leaving soon. He doesn't seem to have the material this year. And that's what we said last year. And we suppose we'll be saying that for the next three years. Coach Wolf, you know, is in the second year of his five-year contract. Hereafter, we've always picked Carolina over Duke, but if we do so this year, and we might do anything between now and November 15th, we will be utterly, unequivocally, definitely, plainly and unalterably nuts!

But don't think Carolina won't be in there fighting at Wake Forest Saturday. Those Tar Heels are going to beat somebody this year (we hope) and it might be Wake Forest Saturday.

Tennessee, although beaten by Alabama last Saturday, seems to be improving as the season hits the mid-way mark. The game would have been a tie game, in all probability, had not Hust, a Vol back, tripped over the safety man's feet with a clear field ahead of him. (What would the sports writers write about if there weren't "ifs" and "buts"?)

We pause now to pat Joe Blalock on the back just about the greatest end Southern sport fans have ever seen. This boy Blalock has really played bang-up football for Clemson all season. Against Boston he scored two touchdowns. In fact, every time his team has needed a score, he has come through. All we can say is: "watch out South Carolina Saturday."

WINNERS LAST WEEK

The employees of Brevard Lumber company seem to know more about football than anybody else in town. Don Jenkins says they can do other things down there besides pick football winners, too. Anyway, last Saturday Roy McCall picked 10 out of 11 winners, and the one he missed was a tie. Picking that Rice-LSU upset was tops in predicting. Lloyd Hughes, business manager of Brevard College was in second place. He picked nine out of the 11. Tom Mitchell also picked nine winners, but missed guessing the Asheville-Brevard score by one more point than did Hughes.

Again this week we're giving free theatre tickets with the compliments of Mr. Verne Clement, owner of the Clemson and Co-Ed theatres...two tickets go to the person guessing the highest number of winners...one ticket goes to the person in second place. Be sure to send in your entry to The Times office not later than 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. Pick the winners and guess only the Brevard-Hayesville score.

Brevard—Hayesville.
Carolina—Wake Forest.
Davidson—Furman.
Duke—Pittsburg.
Georgia—Alabama.
Auburn—Georgia Tech.
Mississippi—Tulane.
Vanderbilt—Princeton.
Maryland—Pennsylvania.
State—Newberry.
Richmond—V. M. I.
V. P. I.—Washington & Lee.

Turkey Creek Bride Honored With Party

(Miss Emma B. Orr) Turkey Creek Correspondent

Mrs. Ed Owenby entertained with a shower Saturday evening in honor of Mrs. Ike Cairnes, recent bride, who was formerly Miss Helen Conley. After the playing of games the colored laundry woman brought in the basket of laundry to Mrs. Cairnes, which, when opened, proved to be a shower of gifts. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. Claude Brown is recovering in Transylvania Community hospital from an appendix operation performed Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Orr and baby have moved from Pisgah Forest into the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Conley.

Several children in this community have been ill with measles. Among those are Emily Tinsley, Mabel Galloway and Betty Gardner.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Orr were business visitors in Asheville Monday.

Mrs. Mary Kilpatrick and daughter, Katherine, of Brevard, attended the singing at the church here Sunday night.

A group of girls enjoyed a hike up the mountain to Mr. and Mrs. Wade Lyday's last Sunday. They were Misses Dorothy Conley, Lois McCall, Lucille Brown, Othelia Parris and Emma Orr.
