

The time has come once more... yes sree, it's apple pickin' time in Western North Carolina again, and thousands of bushels of apples are being harvested by orchardists in the mountain area. Even ye old scribe went out to get a few the other day, and to do a little photography on the side. We took some (with the picture machine, we mean) Virginia Beauties, or maybe it was Stayman Winesaps, but anyway the beauty with them was a Tar Heel, Mrs. Johnnie Clark, who willingly posed in front of a heavily-laden tree while we were busy clicking shutters. We believe you'll agree with us that she made a good model to set off the apples. If you need proof, see the picture elsewhere in this week's issue of The Times...but you've already seen it, no doubt.

The Irish potatoes have a way with them...in Transylvania county especially. You know, it's been said that the Greeks had a word for it...well, the Irish potatoes in this county have a way to grow that leaves them to be dugged up in various forms. Previously we mentioned two potatoes that had been brought into our sanctum bedlam... one by Mr. Lem Brooks and another by Mrs. Hester McGaha...this time the odd and unusual comes from Mr. Flem Glazener from up Rosman way...and it's not so much the potato as what it got itself into—a teaspoon. Yep, this potato grew right into the bowl of a teaspoon, with the handle curled back alongside of the potato. All in the world it lacked was the cooking, and it would have been ready to eat...just pick it right up in its spoon it brought along with it from the ground up. One of these press days when we get real hungry we're going to drop the potato, spoon and all, into the melting pot and have hot lead and potatoes to ease the headache of press day.

Such an epidemic as we had in Brevard and Transylvania county over the past week-end has no right to be mentioned in a column such as this, but

TABLE SHOWS DATA ON NEW INCOME TAX

The new 1941 Federal Revenue Act doubles personal income taxes in the middle brackets, and more than triples them in the lower brackets. Corporation taxes are sharply increased, and rise to an all time high.

How tremendous these increases really are is shown by the following comparison between the 1940 and 1941 laws. This illustration is based on the income of a married person with no dependents:

Net In.	1940 Law	New Law	% Inc.
$ 2,500	$ 11	$ 290.00	700%
5,000	110	375.00	240%
10,000	528	1,305.00	147%
25,000	3,843	6,846.00	80%

Those present for the dinner included Miss Fanny Boggs, of Oteen; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lyday, of Morganton; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Coggins, formerly of Detroit, Michigan, but who have recently moved here; Miss Harriett Boggs, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Boggs, W. R. Boggs, and Andrew Boggs.

All grandchildren were present except Miss Mildred Lyday who is nursing at Baptist Hospital in Winston-Salem and was unable to attend.

Miss Harriett Boggs, who is recuperating from a serious knee injury she received in a fall while on duty at Woman's Hospital in Detroit, will leave next Monday to resume her duties there.

956 Get Lump Sum S S Payments In '41

Lump sum payments made under the Social Security Act in cases where an insured worker died leaving no family member entitled to monthly survivors' insurance benefits went to 956 persons in North Carolina during the first six months of 1941, according to T. Bosworth Hulcher, manager of the social security office at Asheville, N. C. These payments totaled $90,095, he said, adding that the number of persons receiving payment is greater than the number of deceased wage earners, with respect to whose wages payments were made, since on the death of some insured workers more than one person may be entitled to share in the lump-sum payment.

Mrs. Brown Knits For British Aid

Mrs. W. A. Brown, 75, mother of W. T. Brown, county jailer and deputy sheriff, spends her spare time knitting for the Bundles for Britain local chapter. Recently Mrs. Brown knitted 13 pairs of socks and four mufflers to be sent to the British.

there were two incidents, not big enough to be accidents, which occurred late last Saturday afternoon that we'll have to speak a word about. Both of them took place on the corner of Whitmire and Caldwell streets right near Virginia Lodge where Brevard college co-eds abide. This is what happened. Within a period of thirty minutes, two cars side-swiped the same electric light pole, doing about the same amount of damage in practically the same place on the cars. To our mind, that is a case of identicalities, though they were of an unpleasant nature. Incidentally, we might add, neither of the drivers was hurt—in the same place.

DEER HUNT IS APPROVED BY STATE GROUP

The state board of conservation and development approved plans for the shooting of doe in the annual Pisgah Forest deer hunt this year but warned it would not do so again, at a special meeting at Asheville on Monday.

Decision of the board followed appearance of A. C. Shaw of the Atlanta regional office of the U. S. Forest Service, H. B. Bosworth, supervisor of Pisgah and F. J. Ruff, technician.

The state and the federal forest service have long been at odds over the Pisgah deer hunts and once carried their disagreement to the U. S. supreme court, where the forest service was upheld in its contention that it had control of game on the forest lands.

The conservation board voted to "concur in the plans of the forest service" to conduct the hunt "although it does not approve the shooting of doe, in view of the inclusion of this area in the cooperative game management program between the state and the federal government, now pending and probably to be consummated by next season, and on condition that it will not again approve the taking of doe."

ENROLLEES IN CPT COURSE ARE GIVEN

Ten Young Men Are Taking Flight Training During Fall Semester

Grady W. Campbell, head of the industrial division of Brevard college and ground instructor and coordinator in the government's civilian pilot training program, announced enrollees in the primary course for the fall semester which opened on October 1. The course is taught jointly by the Meyer Flying service, Hendersonville, and Brevard College. The opening of the fall semester marked the fourth session of the CPT course to be taught primary students here.

Enrollees for the fall semester include Clarence Alfred Carpenter, of Asheville; Clay Tom Carpenter, of Brevard; Robert Hardin Crowder, of Shelby; Robert Clayton, of Brevard; Clinton Parker, of Cherryville; Edwin Ponder, of Rosman; William Silver, of Brevard; Peter Doub Strum, of Brevard; Robert Weaver, of Asheville; and Carl Gibson, of Marion.

Two auditors for the fall session of the program are G. H. Farley and Kin McNeil, both of Brevard.

In making announcement of the enrollees for the fall semester of the primary flight training course, Mr. Campbell stated that according to various analysis made by different authorities the importance of the CPT program in national defense is becoming increasingly great. He said that by the end of June, 1941, over 7,000 CPT trainees had entered the Army or Navy armed forces and that more than 1200 had become flight instructors in various capacities in the national defense program.

In view of the above facts, Mr. Campbell said, instructor training will be emphasized in the fall program. By so doing, he emphasized, the fall program of training CPT students now underway will help to prevent the threatening bottleneck in instructor production.
