GERMAN WEDGE DRIVEN IN LINE OF THE SOVIETS

Sixteenth German Division Reported Halted After Making Inroads

New masses of German tanks directed by Col. Gen. Ewald Von Kleist have stabbed a salient several miles deep into the Red army positions in a heavy offensive toward Rostov-on-Don, the railway junction which links the Caucasus with the rest of Russia, front-lone Soviet dispatches reported.

The location of the German wedge was given only as near the "village of K." But the 16th German tank division which made the push was reported halted after losing more than 4000 men, 15 tanks and 20 field artillery pieces.
