

GLANCING BACK AT BREVARD

Taken from the files of The Sylvan Valley News, beginning 1895

(From the file of March, 1906)

Repairs of Mrs. Lela English's millinery store have been completed and her spring opening will be next week.

Calloway Owenby died at his home at the Williams place last Monday and was buried at Enon on Tuesday morning.

Several branches which were cut from the trees in front of the Picklesimer building for the stringing of the electric wires, were allowed to remain nearly in the middle of Main street for two days.

T. W. Whitmire and A. M. Verdery went to Tryon on Wednesday and other towns along the border of North and South Carolina in the interest of their churn company, and report having done considerable business.

There has been no nightwatchman on duty for several nights. We learn that J. C. Loftis had another serious attack while in Asheville last week and has not been able to resume his duties since his return.

Probably no combination of business interests has ever occurred in Brevard which means as much to house builders and house furnishers as the one announced in this paper. J. A. Miller, Sr., who has long supplied our builders with lumber, glass, sash, doors, lime, cement, etc., Frank L. DeVane, with his large and complete stock of hardware, furniture, paint, and Fred Miller, Jr., as a working partner in the firm, makes a combination that will be hard to down. The Miller-DeVane Supply company will be incorporated with a capital of $30,000, $15,000 of which is paid in.

Miss Docia Love, daughter of Wilburn Love, late of Transylvania county, was married on the 13th inst. to James Homan, at Kalamazoo, Wash. Immediately after the words were said that made them one, they boarded a steamboat bound for the beautiful city of Portland, and will visit other cities on their bridal tour.

B. J. S. McLean, who recently went to California to live, writes back home a letter in which he said, "By golly, California's good enough for me. It sure is a pretty country out here."

Cathey's Creek Baptist church has just closed a great revival of religion. Rev. P. G. Elsom assisted Rev. F. M. Jordan in the revival, when 36 professed religion, of whom 25 joined the church. There was a big baptizing Sunday afternoon attended by a great crowd of folks. Mr. Elsom made his home with Joe Bryson and family, who he said were exceedingly kind to him, and he felt fully repaid also by staying in their home since four of the Bryson children professed religion during the meeting.

Aiken & English are advertising special prices on their fresh meats, the best the market affords, they claim. They also pay highest prices for wool, hides, raw furs and beeswax.

Joe Clayton anticipates the erection of a mansard roof over his hotel on the corner of Main and Caldwell streets, thereby adding 10 rooms to his hotel. He is only waiting for steady pleasant weather to tear off his present roof.

The beautiful new Baptist church at Charlottesville, Va., had its first wedding ceremony when Miss Marietta Huntley Snell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Allen Snell, became the bride of Rev. Jesse Roland Owen, of Lake Toxaway. The bride was attractive in a handsome gown of white mull. She had no attendants. After the ceremony the bridal party were given a reception by the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Owen will take no trip at this time. Until next June they will reside in Charlottesville, and next summer will be spent at the groom's home in Lake Toxaway. Mr. Owen is a minister of the Baptist denomination, who is now pursuing advance studies at the University of Virginia. He is chaplain at Rawlings Institute and has preached in the Baptist churches of Charlottesville, Va. Mrs. Owen is an accomplished musician, a graduate of Rawlings Institute.

County War Board To Assist In New Meat Control Plan

The Transylvania county, USDA War Board has been charged with two responsibilities under new orders issued by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard in a move to stamp out black market activities, according to T. J. Wilson, chairman of the board.

The three orders issued by Secretary Wickard provide: (1) that all slaughterers including farmers slaughtering for sale and butchers, must operate under a slaughter permit system; (2) that livestock dealers must obtain permits to buy and sell animals for slaughter; and (3) that all federally inspected meat packers set aside for war uses what ever percentage of production is required from time to time by the Food Distribution Administration for military and Lend-Lease needs. The first and second orders were effective at midnight on March 31, and the third order became effective March 5, he said.

"The County War Board will be responsible for issuing permits under the first and second orders," the chairman said. "Farmers who slaughter for sale, local slaughterers and butchers will obtain their permits from the War Board, as will livestock dealers who buy and sell animals for slaughter purposes."

He emphasized that farmers who slaughter for home use are not required to obtain permits, neither are they required to obtain permits to sell live animals. He said that the orders also provide that farmers, butchers, and packers who go over their quotas within the next three weeks, before the order becomes effective will have these quotas reduced for later periods. Livestock dealers will be required to establish inventories and keep complete records of purchases and sales.

"These orders are not designed to work a hardship on these persons who buy and sell and slaughter animals for meat purposes," Chairman Wilson said. "They are being put into effect to eliminate black market activities and to insure a fair distribution to civilians prior to the time when rationing of meat is started.

He said a check on amount of slaughtering will be maintained through the requirement that all wholesale cuts of meat must be stamped with the slaughterer's permit number.

The first national election in the United States was held January 7, 1789.

Bread baked on Christmas never becomes stale, according to an old superstition.

TO GIVE TRAINING EXAM HERE FRI.

Prospective Students For Army and Navy Training To Take Tests

Prospective students for the Army specialized training program will take qualifying examinations in Room 206 of Brevard high school at 9 A. M. on Friday, R. T. Kimzey, principal, announced today.

"Most boys accepted for either the Army specialized training program or the Navy college training program will eventually become commissioned officers in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard," Mr. Kimzey said. "The Army and the Navy will pay all expenses at the colleges of students selected on the basis of the tests on April 2. Since there will be no further tests for some months, all high school students or recent graduates will have to take the April 2 examinations to qualify for this training. This is an excellent opportunity for every ambitious boy, especially for those who are likely to be drafted within the next year."

That Extra Something!

...You can spot it every time

"SPOTLIGHT Bands", the radio program broadcast over Blue Network every week night for Coca-Cola, features the nation's favorite name bands. Their names mean something because their hands have something extra to offer. Coca-Cola got where it is by offering something that more than quenches thirst. It brings a delightful after-sense of refreshment, too.

In ice-cold Coca-Cola you find delicious taste that sets it apart. You find refreshment that goes into energy. Anybody can make a soft drink, but only The Coca-Cola Company makes Coca-Cola.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called Coke. Both mean the same thing... "coming from a single source, and well known to the community".

Lines are put in, stages fixed, loudspeakers hooked up, and rehearsal begins. Soon, the boys in uniform will hear their favorite band in person just as their families will on their home radios.

The best is always the better buy! 5¢
