BUYERS OF FARMS THRU FSA MAKING PAYMENT RECORDS

Most of Them Are Re-Paying Faster Than Minimum Requirements

Former tenants and sharecroppers, buying farms under the Bankhead - Jones Farm Tenant Act, are paying well ahead of schedule on their loans. Taking advantage of the "variable" payment plan, the 1605 "farm ownership" borrowers in this state in 1942, repaid 205 per cent of the amount they owed under their purchase agreements, according to figures compiled by the Farm Security Administration and released here by Ralph L. Smith, county supervisor.

These new home owners repaid $648,932 on their farms last year, compared with only $315,602 due under the 40-year amortization schedule covered by their contracts. 124 of the new owners paid $1000 or more each on their farms.

The variable payment plan, incorporated by Congress in its enactment of the Bankhead-Jones Act in 1937, is a new idea in loans for land purchase. It enables the borrower families to pay a greater amount than due in good crop years, stowing away an advantage against possible lean years. For instance, the average payment due per family in this state was only $196.00. Yet, the families in this state paid an average of $404.00.

These families not only showed initiative in making payments on their farms—they also made substantial increases in the production of war-essential crops and livestock, it is stated.

Men 38 To 45 Must Be In Essential Work Or Face Induction May 1

Washington—Selective service headquarters have announced what amounted to a work-or-fight order for all draft registrants, including 4-F's and men 38 through 44.

In a lengthy communication to local draft boards, selective service outlined steps designed to expedite the "back to the farm" movement promulgated by President Roosevelt.

At the same time, selective service informed the nation that not even men heretofore deferred for physical disabilities or men in the 38-through-44 age group would be absolved from liability to military service unless they are performing essential work or have taken steps to get into essential jobs by May 1.

These and other developments have led to widespread belief that the top draft age may be put back

Public Asked To Take Them To Grocery Stores. Bottlers Will Pick 'em Up

With the bottling companies making collections, a renewed drive to collect tin cans in Brevard and Transylvania county will be started on April 15, Howard Wyatt announces.

L. C. Wilson, of the state general salvage committee, was here last Saturday making plans for the drive.

All housewives in Brevard and the county are asked to flatten out all tin cans, put them in cardboard boxes and take the boxes to the grocery stores. From these points, the bottling company trucks will pick up the cans.

All persons are cautioned not to turn in tin cans with scrap metal collections, and the collection of the cans via garage collection is being discontinued for the time being.

The bottlers are interested in this campaign because much of their future cap supply is obtained through tin can salvage.
