JUNIOR-SENIOR RECEPTION HELD
By Jean Hall

The junior class entertained the seniors at a reception given in the study hall last Thursday evening.

The Victory motif was carried out and large red, white and blue V's decorated the room and a large flag was behind the speakers table.

The program began with a song by the junior class and a speech "The General Salutes" by the toast master, Bobby Lee Rice. The juniors then sang "We're Here For Fun" and the seniors sang "We're Glad."

The food was served by five girls of the second year home economics class. These included Wanda Galloway, Lucy Tinsley, Reba Petit, Faye Green and Ruby Moore.

"Citation for Gallantry" by Madrie Galloway and "Buck Privates" by Martha Whitmire. The songs, "This is the Army" and "Smiles" were sung by all. The class history was given by Frances Gillespie and the class prophecy by Ola McCall. Pat Summey read the class will and the seniors sang their class song, "Who's Who in Junior-Senior Classes" was read by Betty Rogers and Curtis Reid.

Brandon Summey gave gifts of remembrance to all the seniors.

As a closing speech Mr. Tilson gave a talk on "Soldiers All."

The reception was very enjoyable and there were approximately 60 persons present.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Well, it won't be long before you'll be hearing something else besides this nonsense stuff so our advice is, you'd better listen while the listening is good.

I wonder how Cornelia G. acquired the name of "Geometry Gillespie"? Strange thing that students get geometry class and study hall mixed up.

Well, Frances G. seems to have spotted a new seat on the bus. It is nice to sit by Junior T., isn't it?

The popular sport of the day is playing ball on the front lawn. That is if there's room after Betty R. and Carlos C. start playing.

Chloria K. must have had some reason for wanting to report on "David Copperfield." Maybe the first name reminds her of another David.

Sally W. seems to enjoy writing to a certain soldier. Don't forget, Sally, Donna Ruth wants his address.

The "twins" certainly enjoyed the junior-senior reception. Anyway, first look who their escorts were.

It's too bad that a certain senior girl doesn't know who "Licensed Lonnie" is. Well, time will tell.

Will wonders never cease? Charles Lee just can't make up his mind in regard to the "girl problem." First it's one and then the other!

STILL IS DESTROYED

Federal officers of the alcohol tax unit of Asheville captured a still in the Boylston section a few days ago. The 50-gallon outfit had been in operation for some time, officers said, but no one was near the still when it was seized. Six barrels of beer were also destroyed.

SINIARD THINKS WAR WILL LAST TWO MORE YEARS

Brevard Man Has Seen Good Deal Of Action On A U. S. Battleship

"In my opinion, this war will not be over for another two years at least," was the statement made to a Times representative yesterday by Gaston Siniard, chief ship fitter on a U. S. naval ship, who is here on a 10-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hale Siniard. Mrs. Siniard is also visiting here with her husband.

Chief Siniard, who has been in the service of the U. S. navy for 14 years, displayed unusual modesty when questioned as to the meaning of the two bars of varied colors worn on his coat and the gold star on each bar. Further inquiry brought out the information that one gold star was for his major engagement at Guadalcanal, and the other star for service before Pearl Harbor. He has been in the service in the Southwest Pacific the past five months, and has been on duty in both the Pacific and European theatres of war, with tremendous action encountered in both warring zones. Only a few details of his thrilling experiences could be obtained from Chief Siniard at this interview, which was ended only by promises from him to give more information for publication at another time during his visit here. He has been on one of Uncle Sam's major battleships. Keen delight was expressed by Chief Siniard upon being back among homefolks again, and he thinks Brevard looks attractive and peaceful after all the horrors of war he has experienced. He expects to get a promotion to a higher rank within a few weeks. Mrs. Siniard expects to return to the Pacific coast with her husband when he has to report back for duty the last of this month.
