—COMMUNITY HAPPENINGS—

(By Mrs. C. F. Allison)

W. M. S.

Mrs. C. L. Corn was hostess to the April meeting of the Women's Missionary society on Thursday evening with nine members present. The president, Mrs. J. A. Anderson, was in charge of the meeting and conducted the devotions. Program leader, Mrs. C. L. Allison, presented "The Individual Witness." Plans were outlined for beginning new work programs in the church, with the organizations and their leaders appointed as follows: Sunbeams, Mrs. Paul Sitton; G. A's., Mrs. Allison; R. A's., Frisco Sentell; and Y. W. A. Mrs. Fred McCann. Mrs. Anderson distributed literature for this work and a progressive program will be enacted. A social hour was enjoyed at conclusion of the meeting, and the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. P. Cheek.

CLUB MEETING

The April meeting of the Home Demonstration club was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. L. Cansler with 8 members present. The demonstration on "Clean To Save" was given by Miss Annabel Teague, who presented many worthwhile and informative ideas about house cleaning, which included several methods of preparing wax and furniture polish at home. After a delightful social hour the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Lance Carter in May.

LORD'S ACRE

Under the direction of their teacher, Valry Carter, the junior boys' class of the Baptist Sunday School is now at work on a Lord's Acre project. The land, which adjoins the Cheek property, was donated by Mrs. J. H. Wolfe, who has two sons in the junior class. The acre will be planted in potatoes and various groups in the church are donating fertilizer and seed, with the boys doing the work. Proceeds from their crop will be used in furnishing their Sunday school room at the church and a generous offering will be made to the orphanage at Thomasville.

WARTIME HINTS FOR Brevard and Transylvania HOMEMAKERS

Wartime Version

Went to the ice box
To get her something to eat.
She opened the door,
And sunk to the floor.
Oh, who had stolen her meat!

A Good Listener

A good listener, we are told, is well on the way to a liberal education. A superior order of intellect is not necessary to be a good listener, yet there is a splendid opportunity for the use of tact in drawing out the capabilities of a speaker. A speaker knows whether his audience is with him or merely making believe. Then, too, there is a time not to break in by a word or sign. Sudden, indifferent listening is killing to a speaker. The mind is most receptive when alert.

Would Ya Believe It

A certain lady in Brevard told this writer something the other day that many people don't appear to believe, at least, their actions belie their beliefs, in case they do. This column is not intended for idle gossip—it never has been and never will be—but what do you suppose this lady said that would be of interest to many? She convinced herself of the truth of her discovery and thinks others ought to be convinced also.

Many Years Ago

A clipping taken from a newspaper published many years ago tells of the latest in jewelry designs. Read them and see if they differ very much from present day styles. Bangle bracelets are again becoming fashionable. One of the latest novelties is an ink well of silver made in the shape of a heart. A lady's pocketbook with a cover of beautifully engraved silver is one of the latest novelties. A neat sterling silver stationery set combined with a complete but invisible manicure outfit is an up-to-date novelty. The latest jewel for the neck is a ribbon buckle of gold or silver. A very handsome pipe has an inner cup of meerschaum which holds the tobacco.

Drying Foods

Why not try drying or dehydrating more of your foods for preservation this summer? In order to waste no food, which we must strictly adhere to more and more for the duration, it is necessary to preserve some of it. The preservation of food either by canning or drying is one of the most important obligations of a housekeeper during the war. Many fruits and vegetables can be most satisfactorily preserved by drying. By this method it is possible to save small quantities of vegetables and fruits which might otherwise be wasted. And another advantage, no sugar is required when foods are dried, and no fuel either, if done by natural methods of sun drying. And Glenn Smith, who has been employed at Ecusta, left on Sunday for Alcoa, Tenn., where he has employment in an aluminum plant. Mrs. Smith and children will join Mr. Smith in a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Manly were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Galloway.

SUPERIOR COCKERELS CAN INCREASE EGG PRODUCTION

For greater egg production, North Carolina poultrymen should not only increase the number of hens in the laying flock but also use superior breeding males in all hatchery-supply flocks, says C. J. Maupin, Extension Poultry Specialist at N. C. State College.

There is a definite proof that high egg production is inherited and the use of males coming from trapnested flocks with excellent records can increase North Carolina egg production about 10 percent, according to Maupin.

He said that there were twelve Record of Production flocks in the State, which have breeding males for sale this year, and that good cockerels could also be obtained from the certified hatcheries. There are other good flocks having superior breeding males but individual egg records are not available.

In recent years the number of eggs per hen has been raised from about 5 to 102 eggs in North Carolina. Maupin says that it is encouraging to know that with the same number of hens, the same feed, and the same labor and equipment, that egg production can be increased another 10, or may be 20 eggs per hen through the use of superior breeding males.

The crown of olive leaves in ancient times was comparable to present-day medals of honor.

we are told by those who have practiced this method of food preservation that the fresh qualities are better preserved also than by cooking methods.

Here's What She Said

This certain lady said that she went to a nearby city the other day with sufficient money in her pocketbook and with the intention of buying her spring and Easter outfit. After searching diligently in the various department and other stores, she found nothing that suited her taste or pocket book, so she came back to Brevard with the most of her money and very few purchases. And this is what she did. That very afternoon when she got back home (it was still early in the afternoon) she made up her mind to look in the Brevard stores and see if anything here would suit her taste and pocketbook. And sure enough it did. She found several items in the stores here that were the very same price, and in some cases cheaper, than what she found in the nearby city and they were more to her satisfaction, too. This little incident is true, and you may draw your own conclusions and try for yourself and see.

FIVE DENS OF CUBS ARE FORMED HERE

Lions Club Gladly Agrees To Sponsor Movement In Transylvania

Five dens of Cubs, auxiliary of the Boy Scout movement, have been formed in Brevard by committees appointed at a meeting of interested parents at city hall on April 7. Reports were made by these groups at a meeting held at the same place last night, and Chairman Frank Kerber said yesterday he was highly pleased at the auspicious start made. A third meeting will be held at city hall on the evening of the 21st and an effort will be made to insure the attendance of a Scout official from Asheville. This meeting will be held at 8:30 o'clock instead of 8, as in previous gatherings.

At its most recent meeting the Lions club gladly agreed to assume the sponsorship of the cubbing movement in Transylvania county, the chief object of which is to prepare boys aged 9 to 12 for intelligent participation in the Boy Scout organization.

Parents Invited
Interested parents who were unable to attend either of the two meetings already held are cordially invited to be present on the evening of the 21st, Mr. Kerber said. The five dens already formed are located in Brevard, but according to Mr. Kerber it is hoped to make the movement county-wide in scope and units will be formed where interest manifested by parents justifies them.

"I want to stress the fact," Mr. Kerber said, "that these lads are intensely interested in cubbing, but it is essential that we have the active cooperation of the parents."
