

WPB Certificates Awarded To Approximately 100 Local Men And Women For Aid In Salvage

Awards Made Jointly By National And County Salvage Divisions

Certificates of recognition have been awarded to approximately 100 Brevard and Transylvania county persons by the War Production Board and the Transylvania salvage committee "for patriotic effort in the National Salvage programs" sponsored during the past year.

The certificates were signed by Howard Wyatt, county chairman and Paul C. Calvert, director of the salvage division of the War Production Board.

Last fall the county won second place in the state-wide newspaper sponsored scrap campaign and several successful drives were sponsored before and since that campaign.

"I know every person in Transylvania is proud of the fine record our county has made in the scrap collection programs and this success has been due to the excellent co-operation on the part of men, women and children throughout the county, as well as to the school officials and industries," Mr. Wyatt said.

"I wish we had enough certificates to give every one, but since we do not, it was necessary for the committee to select those who had apparently made the greatest contribution," he explained.

The certificates have been awarded to the following:

- Julian A. Glazener, Bert H. Freeman, Ralph Ramsey, John W. Smith, Ralph R. Fisher, Ed McMahan, William J. Wallis, Mrs. Oliver Orr, Miss Annabel Teague, Mrs. Ashe Macfie, W. D. Gash, C. C. NAVY RECRUITER COMING FRIDAY

Chief Carver Will Be Here At The Post Office Friday And Saturday

The urgent need for more women as members of the WAVES grows daily more acute, according to Chief Petty Officer F. O. Carver, Jr., officer-in-charge of the Asheville Navy recruiting station.

Chief Carver, who makes regularly scheduled visits to Brevard and Transylvania county, said today that many thousands more women are needed to replace men who now occupy shore positions. These men, in turn, will be released for sea duty or for assignment elsewhere.

"However," he added, "until the women of America make a real response to the appeal that is being made to them, it will be necessary to retain men at these positions, for they are necessary parts of Navy activity and must be carried on." He pointed out that by enlisting in the WAVES, a woman will be trained to occupy a Navy position. Her civilian background will be utilized to the utmost in placing her in a Navy assignment, Chief Carver added.

Carver is the Navy recruiter for this section of the state. He announced that he will be in Brevard, at the post office, on Friday and Saturday, August 6-7th, for the purpose of interviewing women interested in the WAVES, as well as 17-year-old boys who desire to apply for enlistment in the Navy, and skilled tradesmen who wish to learn more about the Seabees, the Navy's world-famous Construction Corps.

"The Navy," Chief Carver said, "stands in great need of people in all three of these categories. We need the 17-year-olds as volunteers, we need the Seabees, and we need the WAVES.
