Congress Sets Aside $340,000 For Exploring Deposits In State

Governor Broughton says a survey of potential mineral resources in North Carolina shows that coal, iron ore, and magnesium can be produced in the state as the basis for profitable industries.

The survey reveals that immense reserves of magnesium are located in Western North Carolina close to the TVA, a cheap source of power. The report, however, warns that the chief task remaining is the development of a commercial process to convert this raw material into the magnesium metal, a process which the report adds it is possible to develop.

Magnesium is now in great demand in the airplane and automotive transport industries and in making incendiary bombs. The report predicts that after the war it will become directly competitive for uses on a cost basis with aluminum and low carbon steel if it can be produced for about ten cents a pound.

Pointing out the greater availability of its ores, the lower consumption of power required for its production and its one-third lighter density, the survey indicates it is probably that magnesium production will outstrip that of aluminum in the future and will begin to approach, at least on a volume basis, that of steel.

Governor Broughton points out that congress has passed a bill allocating $300,000 for drilling and exploratory mineral work in the state by the United States Bureau of Mines.

He adds that drilling activities under this appropriation will begin immediately in places where the survey indicates usable minerals may be found.

It is estimated that there will be about 5 pounds less fats and oils per person this year than last.

It is reported that large increases in the production of peanut butter and peanut oil are needed to meet wartime requirements.

GLANCING BACK AT BREVARD

Taken from the files of The Sylvan Valley News, beginning 1895

(From the file of June, 1906)

Rev. W. P. Chedester, who has recently graduated from the Union Theological Seminary at Richmond, Va., has been elected to supply the Brevard Presbyterian church, and will be here this week to commence his pastoral work.

We note that some of our merchants are advertising the advantages of Brevard on the back of their business envelopes. Whitmire & Verdery are the pioneers in this move, and it might pay the board of trade to have it done and furnish the envelopes to all who will use them at cost.

Rev. J. A. Sharpe was in the Selica section last week from Iredell county, a guest at the Sharpe-Mull wedding.

Water is an excellent thing, especially for fish to swim in, but just now there appears to be more water in the elements than is required, even by the fish.

Mayor T. W. Whitmire and family took a mountain trip on a fishing excursion this week. We presume that he left town to get away from our muddy streets.

Yesterday was the 66th birthday of the editor of the News. Old enough to take a rest, but with more responsibilities on his shoulders than at any time during a busy life.

In answering inquiries about Brevard, why not send a copy of the News with your answer? There is no better advertisement for any town than a creditable local paper, and Brevard has no occasion to be ashamed in this line.

Mrs. Witherspoon and daughter, guests of Mrs. Henry and daughter, have returned to their home in Louisville, Ky. They were loud in their praise of "the land of the sky" and say we Western North Carolinians are entirely too modest in our praise of our beautiful land; that too much could not be said of its grand natural scenery. They visited over the Biltmore Estate, but declare it pales into insignificance when compared with our natural scenery.

Mrs. R. R. Deaver and family, of Selica, left last week for a visit with relatives in Shelby.

Mrs. J. C. King, who has been very sick for the past week, is again able to resume her duties at the Novelty Store.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Brevard Banking company, a vacancy in the office of vice president, caused by the resignation of E. B. Alsop, was filled by the election of R. R. Deaver, T. S. Boswell and A. K. Orr, who are now connected with the Southern Railway company, resigned also as directors. The vacancies in the board were filled by the election of O. L. Erwin, John C. Deaver and W. S. Ashworth.

W. A. Baynard, of the Boylston section, has made a dive at the tan bark this season, and hulled five cords of the leather making stuff.

Miss Bonnie Wilson, of Broad Valley, will teach the Blantyre school this year.

Cecil's Business College Opens Avenue To Success

Arrangements Made For Business College Fall Opening

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (Special)—Specialized business training will assure your future after the war. We must remember that these are abnormal times. Your friends without specialized training are employed now because employers, in their desperation for help, have been forced to makeshift the best they can with untrained help. When the war ends, then will come the true test of the need for specialized business training.

Thousands of untrained people will find themselves without employment. Business managers will refuse to continue trying to get along with untrained help. Only those with specialized business training will be desired.

You can best serve your country and, at the same time protect your own future by taking time now for a business education. If you are interested in a permanent future, Cecil's Business College urges young people not to attempt short courses or patronize cheap schools in order to secure employment now. Thousands of half-prepared stenographers and typists will be released from government offices after the war is over. Business will be readjusted on the basis of efficiency. Thousands of unsatisfactory employees will be taken off the payroll.

Asheville being a winter resort as well as summer resort, there are plenty of fine boarding houses open the year round where board is reasonable, and fine cultured surroundings provided for girls studying at Cecil's.

Remember, it pays to attend a good school, one with a reputation that would be able to help you as long as you desire to work. The demand for office help is the greatest in the history of our institution. Make reservations now for fall opening Monday, August 30. Write for 1943-44 catalogue. Address Cecil's, Asheville, N. C.—Advt.

We All Have A Part In This War...

Let's back the boys who are fighting for us!

Pvt. Waytha Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Powell, of Rosman, volunteered in the service in September, 1942. He is stationed now at Los Angeles, Calif. The picture of his three brothers in the service appeared in the bank advertisement last week.

If You're Canning--

Reddy Kilowatt Says Please Remember--

1. Non-acid foods such as string beans, corn, beets and squash that require high temperatures for safe keeping are not canned in the oven.
2. For safety, all jar tops except the two piece metal lids must be left partially unsealed while food is being processed, otherwise jars may burst.
3. Hot jars just from the canner should not be placed directly on a cold table or in a draft. The sudden change in temperature may cause a broken jar.
