Montvale School Is Consolidated With L. Toxaway School

The Montvale school, located in the Boheny section of Transylvania county, has been consolidated with the Lake Toxaway school because of the inability to secure a teacher for the school, Supt. J. B. Jones announced today.

He also explained that the prospective enrollment in the Montvale school is too low to justify a teacher. Estimated enrollment is around 14 and these children will be transported to the Lake Toxaway school.

School authorities throughout the state, Mr. Jones said, are having difficulty in obtaining teachers for one and two-teacher schools.

Urgent Need For Postwar Planning Is Stressed By Kiwanis Governor

Charles C. Erwin, of Forest City, district governor of the two Carolinas district of Kiwanis, told members of the Brevard club at their meeting last Friday night that every person should have a part in the post-war planning and in the planned peace which is being studied by leaders of the several allied governments.

The idea of leaving planning for peace-time progress, and especially the idea of allowing a few people to direct the peace plan which will come with the ending of the war, is anti-American, anti-democratic, and is a step toward dictatorship, the learned speaker declared.

OWNERS URGED TO CONFINE ANIMALS BITTEN BY DOG

Mad Dog Scare Developed Here Mon. Health Department Issues Statement

Walter Hart, district sanitarian, yesterday cautioned all persons whose dogs, cows or chickens were bitten Monday by a dog that was believed to have been mad, to confine their animals for at least 14 days.

The mad dog scare extended from below Pisgah Forest, through Brevard and the Cathey's Creek section.

According to reports, the mad dog made a round through the Enon community before heading towards Brevard. A large number of dogs and other animals were bitten before the foaming dog was killed Monday night in the Cathey's Creek area by Rusty Smith. At least 7 dogs here in town were bitten. In accordance with the law, officers killed 5 dogs, four of them at the request of owners and another small dog that had strayed away and was acting queer.

The mad dog was so badly shot in the head that it was useless to send the head to Raleigh, Mr. Hart said.

Well Known Brevard Man Appointed To Succeed T. E. Reid By Committee

Anthony Trantham, prominent Brevard business man, was unanimously elected last Saturday by the county Democratic executive committee to succeed T. E. Reid as a member of the county board of education.

Mr. Reid recently resigned as a member of the board of education when he accepted the appointment as county tax collector. Mr. Trantham is also expected to succeed Mr. Reid as chairman of the school board.

Other members of the board are Mrs. J. K. Mills and D. H. Winchester.

County's Surgical Bandage Quota Is Greatly Increased

Transylvania county has never reached its surgical dressing bandage quota and the new quota is about a third larger than ever before, Mrs. Eck Sims, county director of Red Cross surgical dressing bandage work shops, announced today.

In addition to Transylvania, there are a number of other counties in the state that are falling short of quota assignments, she stated but urged that more women assist in this patriotic work.

A total of 2,000 bandages were inspected and packed Monday night in the local shop and are now ready for shipment. At Rockbrook, Mrs. Henry Carrier reports that they have around 10,000 bandages ready for inspection and shipment.

The shop here, located over the town hall, is open every morning except Saturday and Sunday and at nights from 7:30 until 9:30 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Mrs. Edwin Happ is in charge.

The shop at Rockbrook is open Friday nights and Sunday afternoons.

Contributed By State DAR To Red Cross

The mobile unit, shown above, was presented to the American Red Cross by the North Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution through the national society for use in the "Blood Donor Service." Funds for purchasing this unique mobile were raised from voluntary contributions under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph S. Silversteen, of Brevard, who was formerly state DAR regent and who is now vice president of the national society. Since there is no "Blood Donor Center" in this state, the mobile unit has been assigned to the "donor center" at Buffalo, N. Y., where it is now in constant use. This was one of the war effort projects sponsored by the North Carolina D. A. R.

County's Third War Loan Quota Is $432,000, Four Times Amount Last Quota

Elaborate Plans For Conducting Drive In County Are Being Made

Extensive plans for conducting the Third War Loan drive in Transylvania county have been made during the past week.

These plans include a house-to-house canvass in Brevard by Civilian Defense organization block leaders, individual solicitation of persons who are able to purchase large bonds, holding a series of meetings in schools throughout the county, a county-wide rally and a well-planned advertising campaign.

With Jerry Jerome as chairman, the prospect list committee met last night and made up a large list of people throughout the county which will be contacted by bond salesmen and salesladies.

A committee composed of Raymond Bennett, Frank Duckworth, Julian Glazener, J. B. Jones and C. M. Douglas, is now working up a schedule of rural meetings. At each of these meetings it is proposed that the Ecusta string band will play and various individuals will make war bond talks. Lewis Hamlin is chairman of the speakers' committee.

Under the direction of the town's zone block leaders, a large number of ladies will make a house-to-house canvass.

Mrs. Julius Sader is in charge of the zone leaders and plans for making the canvass were discussed at her home Tuesday night.

The town is divided into 6 zones

Ed McMahan Re-Appointed Chairman, District Meeting Held Saturday

Citizens of Transylvania county will be asked to buy $432,000 worth of bonds during the third war loan drive, which begins on Sept. 9. This figure is more than four times as large as that assigned for the second war loan drive and approximately $100,000 more than was raised during that campaign.

"It will take herculean effort to raise this money, but we will do it," Ed H. McMahan, county chairman said, when county quotas were revealed at a meeting of loan chairmen of Western North Carolina counties held at the George Vanderbilt hotel in Asheville last Saturday night. Jerry Jerome and Ira B. Armfield were also present at this meeting, where all aspects of the coming campaign were discussed by C. T. Leinbach, of Winston-Salem, state chairman, and others. J. Gerald Cowan, vice president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust company, of Asheville, manager of the Western North Carolina region, presided.

The state's quota is $145,000,000, more than double the quota for the second war loan drive last April, when the objective was placed at $62,000,000. The national goal is $15,000,000,000, all of which is expected to come from non-banking sources.

"In all counties it will be necessary for workers to do a much bigger selling job in this drive

REPAIR WORK DONE

All public schools in Brevard and Transylvania county will open next Monday morning at 8:45 o'clock, Supt. J. B. Jones announced today.

Final plans for the opening will be made at a county-wide meeting of the principals and teachers to be held here at the Brevard high school Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, he said. Rev. W. A. Jenkins will conduct devotional exercises and E. H. McMahan, chairman of the county war savings committee, will discuss plans for conducting the third war loan drive.

Preparatory to the opening, school buildings and buses have been repaired and are now in good condition.

Supt. Jones said that no lunch rooms will be opened until plans for operation are announced by the state department.

There are two high schools in the county and a number of elementary schools. Total enrollment is expected to be nearly 3000.

The county has a teaching staff of 83 and all vacancies have been filled.

Several changes in bus routes have been made as follows: Laurel Creek and Rich Mountain lines have been combined and these children will attend Brevard high.

The line that has been turning back at the Country club will turn left at the same place and cross over the Greenville highway.

The bus from Penrose will not make the run to Powell's store and another bus will pick up these children on the return trip to Brevard.

A regular state bus will operate on the Frozen Creek route instead of a private contract on account

STOVE RATIONING STARTED TUESDAY

Dealers Must Register Next Week, Only A Few Stoves Exempted

Practically all stoves are now being rationed and all stove dealers in the county will be required to register at the rationing board office here on September 1, 2 or 3, Dr. Zachary, chairman of the board, announced this week. The rationing started Tuesday.

Blanks have already arrived and among other things, dealers will be required to show full inventory.

With only a few exceptions, no stoves can be purchased now without a rationing certificate and to obtain these, individuals must apply at the local office. Old stoves must be beyond repair or the individual must show a new need.

Stoves that are not on the rationing list include electric stoves and hot water heaters, sheet-metal air-tight, wood-burning stoves not equipped with grates, cast iron bases or linings, laundry stoves, etc.

A quota will be assigned to this county and in turn dealers will be given monthly quotas.

Leather Made Here Shipped To Various Allied War Nations

Leather made in the Transylvania Tanning and Toxaway Tanning companies is now being shipped to Russia, England, Free French and to Iceland, it was learned this week.

Both plants are operating at full capacity production and the leather demand is not being met. J. S. Silversteen stated, however, that the shortage of chestnut and pulpwood and lumber is even greater than leather.
