The enrollment this year includes around 200 girls and about 50 boys. There are approximately 210 freshmen and sophomores and about 40 pre-college students.

Several changes and additions to the faculty have been made.

'A' Gas Book Holders Should File Renewal Applications At Once

All holders of basic "A" gasoline books should renew them now, urges Mrs. Ernestine Davis, chief clerk of the Transylvania rationing board.

This application must be in the rationing board office by October 15, Mrs. Davis announced.

If all the necessary information is not included in the application mailed to the board, it will be returned to the applicant by mail for additional data.

No new "A" books will be mailed from the rationing board here, before October 15, Mrs. Davis stated.

DR. DUDLEY IS HOLDING SCHOOL DENTAL CLINICS

Clinic Is Being Held This Week At Penrose. Dentist To Be In County Five Weeks.

Dr. D. W. Dudley, of the oral hygiene Division of the North Carolina state board of health, arrived in the county this week and during the next five weeks he will conduct a series of dental clinics in the smaller schools of Transylvania under the sponsorship of the county health department.

The first dental clinic is being held at Penrose school and others are to be conducted just as rapidly as he can get to them.

Because of a pressing wartime schedule and manpower shortage, Dr. Dudley will only be in the county for five weeks, just one-half as long as the schedule has provided in the past.

Clinics were held last year at Rosman and Brevard schools and the state dentist will not visit these schools again this year.

One of the main purposes of the clinics is educational. As part of the demonstrative work, however, the dentist cleans teeth, does filling and extraction work.

"Since it is impossible for the school dentist to make corrections for more than a small percentage of the children, everything possible is done for those who are not fortunate enough to be able to.

Board Urges Public To Buy Better Shoes. New Stamp To Be Good November 1

The removal of the expiration date of currently valid shoe ration stamp number 18, plus the validation of airplane stamp number 1 in ration book three for one pair of shoes beginning November 1, has eliminated the possibility of a repetition of last June's "stampede" in Brevard and throughout the nation, it was pointed out here this week.

This action on the part of the OPA was announced a few days ago.

It means, too, that every person will have to get along with two pairs of shoes a year, and many contend that will be difficult. It is explained, however, that in case of severe hardships the regulations provide that such persons can obtain special stamps from the rationing board office here.

In this connection, though, Dr. Zachary, chairman of the board, announced this week that because of the leather shortage it will be necessary for the board to be more rigid in the future that it has been in the past in the issuance of special stamps.

There is no getting around the fact that there is a shortage of leather and that we will have to do our part in the conservation program," he stated.

"Of course we are going to do all we can to take care of all hardship cases, but the public is urged to buy shoes that will last and not make it necessary for them to ask for additional stamps," Dr. Zachary explained.

The semi-annual inventory reports from all dealers, covering the period from April 1 through September 30, must be in the mails by October 10 and these reports are expected to show supplies ample to meet all normal demands under the new amendment, provided boards do not issue too many.

SEABEES GET AMPHIBIOUS WARFARE TRAINING

Seabees, whose principal job is building, learn to fight, too. Before being sent overseas to construct, maintain and repair fighting bases, the Seabees, the Navy's Construction Battalions, learn how to use rifles, machine guns, hand grenades and other weapons. As this photo shows, they also are taught how to capture beachheads. Construction workers have excellent opportunities to qualify as petty officers in the war-born branch of the Navy. Draft-age men may be voluntarily inducted, while young men of 17 and older men from 38 to 50 may enlist at any Navy Recruiting Station. There are similar opportunities in the Army Engineers.

TO CONDUCT RAT EXTERMINATION DRIVE IN COUNTY

Campaign To Be Sponsored By Chamber of Commerce and County Neighborhood Leaders.

Plans are now being made for an extensive county-wide rat extermination campaign that will be conducted in Brevard and Transylvania the first week in November, Julian Glazener announced today.

This campaign will be sponsored in the town of Brevard by the chamber of commerce and civic clubs and in the county by neighborhood leaders, under the direction of the farm extension office.

L. C. Whitehead, district agent of the division of predator and rodent control of the United States department of agriculture, will supervise the campaign.

Rats are not only a nuisance, but they are also destructive and germ-spreading animals, Mr. Glazener pointed out today.

"They are really one of our worst enemies and saboteurs of labor," he declared. "They destroy food and property in great quantities and in addition to that, they cause disease and death."

Plans for conducting such a drive have been under consideration for some time, but it is the first time in years that a campaign of this kind has been promoted here.

Full cooperation of the public is expected.

The clinic held here last Friday afternoon was well attended.

BOND SALES WILL EXCEED QUOTA BY NEARLY $100,000

Drive To End Saturday Night. Chairman Urges Public To "Keep On Buying Bonds."

LAST RALLY TONIGHT

Bond sales in Transylvania county during the third war loan drive have passed the half million mark and will probably hit $532,000 by Saturday night or $100,000 over quota, Chairman Ed H. McMahan announced yesterday.

The county went over the top at the big bond rally here last Friday night when around $300,000 worth of bonds were sold following an address by Gregg Cherry, prominent Legionnaire and legislator and Democratic candidate for governor.

The drive, scheduled to end today, has been extended through Saturday of this week. Nearly all of the counties in Western North Carolina have gone over their quotas and the national goal of 15 billion has just about been reached.

The series of bond rallies that have been held throughout the county will be terminated tonight with a rally at Silverstein school. Jerry Jerome, star bond salesman, will be the principal speaker there. A rally was held last night at Cedar Mountain school with A. H. Harris as speaker. Monday night Ed M. Anderson spoke at Balsam Grove.

A grand total of 11 rallies have been held in the county and special entertainment for them has been furnished by the Ecusta musicians and singers under the direction of John Eversman. Chairman McMahan, Jerry Jerome, C. M. Douglas and Ray Bennett have attended them and conducted sales.

MORE PRODUCTION OF MILK NEEDED

Some Communities In County Are Buying Milk That Is Made Elsewhere.

By J. A. GLAZENER Three neighborhood leaders for Old Toxaway and Middle Fork neighborhoods met at Dewey Burton's store. In the discussion, the fact was brought out that at Mr. Burton's store several quarts of milk, produced in other counties, was being sold to customers living in the local neighborhood. Pasture improvement and the production of more milk for home consumption was considered a major factor for future development. The importance of using lime, phosphate and legumes in a soil building program on more farms in the neighborhoods was to be greatly encouraged, along with more home gardens.

Neighborhood leaders of Island Ford, Gladly Branch and Cathey's Creek, even in number, met with
