Quiz Lesson

Here's a chance to test your mental ability again this week and grade yourself accordingly as to your aptitude. See how many you can remember without peeking at the answers. 1. Was Jane Austen a famous English novelist, a noted actress or a great temperance leader? 2. Are the Azores a chain of mountains in Africa, a group of islands in the Atlantic, or a great river system in South America? 3. Was Johann Sebastian Bach a great painter, a great musician, or a great actor? 4. What and where are the Bahamas? 5. Who was Barnabas and for what was he best known? 6. Is a barometer an instrument for measuring the weight or pressure of the air, or a necessary part of a vacuum cleaner? 7. Is a battle a weapon of modern warfare, a medal of honor, or a famous French fortress? 8. Is tandem a method of tanning leather, a bicycle built for two or an angry person?

Be Prepared

Be prepared for traveling on short order, you war wife, mother, sister or friend, so that when you receive notice from your soldier husband, son, brother or friend to meet him at such and such a place at such and such an hour the following day, you won't have to turn the house upside down getting your clothes in readiness to pack. A little planning and forethought as to your personal appearance and packing will get you off to a peaceful start for your unexpected journey, and will also prevent you from looking as if you had been through a battle when greeted on your arrival at your destination. Instead of having to cancel your appointment at the hairdresser's, buy last minute necessities helter-skelter, pack in a terrific rush and get on the train or bus in a grand flurry, a little more beforehand attention to these things and keeping a week-end bag packed with essentials for a hurry-up trip would save much confusion in both mind and body.

Molasses Apple Betty

A good wartime dessert that's a sugar saver as well as something good to eat and inexpensive, too, is Molasses Apple Betty, and here's how to make it: Mix 3 tablespoons margarine, melted, with 2 cups bread crumbs, and put one-third of mixture in buttered baking dish and top with one and one-half cups thinly sliced apples. Combine one-half cup molasses, one-fourth cup water, one-fourth teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon and one teaspoon grated lemon rind, and pour half this mixture over crumbs and apples. Then add another layer of crumbs, another of equal amount of apples and sweetening and a final one of crumbs. Pour remainder of liquids over all, cover and bake about 30 minutes. Uncover and cook about another 15 minutes, until apples are tender and top is browned. If you have buttered toast left from breakfast or want to toast the bread beforehand instead of using plain bread crumbs, it would give your Apple Betty a richer flavor and browner appearance.

Facial Diet

Of course you know that a facial diet is as necessary for outward appearance and well-being as a body diet is for inward well-being. Busy working girls and women do not always have time for a professional facial clean-up and bracing up as often as is really necessary, but in the meantime there are a number of simple homemade packs, masks and other beautifiers that one might use to advantage. For instance, plain strained honey is a good facial fracer. Spread it over the face and leave it on for 10 minutes or so, then remove with hot water before it becomes completely dry and hard. While you're in the notion of this face-smearing business, you might try an egg mask, if you can spare the egg and live through the process. Separate the yolk from the white and beat separately, then apply a layer of yolk and a layer of white alternately, letting each layer dry before going on. Allow the top layer to dry thoroughly, rinse with cold water, and then apply cream lightly, then give a final wash in ice water. If you survive the ordeal, there's ten chances to one that your face will be much cleaner, fresher and more enlivened than before the operation. Try it and see for yourself.

Interesting Facts

The praying palm of India bowed down each evening as the temple bells were calling the people to prayer. It was later found that temperature was responsible for the peculiar actions of the tree. Detroit automobile industries insisted before Pearl Harbor that only 30 per cent or less of its machinery could be converted to war uses. Eighty-six per cent of it is now in use. If the automobile

AAA Committeemen To Urge Increase In All Wood Products

County and community committeemen of the Agricultural Adjustment agency in Transylvania county have been asked to assist in the program to increase cutting and marketing by farmers forest products urgently needed in the war effort, it was announced today by T. J. Wilson, chairman of the county USDA War Board.

In a letter from G. T. Scott, chairman of the state USDA War Board and the State AAA committee, committeemen of the county were asked to "give every assistance possible" to increase marketing of vitally needed saw logs and pulpwood.

"The Department of Agriculture has been asked by the War Production board to do everything possible to increase production of forest products by farmers as a part of a drive to meet war and essential civilian needs for lumber, pulpwood, and other wood materials," Scott said. "Farm wood lands must furnish a substantial part of the total requirements. Wood is needed for numerous war uses, especially the proper packing of food. It will be the policy of the department to encourage only conservative cutting, that which will not destroy the growing stock or future productiveness of the woodland."

Industry retails after the war to manufacture a completely new and radical automobile, it will require from 18 to 24 months for the first new model to reach the market. It takes 70 to 80 million board feet of lumber annually to provide splints for 275 million boxed matches used in the U. S., and 500 tons of steel each year go into the tiny steel staples of book matches, of which this country alone consumes 225 billion (or at least did before the war.)
