AGRICULTURE NEWS
The agriculture boys with their instructor, Mr. Lawrence, went to Lake Toxaway two afternoons last week to dig potatoes on the farm of W. H. Sutton. Several of the boys bought seed for their agriculture projects next year. The boys helped to relieve a labor shortage in digging potatoes, as well as making extra spending money for themselves.

The home living class got some valuable experience last week in pruning apple trees. They visited at the home of Mrs. G. H. Woodard and pruned two trees.

SENSE AND NONSENSE
Here's hoping everyone has forgotten about the Hallowe'en pranks and of course that means having returned all the gates, lawn chairs, etc., that mysteriously disappeared. At least, this column hasn't disappeared, so stop looking so wistful!

Now, Barney. Dignified seniors should never play such pranks, even on Hallowe'en. How many watch dogs did "your crowd" have to knock out during your "little raid" Saturday night.

Bang! Bang! Yes, you've guessed it. Harold O. and Herb. H. are having one of those dreadful feuds. Over whom? W-e-l-l. I know warning signs when I see them, so I'll omit all names. But just as an innocent tip, she's a junior.

Some (just some) of these freshmen gals are a wee bit shy but old timers can always spot a romance in bud. Norma K. has a very tender look in her eyes when she looks at Joe D.

If you've been wondering why Elaine O. has been so stary eyed and wearing such a dreamy expression all week, I'll solve the mystery. It's just leaked out who her escort was Friday night.

Bob R. says the reason for the big fat E he received this month is because French is all Greek to him.

Since she got ditched by one sailor for (yes, you've guessed it) a blonde during his furlough, Madrie G. has been setting her cap for every sailor in sight. I hear she just invited four for supper one night. Boy, that's really trying!!! (Next time, M. G., be careful whom you write about in your column.)

"No letter today," sings Conrad W. mournfully since Dottie W. left. Very pitiful, isn't he? I suppose those dazzling bracelets he's wearing on either arm belong to his - eh, sister. Could be, eh, Conrad?

Rattle! Bang! Gangway! Here come two dashing bus drivers and their girls in their A model. Bonnie B. and R. M. D. and that couple of the new whirlwind romance, Betty R. and Bill G. "There's Something About A Soldier" ... I mean bus driver is the latest song hit, it seems.

Say, what goes with the junior play? Hasn't some new romance started as is the custom. Can't someone spill the dope on this subject to ease our curiosity?

Ho-hum! Hey, don't go to sleep listening to me! Just for that I'll ease your mind and sign off, but don't worry. I'll be back soon with news right off the press.

Is Your REFRIGERATOR RELAXING?

Your Electric Refrigerator must last for the duration. Help it to do the best job possible by giving it a little care. You'll save serious trouble later and you'll get much better all-around performance.

Here's How to Keep It Running!

- Defrost according to manufacturer's instructions. Empty the drip water immediately.
- Wash the inside of your refrigerator with baking soda and water each time the refrigerator is defrosted. Don't forget the freezer—that's where food odors collect.
- Avoid overloading the refrigerator with food—it stops necessary air circulation.
- Be sure the cold control is set as it should be to give you the proper food compartment temperature.

If you have an open type mechanism in your refrigerator, it will need periodic oiling and adjusting. Have a reliable serviceman do this and ask him about how often it should be repeated. Hermetically-sealed units do not require oiling or adjusting. MOST mechanisms should have occasional cleaning. Consult your serviceman.
