—for— Transylvania and Brevard HOMEMAKERS

By AUNT SAWYER

Merchants Spread Cheer

There's a war on, to be sure, but, nevertheless, merchants and business concerns of Brevard have not let this bitter fact prevent them from decorating their display windows and interiors with lavish suggestions of the Christmas season. Store keepers here have outdone themselves this season in the way of attractive Yuletide decorations, many have been heard to say. If all it takes is a bit of bright tinsel, gay colors and lighting effects, combined appealingly with appropriate displays of merchandise, to detract in the least from the drabness, tragedy and uncertainties of wartimes, then we say to Brevard business owners and operators to give us as many pretty do-dads to look at as possible and help that much in a cheery Christmas for all.

An "A" Quiz

to suggest, you say. Well, maybe so, until you try it and see how good it is and also how easy on the pocketbook as well as the ration book. The ingredients it contains are able to compete favorably with a meat loaf of similar proportions, as far as nutritive value and appetizing qualities are concerned, and the taste, you will find, is different and satisfying. Here's how to make it: Mix 1 cup peanut butter with one-half cup milk, adding and mixing a little at a time until well combined, then add 2 beaten eggs and mix well. To 2 cups toasted bread crumbs, add 1 medium sized chopped onion, 1 cup hot mashed potatoes, and seasoning to taste. Combine the two mixtures, mix well, and turn in hot greased bread tin and bake 30 or 40 minutes in moderate oven. Double all amounts for larger roast.

Open Your Penny Banks

Copper pennies must come back into circulation, we are told by government authorities. Open up Junior's piggy bank or that old jar or tin can you've been using for your accumulated pennies over a period of years and put them back into circulation instead of continuing to hoard them for some future use. The best use you can put them to is in the purchase of war stamps and bonds, if you have saved enough for the latter.

Quiz Answers

1. A South American Republic.
2. A brilliant American general who was a traitor to his country.
3. A famous road with many branches connecting Rome with Southern Italy.
4. A brittle metal of bluish-white color.
5. All three, as well as a gifted poet and a well known engineer.
6. A seabird of good omen, with its greatest strength in its wings, which often measure 17 feet from tip to tip.
7. South Australia.

Jackie Tells Why

Mrs. Hugh Hollifield (Instructing her sixth graders in a health lesson): "Now, children, can you give me an example of how the human body might adapt itself to changed conditions."

Jackie Parsons: "I can, Mrs. Hollifield. One of my aunts gained fifty pounds in a year, and her skin never cracked."

PULP MILL HAS NOVEL PROGRAM AT ECUSTA PARTY

Presents One-Act Comedy, "If Men Played Cards As Women Do"

Feminine foibles were cleverly satirized in a one-act comedy entitled, "If Men Played Cards as Women Do," which was presented by four male employees of the Pulp Mill at the monthly party given for employees in the Ecusta cafeteria Friday evening, Nov. 26. Sang Lyda was cast in the role of "hostess" and his guests were Fritz Merrill, Bill Bangs and Ott Whitesides.

Naturally, women's penchant for gossip was revealed and the conversation touched upon many topics of interest to them. As might have been expected, when one of the quartet espied a phantom mouse in the corner of the room where they were playing, all of them promptly clambered on their chairs with many shrieks. Comment on the furnishings of the room when the "hostess" went out for a moment was avid and scathing.

Before the play was presented, John Eversman conducted a quiz contest in which cigarettes were awarded to those who gave correct replies.

John Goolsby was then called to the microphone, and, in response to Mr. Eversman's questions told how that morning on his way to work he had battled and killed a six-point deer, the first one he had ever seen.

Square dancing was enjoyed both before and after the program and a number of those present played bridge.

MEDICAL ADVICE

"Oh, doctor," cried a wild-eyed man, "I'm dreadfully afflicted. The ghosts of my departed relatives come and perch on the tops of the fence posts all around my garden when dusk is falling. I can look out any evening and see a couple of dozen spooks sitting on the fence, waiting, waiting, waiting. What shall I do?"

"Sharpen the tops of the posts."

A Christmas Message For You:

This year, more than ever before, it is essential that we observe the traditional customs of the Christmas season . . . for that day, more than all others, symbolizes the things for which we fight. Let none feel that the giving and receiving of gifts is not consistent with the present grim purpose to which we must be dedicated. Rather, let us feel that, in this period of rapid change and vast turmoil, it is up to those of us at home to retain those well-beloved traditions so typical of the American way of life . . . to preserve them so far as humanly possible, so that those now fighting may return to the good and friendly things which they cherish, and of which none are more characteristic, or more important, than the Christmas season.
