MR. GLAZENER SPEAKS IN ASSEMBLY

By Jean Hall
 Last Thursday we had as speaker for chapel program Mr. J. A. Glazener, county agent.

His topic was the goals of food production for 1944 in Transylvania county. He stressed the importance of our home food requirements as well as the production of food for our armies. Everyone, he said, should begin planning now in what way they could help.

Mr. Glazener explained a chart showing the food production goals of 1943 and 1944 and the goal for this year is considerably higher for quite a few farm products, such as milk, corn and others. He announced that cards for the students who are planning some way to help will be distributed soon.

Mr. J. B. Jones made a short talk on the Fourth War Loan drive and announced the coming rally to be held at Rosman.

Afterwards, Mr. Tilson presented Lucy Tinsley with an award for winning the 4-H dress revue contest of Western North Carolina in Asheville, which was held last fall.

FRENCH CORRESPONDENCE

By Lucy Tinsley
 Through the International Students' society the first year French class is corresponding with foreign students. These students include boys and girls in Haiti, Canada and Brazil. We find the letters interesting, informative and entertaining.

FORMER STUDENT DIES

The students and faculty of R.H.S. wish to extend their deepest sympathy to the family of Mrs. Alfred Galloway due to her death last week. She was the former Miss Miriam Stewart and was a graduate of R. H. S. in the class of 1939.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

By Madrie Galloway
 Hello everybody? How's the folks, huh? Well, after a full month's rest we're all set to give you our gossip report to the nation.

But, first let's have a little (??) chat with some of the teachers and see what they have to say for themselves.

Nope, Miss Dillard says she didn't have any luck with her "wolf chase" during the vacation. But, just between you and me, she has a very smug look on her face. Maybe her trip to South Carolina wasn't "all in vain," after all.

Huh-o! Miss Wiggins was more careful with her diary so we'll just have to read her mind. Now—let . . . me . . . see . . . yep, it's getting clearer now . . . that sailor pin and locket. Miss Wiggins, you should learn to t-r-a-i-n your jewelry better 'n' that!

Miss Nesbit is the only one left—that I dare tackle. After all, I do want these skinned places on my head to get well before I try to take any more . . . pardon me, but did you say something about a "Hay" ride, Miss Nesbit? Sounds corny, doesn't it? A hay ride in the snow, b-u-t it might be fun. Maybe I'll try it sometime.

Hey! Has everyone heard the story of "The Big Bad Wolf" (only in this case it's plural). I'm not speaking of that one that blew the little's pig's house in, but those that blow through the halls every day knocking everyone off their feet and grabbing books, coats, pencils, and, yes, even kodaks.

Bob and Rut insist on calling that shy (?) lanky (period) lassie from Toxaway a "sucker." Hal! This is a good'n. What they don't know is that the navy's lurking around the corner (as usual) ready to raise its flag. The red, white and blues are winning again eh, Jean.

Sip!!! I made it. This last bit of gossip had just begun when I arrived on the scene. It seems that Mildred Green is still carrying the "torch" for "Shorty M."

So long, and let's all help Uncle Sam in this Fourth War Loan drive.

THE HISTORY OF THE AA ON MOJAVE DESERT

In the California desert, Mojave is the spot;

Battling a terrific heat wave in the land that God forgot.

Just sitting here and thinking, of what we left behind;

I'd hate to put on paper, just what I have in mind.

We wash our mess kits daily, and peel a million spuds,

We pay out many dollars, to wash our dirty duds.

We stay out in the sand hills digging fox holes with a pick;

Then when we are through in the evenings, we are too darned tired to kick.

Down with the snakes and lizards, down where a man gets blue;

Down at the very bottom, three thousand miles from you.

Down where the heat keeps coming, it's more than a man can stand,

No, we're not convicts or criminals, we're defenders of the land.

We're soldiers of the AA forces earning a meager pay;

Protecting men with millions, for a buck and a half a day.

Living for tomorrow, heartsick for our gals,

Just hoping that when we return they're not married to our 4-F pals.

No, I'm not grumbling or stewing, no T S tickets for me;

I'm only beginning to wonder, if God did make a tree.

When obstacles confront us, is very hard to tell,

Let's hope it's nice in heaven, for we served our hitch in hell.

Jesus Uses His Power to Help

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Jan. 30 is Mark 4:35-5:43, the Golden Text being Mark 4:40, "Why are ye fearful? have ye not yet faith?")

● JESUS HAD been teaching the multitudes on the shore of the Sea of Galilee, outside of Capernaum. After the people had gone, He and His disciples got into boats and started across the sea.

"And there arose a great storm of wind, and the waves beat into the ship, so that it was now full." Jesus was tired, and had lain Him down in the back of the ship and was fast asleep on a pillow.

His disciples were terrified, thinking they would all be drowned, so they awoke Him, saying, "Master, carest Thou not that we perish?" The "Lord arose and rebuked the wind, and said unto the sea, Peace, be still. And the wind ceased, and there was a great calm."

Jesus then said to His disciples, "Why are ye so fearful? how is it that ye have no faith?" But they were frightened and said to one another, "What manner of man is this, that even the wind and the sea obey Him?"

Man Possessed by Demons

When they landed on the other side of the sea, "into the country of the Gadarenes," they saw a man who was possessed of an unclean spirit—in fact, a number of spirits. He was completely insane, and so strong that no one could restrain him. He had often been bound with strong fetters, but he broke them all, even chains, and wandered among the mountains and tombs, crying and cutting himself with stones.

This pitiable creature no sooner saw Jesus than he ran to Him and worshiped Him, although at the same time he cried—or the demons within him did—"What have I to do with Thee, Jesus, thou Son of the Most High? I adjure Thee, by God, that thou torment me not."

Jesus ordered the evil spirits to come out of him and asked the man his name. "My name is Legion," he answered, "for we are many." The Roman Legion was the Roman instrument of oppression in Palestine. The spirits entreated Jesus to send them into the bodies of a great herd of swine that was feeding near by. Jesus gave permission, as the soul of this man was surely of more value than the swine; and the spirits entering into their bodies, the swine ran down a slope headlong into the sea and were drowned.

The owners or caretakers of the swine were frightened, and moreover they were angry about the loss of the pigs, and they asked Jesus to go away. Jesus and the disciples prepared to recross the sea in their boat, but the man who was healed came to Him and pleaded to be taken with them. Jesus, however, told him to go home and tell his friends of the miracle.

Ruler Asks Help

When they landed on the other side of Galilee, one of the rulers of the synagogue came quickly to Him and fell at His feet. His name was Jairus, and he said, "My little daughter lieth at the point of death: I pray Thee, come and lay Thy hands on her, that she may be healed; and she shall live."

Not all the leaders of the synagogue were Jesus' enemies, you see. This man believed and had faith. As Jesus followed the ruler, a woman who had been ill many years and steadily grew worse, came near to Him and timidly touched His garment, saying to herself, "If I may touch but His clothes, I shall be whole." At once she felt her illness leave her.

Jesus felt "virtue" go out of Him, and He turned and asked who had touched Him. The disciples, seeing the crowd around, could not answer, but the woman came, trembling, and fell at His feet, telling Him all. "And He said unto her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole; go in peace, and be whole of thy plague."

Just then some came from the ruler's house and said the little girl was dead, but Jesus said to the father, "Be not afraid, only believe." When He came to the house he said to those within, including professional mourners, "Why make ye this ado? the damsel is not dead, but asleep."

They laughed at Him, but, taking only the father, mother and three disciples, He went into the room and, taking the child by the hand, He said, "Damsel, I say unto thee, arise." And straightway the child walked, for she was 12 years old, and Jesus told them not to tell anyone, but to get her something to eat. Truly, in this lesson, Jesus uses His power to help.

Buy Hybrid Seed Corn On Records

Farmers should be very careful in their purchases of hybrid seed corn and buy only on performance records made under North Carolina conditions, said research men of the State College Experiment Station and directors of the N. C. Crop Improvement Association at a recent meeting at Raleigh.

They pointed out that some hybrids which did well in the Mountain and Piedmont sections were wholly unsuited for production in the Coastal Plain areas. On the other hand, a certain hybrid gave good yields in the Coastal Plain and was relatively resistant to weevil damage and lodging, or wind damage, but was not suited to production in other areas.

Experiment Station tests showed that the yields of some hybrids were no better, or even less, than the yields of some of the standard varieties of corn already being grown.

Hybrid corns do not carry names such as "Jarvis" but are specified by numbers such as U. S. 282 or N. C. 1032. A "W" following the number means that it is a white corn and a "Y" shows that it is a yellow corn.

OLD TOXAWAY

BY MISS MYRTLE AIKEN

Mr. and Mrs. Currell Galloway announce the birth of a son on Wednesday, Jan. 19, at their home here. Mrs. Galloway was before her marriage Miss Mae Bell Kimsey.

Jimmy Hutchinson, who underwent an operation at Transylvania Community hospital some time ago, is now at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Galloway, and was able to return to school Wednesday.

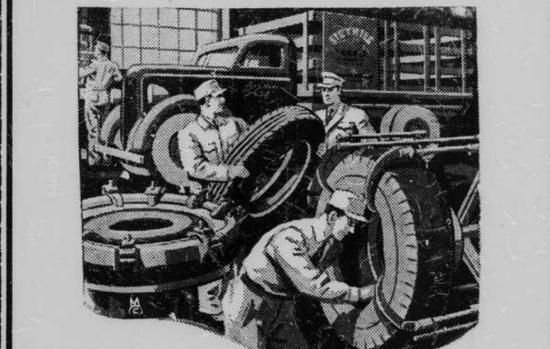

Howard Aiken visited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Aiken in Brevard last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemons Chappell and son returned to their home here Monday after spending some time in South Carolina visiting R. J. Stewart and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Avery Morgan, of near Rosman, visited the latter's mother, Mrs. Jimmy Galloway, and family here the past week.

Stokes, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Batson, is reported to be improving after an illness at his home here.

Zerk Morgan is now employed with the Toxaway Tanning company at Rosman.

Come On, America!

It's 1944!

THIS is what we've been working for all along. This is the year to hit and hurt the enemy. This is the time when everything you do counts double. If we all get together and do all we can, we'll be over this hurdle and well on our way to complete and crushing victory.

No question about the men in uniform—they'll go "all out." But can we count on you to back them all the way? Your quota is where you work—you've got to buy your War Bonds and then buy more, until every last loose cent you have is fighting. Tough? Of course, it's tough—unless it is a sacrifice you're simply not doing your share!

Make the sacrifice now—buy more than the extra $100 Bond your country counts on you for—winning the war is worth any sacrifice you make. Besides, you aren't giving, you're lending to America! You'll get back every dollar you invest in War Bonds, with interest.

An extra $100 War Bond now is the minimum for everybody—can't we count on you for more?

This sticker in your window means you have bought 4th War Loan securities.
