What's What And Who's Who

To continue our Times quiz another week, here's some more questions to see what you remember of what you read in last week's paper, or better still, to see if you saved last week's paper to find the answers for yourself. Here are the questions: 1. What happened to Kenneth Wyatt last week? 2. How many new books did the public library get? 3. What did Farmers Supply tell us to buy? 4. How much did Mr. Bromfield's road roller weigh? 5. What was the girl in Smathers Mfg. adv. talking about? 6. How many women are now serving in the WAC? 7. Where is Zerk Morgan now employed? 8. What kind of preserves did A & P advertise for 15 cents? 9. Who was voted best all-around girl at Brevard college? 10. When is the college mid-year commencement?

February Tokens

February's flower is the primrose and its stone is the amethyst. Some of February's historic personages and dates are: Feb. 22, 1732, George Washington born; Feb. 8, 1910, American Boy Scouts organized; Feb. 20, 1792, U. S. mail established; Feb. 11, 1847, Thomas A. Edison born; Feb. 17, 1867, first ship through Suez Canal; Feb. 12, 1809, Abraham Lincoln born.

Do Double Duty

In order to insure victory in this war everybody has to co-operate and do double duty, as we've heard many times before, so do some doubling-up yourself, Mrs. Housewife. In addition to being homemaker, be your own handy-man for the duration. Carpenters, or handywomen, are as good as their tools, we're told. Lots of little jobs around the house aren't too hard for an amateur. Sometimes just a nail or screw at the right place can do a big repair job. As you get more adept at household repairing, you'll find many opportunities awaiting your attention that you never thought before hubby, brother or sonny went to war that you were capable of doing.

Flowers And Their Symbols

The next time you wear a certain flower on the lapel of your coat or as a shoulder bouquet just stop to think what the flower means—what is its symbol. We're told that every flower has its own meaning, so let's consider a few of them and see if they correspond with the symbol you might have had in mind. Here are a few: camellia, pity; dahlia, forever thine; hyacinth, jealousy; pansy, think of me; rose, beauty; chrysanthemum, truth; sweet pea, departure; lily, purity.

Paul Goes A-Milking

Little Paul Schachner, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schachner, of Charlotte, is in Brevard now with his mother and little brother with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Nicholson, while Daddy has gone to war. The other day his granddad told him he could help him milk the cow, and this was eagerly looked forward to by little Paul, who hardly ever saw a cow in Charlotte. Paul excitedly ran to his grandmother and told her the good news that he was going to milk the cow that night. Here's what he told her:
Paul: "Nonnie," (as he calls his grandmother) "Grandad's going to let me turn the spigot on the old cow."

INCOME TAX OFFICE OPEN CERTAIN DAYS

Revenue Collector Gives Office Schedule. Not Open Other Days.

Dewey Gravely, internal revenue collector for Transylvania county, has announced that he will be in his office in the Brevard post office building for the purpose of assisting taxpayers with their federal income tax returns on the following days in February and March:

February 19, 22 and 29; March 4, 8 and through the 15th until midnight.

"I will not be able to make any returns except on the above days, so please do not ask me to do so," Mr. Gravely said, adding further: "I will be glad to answer any questions regarding the returns but will not be able to give more than a very few minutes to each taxpayer."

"Mr. Varner, whom I am replacing until he is able to return, is not well and I will appreciate it very much if you will not bother him about income or any other taxes at this time."

Flavor Important To Quality Milk

Safety, good keeping qualities, cleanliness, proper food value and good flavor are most desirable in high quality milk products, says W. L. Clevenger, dairy manufacturing specialist of the State College Extension service.

From a selling standpoint, probably the most important of these is good flavor.

"The flavor of milk varies greatly among cows," says Clevenger. "The amount of butter fat contained in the milk in relation to the sugar, protein and ash it contains will also affect the flavor. In the same way, the feed that the cow eats will be reflected in the milk she produces."

"Some milk is inclined to a watery taste, even though it is fairly high in butterfat. And, the feed and fruit flavors may be evident in the milk from some cows, while that from other animals that have been fed the same diet will have little or none of the flavor defects," Clevenger says.

He points out that if certain roughages are fed within five hours of milking, they are inclined to give an off-flavor to milk. While such flavors are not as serious as those resulting from certain weeds, they do detract from the quality of the product. "Proper herd management is necessary to reduce flavor defects to a minimum," says the dairy specialist.
