Timely Hints For Farm Homemakers

BY RUTH CURRENT Last year Americans wasted more than 380 million pounds of cabbage by throwing away the core and outer leaves. At least one-half of this waste was of edible food. How about checking up on your habits in this respect?

Cabbage isn't the only victim. Many green, vitamin-filled leaves are thrown away because they're ragged or broken. Outer leaves that don't look too presentable are still useful for a chopped salad, or for soup.

Leather experts have these tips to offer on the winter care of shoes. Keep shoes clean, dry, oiled, away from heat, and in good repair. Two enemies of leather are moisture and heat. If your shoes get wet in the snow or rain, dry them slowly and away from heat stronger than your hand can bear, as wet leather scorches readily. Stuff the shoes with crumpled paper to keep them in shape, and rub castor oil into the leather while it is wet. After the shoes are dry, polish them.

A person is more efficient when he eats breakfast than when he doesn't. The main difference comes in the morning hours.

Studies have shown that children who eat proper breakfasts have a better chance to do well in school than the children who do not eat a good breakfast.

When you are planning breakfasts, it is well to remember what the word "breakfast" means. Often it is 12 to 14 hours from supper to breakfast; so you are literally "breaking a fast." You refuel the body at breakfast time, for the day's work.
