TO START RED CROSS CAMPAIGN Another Bus Site Is Proposed For Brevard

NEW LOCATION IS NEARER BUSINESS SECTION OF TOWN

Proposed Plans Call For A Modern Structure. Seek Approval Of Commission

ORDER EXTENDED

A new location for the bus station in Brevard was proposed to and accepted by the town board of aldermen at the regular meeting Monday night in the city hall.

J. Ashe Macfie, manager of the present station, said that he and his partner had abandoned plans to build at the bottom of the hill from the business section on Broad street, and the new location had been selected uptown nearer the business section on Caldwell

"We feel that the new site is more desirable and the cost of erecting the other station on Broad street exceeded our expectations,' Mr. Macfie commented.

Negotiations are now underway, Mr. Macfie said, for another party in Brevard to erect a new and modern station on Caldwell and the plans have been approved by the aldermen and bus companies operating in Brevard. The station, of brick veneer design, will be leased by Mr. Macfie, it is report-

"As soon as our proposed plans are approved by the state utilities commission, we will proceed with construction," Mr. Macfie said.

The order forbidding buses to load and unload on the streets of Brevard, which was to have gone into effect on March 1st., was extended until June 1 at the meeting Monday night.
