The newly completed James Addison Jones library, constructed at a cost of at least $100,000, will be dedicated at a special ceremony on the Brevard college campus Saturday, April 10, with Bishop Clare Purcell, of the Methodist church, making the principal dedicatory address.

The all-day program, to which all alumni and friends are invited, will get underway with Bishop Purcell's address in the college auditorium in Dunham hall at 11:00 o'clock. The library gift will be accepted at this time by Dr. C. M. Pickens, of Charlotte, vice chairman of the board of trustees of the college.

Speakers and guests will be taken on a tour of the new building following the dedicatory address, and it is at this time that an oil portrait of James Addison Jones will be unveiled, as well as one of Dr. Eugene J. Coltrane, president of the college. The portraits will hang together in the library with that of H. A. Dunham, of Asheville, which was unveiled at services last fall.

"Credit To Town"

President Coltrane stated that he hoped a large number of townspeople would be on hand for this important day in Brevard college history. "Our new library is not only an important addition to the college's plant, but it is also a credit to the town," Dr. Coltrane stated further.

The amount paid for the library building has not been disclosed, but President Coltrane estimates that it cost at least $100,000. —Turn To Page Five

Mrs. George Rich appeared before the town council Monday night and requested that an ordinance be enacted requiring that all dogs in the town of Brevard be confined to the property of their owners, or kept on a leash. The present law specifies that all bulldogs and other vicious dogs shall not run at large unless muzzled.

Sidney Siniard presented a request that Outland avenue be opened as a 16-foot street instead of the previously proposed 24. The matter was referred to the street committee, after other persons expressed opposition.

Transylvania Has Never Failed To Meet Quota, Says Chairman Douglas

While the quota for Transylvania chapter of the American Red Cross apparently had been reached Tuesday night when funds were checked, appeal is made by chapter officials for those who have not contributed to do so this week in order that the drive may be officially closed. Contributions will be taken by C. M. Douglas, Jerry Jerome, or at The Times office.

"This county has never failed in reaching its allotted quota," fund Chairman C. M. Douglas said Tuesday night, "and we have confidently expected to surpass the $3600 quota this year." He said that the amount already contributed would take care of the planned budget for the Transylvania county chapter, but that need for funds for the proposed blood bank for Western North Carolina, and the possibility of increased calls if the European situation does not soon clear up comprised grounds for request for over-subscription.

Appeals are going out each day from area headquarters for over-subscription, Mr. Douglas said. Change in the international situation with possibility of universal military training within the next few months will increase the load of work for the national, international and local chapters, and it is to be ready for this emergency that special appeal is being made for contributions over and above the quota which was assigned during the last part of 1947.

In commenting on the contributions to the local chapter drive, the chairman said the largest single amount came from Ecusta and its employees, including Champagne and Endless Belt, to the total amount of $2,332.00, or two-thirds of the assigned quota.

The second largest contribution was $250 from the Silverstein Industries and $134 from Pisgah Mills.

One person was killed, three were injured and two cars were demolished in auto mishaps which occurred in Transylvania county last week end.

Miss Mary McCrary, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil McCrary, is in a serious condition at the Norburn hospital in Asheville, suffering from injuries received when the automobile in which she was a passenger overturned on the Crab Creek road early Sunday morning, only 300 yards from her home.

According to State Highway Patrolman H. M. Morrow, who investigated the accident, the automobile was being driven by Paul Baker, Jr., also 19. Mr. Baker also received injuries and was taken to Transylvania Community hospital. He has been released from the hospital.

Patrolman Morrow said the automobile evidently was traveling at a high rate of speed when the driver failed to make a turn in the road. The vehicle turned over, hit an embankment, and bounced back onto the highway against a bridge. It was demolished.

Because of a few generous contributions which have been received during the past few days, work is being continued temporarily on the new American Legion Memorial building here on East Jordan street, and Commander Raymond F. "When finished, the new legion home will be a meeting house for the civic groups and other organizations of Transylvania who desire it," Commander Bennett declared, "and we earnestly solicit their support and contributions now."

In connection with the drive to raise funds to complete the building, a new Chevrolet, two-door sedan is being offered, and contributions may be made to any member of the legion or legion auxiliary.

Several members of the Legion auxiliary appeared at the Legion meeting Monday night, including Mrs. Frank Kerber, president, and Mrs. Streeter Fisher, chairman of the Memorial plot committee; and these members explained what had been done thus far on the memorial in Gillespie cemetery.

Motor Vehicle Inspection Lane To Open April 14 On W. French Broad

A motor vehicle inspection lane will open April 14 on West French Broad street near the depot, according to C. P. Sawyer, of Robbinsville, who will be in charge. The first day and the next has been set aside for county and city vehicles and all garage men are invited to come on the 15th to familiarize themselves with the procedure, Mr. Sawyer said.

The lane will remain here through the 30th and will return again in the fall according to Mr. Sawyer.

Four men will assist Mr. Sawyer in making the inspections, which will require only five minutes, he stated. If the vehicle passes, a blue sticker good for the rest of the year will be attached to the windshield. If it is rejected, a red sticker will be awarded and the owner given a reasonable length of time to have it fixed. Contrary to reports, Mr. Sawyer said such a car could continue to be driven.

Mr. Sawyer said he had been on the lane since December and that approximately half the cars examined under his supervision were found to be defective, mostly for minor things.

Mr. Sawyer said that no vehicle would be examined, unless the driver presented a driver's license and registration card. There is a fee of $1.00 for the inspection. —Turn To Page Four
