April Superior Court Ends After Busy Session

FISHER'S CASES ARE CONTINUED, JURORS EXCUSED

Armstrong Disposes Of A Number Of Cases In Day And A Half

VERDICTS GIVEN

The Transylvania term of Superior court, which opened here on Monday, was completed in short order and was adjourned at noon Tuesday by Judge Frank M. Armstrong.

There were 100 cases on the docket, but 55 of them were continued at one time to the July term of court. These were cases of Ralph Fisher, who is representing Transylvania in the legislature at Raleigh.

Several other cases were continued because of illness of witnesses, etc., and according to Marvin McCall, clerk of court here, the term of court was a busy one in spite of its brevity.

All jurors who were called for the second week of court have been excused by Judge Armstrong. The cases disposed of during the April term of court, as released by the clerk, are as follows:

Robert Manley, violating liquor law, suspended sentence on payment of $25 fine.

Billy J. E. Wilson, abandonment and non-support, suspended sentence on payment of cost of action and fees set by the court.

Robert Ansel, forgery, suspended sentence on payment of checks.

Albert Kilpatrick, public drunkenness, suspended sentence on payment of $25 and costs.

Robert Gordon, larceny, 12 months on roads and suspended sentence on breaking and entering charge.

Billy Hunnicutt, larceny, eight months, suspended sentence on —Turn to Page Five

GROUP WILL GET PHYSICAL EXAMS

Draft Calls 15 On April 12; Brevard College Is Made Center For Tests

Pre-induction call No. 13 for 15 of Transylvania's young men is made today and the group will leave next Thursday, April 12, for Charlotte.

The draft board clerk, Mrs. Alie B. Harlee, also announces that four Brevard college students have been transferred to this local board for pre-induction physical examinations.

Brevard college has been named a center where college students in Western North Carolina may take aptitude tests in order to qualify for deferment for military service. There are 27 such centers throughout the state, and Brevard college is No. 759 of the 1,000 in the United States.

The group called for pre-induction physicals from Transylvania on April 12 are as follows: —Turn to Page Five

Local VFW Post Will Hold 17th District Meeting Here Sunday Afternoon, New Officers Named

Conducts Revival

REV. W. KENNETH GOODSON, pastor of the First Methodist church at High Point, will conduct evangelistic services at the Brevard Methodist church next week. He will also speak at chapel exercises at Brevard college during the week, which is Religious Emphasis week at the local educational institution.

GOODSON SPEAKS TO METHODISTS, AT THE COLLEGE

High Point Pastor Will Conduct Revival; Religious Emphasis Week

Evangelistic services will begin at the Brevard Methodist church on Monday evening, April 9th, at 7:30 o'clock with the Rev. W. Kenneth Goodson, of High Point, conducting the services.

Next week will also be Religious Emphasis week at Brevard college and the Rev. Mr. Goodson will speak at the chapel exercises each morning. The students will attend the evening services at the Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. J. Julian Holmes announces.

The evangelistic services of the Methodists will continue all week, except Saturday, and music will be led by the adult and youth choirs, under the direction of Prof. Bruce Livengood and Mrs. Frank B. McGuire.

Rev. Goodson has held pastorates at Oak Ridge, Wadesboro and is in the third year as pastor of the First Methodist church at High Point. "He has had wide experience in the field of evangelism and has held many successful revivals," Mr. Holmes states.

A native of Salisbury, he graduated from Catawba college, where he was president of the student body his senior year. He did graduate work in the Divinity school at Duke university, and is the asso- —Turn to Page Five

Jimmie Alderman Is Re-Elected Commander; Others Chosen

Veterans of Foreign Wars of the 17th district will meet Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the clubhouse here of the Lewis Earl Jackson post of the VFW just below Brevard college.

According to Commander Jimmie Alderman, who was re-elected Tuesday night at a call meeting, the meeting will feature the installation of officers and talks by the state commander, E. D. Knauff, of Kinston, and Otis M. Brown, the executive advisor of state VFW posts.

District Commander Allen E. Brown, of Hendersonville, will preside, and representatives of all posts in the district are expected at the meeting. Other larger posts in the district in addition to Brevard include Hendersonville, Canton-Waynesville, Asheville, Black Mountain-Fletcher and others.

"This is the first time that we have held a district meeting at Brevard and we're hoping for a good turnout," Commander Alderman stated last night. The auxiliary of the local VFW post will serve refreshments.

Other officers chosen at the call meeting Tuesday night in addition to Commander Alderman were: Al Coggins, senior vice commander; Ed Fentress, junior vice commander; Vance Jackson, quartermaster; and Ed McCoy, three year trustee, who succeeds Glover Jackson. Other trustees are Fred Israel and Ed Garrett.

WPNF Program Highlights

Big League "Game Of The Day" To Be Carried Over WPNF Beginning April 16

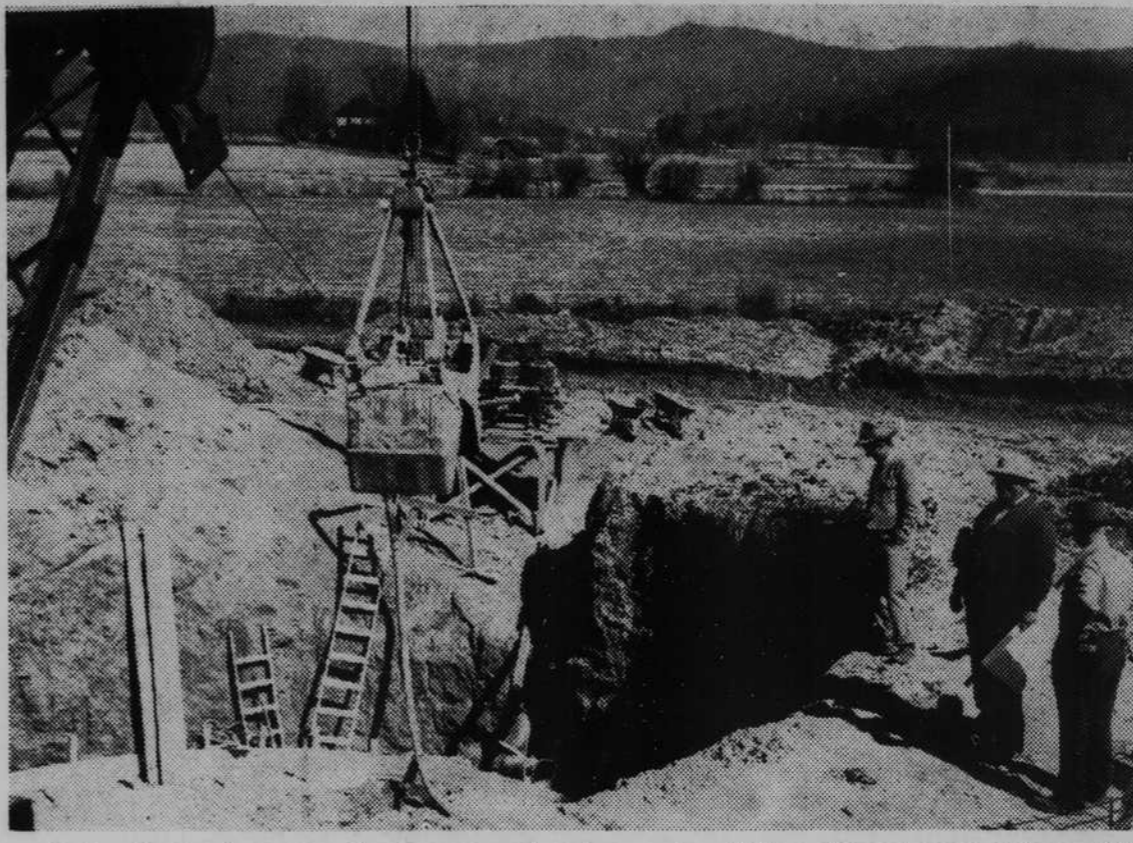

Good news to all sports fans in Transylvania is the announcement this week that the "Game of the Day" of the American and National leagues will be heard this spring, summer and fall over station WPNF, under the sponsorship of the Ecusta Paper corporation.

The "First Game of the Day" will be the world champion New York Yankees vs. the Washington Senators game at Griffith stadium at Washington, D. C., on Monday, April 16. This game will be described by Mutuals "Sports Voice," Al Helfer, and his chief aide, Dick Bingham, starting at 2:30 p. m. An annual custom of major league play is to open the season in the nation's capital with the President of the United States tossing out the first ball.

The "Game of the Day" will carry through September 30. —Turn to Page Five

Work Well Underway on Disposal Plant For Town Of Brevard

Under the bond program for improvement and expansion of the water and sewer systems of the town, Brevard will be one of the first towns in North Carolina to take its sewerage out of the rivers. In the photo above, excavating work can be noted for the digester of the new disposal plant that is being erected beyond Brevard college and on the flat lands behind Ross hall. L. A. HENTHORN, resident engineer on the gigantic project here, is shown on the edge of the excavation; L. C. ATWELL, superintendent of the building of the disposal plant of the Boyd and Goforth company, is directly behind the engineer and is holding the plans in his left hand; and C. F. MISENHEIMER, street superintendent of Brevard, is at the right conferring with Atwell. (Times Staff Photo.)

North Carolina GENERAL ASSEMBLY ROUND-UP

The house Tuesday passed and sent to the senate a half billion dollar appropriation bill, on which the state government will operate for the next two fiscal years. Before approving the measure by a 60-46 vote, the house rejected an amendment which would have further boosted salaries of teachers and state employees. As approved by the house, the money measure totals $502,000,000, an increase of $42,000,000 over the recommendation of the advisory budget commission.

The senate passed and sent to the house a bill which would increase penalties on truckers who overload their vehicles. The senate appropriations committee approved a bill which would set up permanent weighing stations to enforce the load limits.

The senate appropriations committee deferred action on a proposal sponsored by the state teachers and employees retirement system which would provide a minimum of $50 monthly pension for teachers and state employees after 30 years of service.

The legislature is expected to continue the life of a commission appointed in 1949 to investigate the erection of a permanent memorial to the late Josephus Daniels. The commission has proposed the erection of an arboretum. —Turn to Page Five

America's Foremost Folklorist Is Signed To Appear On Aug. 14 Program Of The Music Festival

WILL HOLD ESSAY CONTEST ON CAMP AND FESTIVAL

Brevard Music Lovers Club Is Sponsoring Event; Prizes Offered

The Brevard Music Lovers club this week announces an essay contest for high school and grammar school students on the theme, "What Transylvania Music Camp and Brevard Music Festival Mean to Me and My Community." The contest is being sponsored as one of the National Music week features and winners will be announced during the May 7-13 observance.

First prizes of tickets to the entire festival will go to one high school and one grammar school pupil. Second prizes are also given in the two divisions, and they will consist of tickets to one of the festival week ends, whichever the winner chooses to attend.

Entries should be 250 words or less, and must be postmarked by April 21. They should be mailed to Mrs. Harry Dreyer, Brevard.

Each essay should be in pen and ink or typewritten, with pages clipped together and numbered. —Turn to Page Four

John Jacob Niles Signs Contract; Susan Reed Is Also Coming

John Jacob Niles, America's foremost folklorist, is the second renowned folk musician to be signed for a concert during the 1951 Brevard Music Festival, it was announced here Wednesday, after the contract with Mr. Niles was signed.

He will give a performance here on Tuesday evening, August 14, accompanying himself on three dulcimers, stringed instruments, which he has made.

Announcements of other soloists for the music series was made last week by Festival President Walter K. Straus, but Mr. Niles' name was withheld pending the signing of the contract.

Sharing the spotlight with Mr. Niles will be another of America's best loved folk singers, Susan Reed, who will open the festival here on August 7.

A native of Louisville, Ky., Mr. Niles lives on a farm near Lexington, where he is continually working on his compositions and collections. He has traveled to every county in the Southern Appalachians collecting folk music, some of which dates back to the 17th century. Niles is the only folk singer living today who has never used material from any collection but his own—just as he uses only —Turn to Page Four

HOPE TO RAISE QUOTA OF $4,266 BY NEXT SAT'DAY

Some $1,200 Contributed In Uptown Brevard; Jerome, Douglas Soliciting

CHAIRMAN QUOTED

The Red Cross roll call had reached the half-way mark on Wednesday and workers are continuing in an effort to secure the quota of $4,266 before Saturday of next week, when it is hoped the drive will be completed.

The uptown area of Brevard had reached $1,200 at noon Wednesday, according to Jerry Jerome and C. M. Douglas, who are in charge of soliciting the business area.

Reports from industrial areas had not been completed at press time, and workers in the residential and rural areas do not start until the first of the week due to lack of getting the organization perfected and supplies distributed, and will go at least one-third to one-half over last year, the solicitors stated.

The increased quota has been made necessary for 1951, the Rev. J. Julian Holmes, chapter chairman, states because of the fact that services for armed forces has more than trebled in the past eight months. Armed service work calls for food through the Red Cross have also increased and service for families has of course materially increased.

Hospital work in Oteen and Moore General veteran units has been stepped up nearly ten times in the past year over previous fiscal periods, Mr. Holmes said. In addition, the expense of aiding in civilian defense and starting of first-aid courses here have naturally called for more funds for the —Turn to Page Five

GRAND JURY MAKES REPORT

Repairs Are Being Made To Schools, Buses; Reports Are Requested

The grand jury of the April term of Superior court inspected the jail, court house, prison camp and public offices of the county and made several recommendations to the Honorable Frank M. Armstrong, the presiding judge.

School officials were interrogated by the jury, and in view of the fire hazard that exists in some of the "older schools," it was recommended that the principals of each school submit a written report to Supt. J. B. Jones, giving the date of each fire drill held.

Regular repairs are being made to the school buses, the report stated, and maintenance work is being carried out in the various school buildings.

It was stated in the report that apparently no action has been taken on the grand jury report of December, 1950, in which the —Turn to Page Four

Ayers To Attend Head Camp Meet

J. I. Ayers, a head auditor of the North Carolina jurisdiction, WOW, will attend the head camp meeting in Asheville April 16 and 17. Several other local Woodmen are expected to be present at some of the sessions, which will be held at the George Vanderbilt hotel.

Visitors and delegates will probably total around 350, it is stated. Among the speakers will be former Governor E. D. Rivers, of Lakeland, Ga., and Charles A. Hines, a national director, of Greensboro. President Farrar Newberry will report on the progress of the order for the past two years.

College Choir Returns From Highly Successful Tour, Tribute Paid Jones

After a four-day tour, singing in the high schools and churches of Charlotte, Concord, Wadesboro and Rutherfordton, the Brevard college choir returned to the college campus here Tuesday night. The religious concerts were dedicated to the memory of the late James Addison Jones, benefactor of Brevard college.

Climaxing the highly successful tour was the sacred concert at the Dilworth Methodist church in Charlotte, the home church of Mr. Jones. The select group of 32 students sang under the direction of Prof. Bruce A. Livengood, head of the college music department.

Francis B. Price, instructor of voice, was the baritone soloist and Miss Mary Jane Kornegay, freshman from Greensboro, was soprano soloist. Miss Susan Graham, instructor in piano, was accompanist for the tour.

Traveling with the choir was President George Brinkmann Ehlhardt. The Rev. Ehlhardt delivered short addresses at the intermission of the sacred concerts. His address at Dilworth church was —Turn to Page Four

Residential Garbage Is Being Collected Tuesdays, Fridays

Garbage is now being collected twice each week from the residences in Brevard, N. A. Miller, clerk of town, stated yesterday.

"As an economy measure, we were forced to collect garbage from the homes only once each week during the winter months, but now we are back on the regular schedule of twice weekly," he said.

Collection days from the residences in Brevard are every Tuesday and Friday, and collections are made at the business houses every day.

It was estimated that several hundred dollars were saved by the town over the winter time period.
