Elaborate Observance Of Music Week Planned

STATE PRESIDENT TO VISIT DURING YEARLY EVENT

Winners In Essay Contest Is Announced By Mrs. Harry Dreyer, Chairman

PROGRAMS ON WPNF

Detailed plans for an elaborate observance of National Music week, May 7th-12th, will include a visit from Mrs. Ada Redd Browning, state president of Federated music clubs.

The week-long observance here will include seven special broadcasts to be aired over the local radio station and a special school musical program next Thursday evening.

Winners Announced

In connection with the Music Week events, the winners in the recently conducted Music club essay contest are announced today by Mrs. Harry Dreyer, chairman. "What Transylvania Music Camp and the Brevard Music Festival Mean to Me and My Community" was the subject for the essays. First place winner in the high school division was Beatrix Deutsch, senior at Brevard high school, and in the grammar grade division Irene Cantrell, of Rosman, won first. Second place winners in both divisions came from Rosman schools. They are Dorothy Thomas, high school, and Louetta Hooper, grammar school.

Prizes for the contest winners are one active ticket to the Brevard Music Festival for first, and a week end ticket for second place winners, who are given the privilege of choosing the week end they wish to attend.

The state president will arrive in Brevard Sunday from her Winston-Salem home to complete plans for the 1951 mid-week at Transylvania. While here Mrs. D. P. Miller hopes that Mrs. Browning will find time to appear on a Civic Hour broadcast over WPNF at 9:30 Monday morning.

BREVARD ELKS TO SEND DOZEN YOUTHS TO CAMP

Selections Will be Made By School Teachers From Deserving Boys

For the 3rd consecutive year, the local Elks lodge will send 12 new boys with all expenses paid to the North Carolina Elks Camp for Boys, located south of Hendersonville.

The camp period will begin June 24 and will continue for two full weeks. While in camp the boys will participate in activities such as swimming, archery, basketball, baseball, hiking and the eating of excellent food.

The Elks camp is one of the better supervised camps in this section. For each group of 10 boys there is a full-time counselor in charge of their activities. In addition, there is always a full-time nurse on duty for immediate call.

The selection of the specified number of boys will be left entirely in the hands of the city and county school teachers, it is reported. These teachers will use their best judgment in selecting 12 good, deserving boys who have been attending school during the current year. Boys chosen will be between the ages of 8 and 15 years.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Goodwin have been attending the dental convention this week at Pinehurst. Their children, Judy and Jackie, have been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holt.

Ayers Led Ticket In Primary; New Officials To Take Over May 9

The general election for a mayor and five aldermen will be held in Brevard next Tuesday, May 8. Voting will take place in the courthouse between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. and the same officials who acted at the primary on Monday will serve.

John A. Ford, local wholesaler, was nominated in the Democratic primary on Monday over Richard Saxton, taxicab driver, by a vote of 550 to 71.

J. I. Ayers led the ticket for alderman with 558 votes. Others nominated for places on the board and their votes were: C. R. Sharp, 539; W. M. Melton, 504; W. W. Duckworth, 450; and Joe H. Tinsley, 439.

C. L. Russell, a member of the present board, was eliminated. He received 401 votes.

Assuming their election next Tuesday, the new mayor and his board will take office on May 9 at noon.

LEE'S RIDES TO RETURN MONDAY

Lions Will Get Share Of Proceeds To Add To Blind Fund Program

Lee's riding devices will return to Brevard Monday for a week's engagement. The rides will be in operation each afternoon and evening, Monday through Saturday, and will be located on North Broadway opposite Acme Manufacturing company.

The rides are being sponsored again this year by the Brevard Lions and the club's share of the proceeds will be added to the blind fund.

Mr. Lee has been bringing his rides to Brevard for a number of years and they are very popular with the children and the more daring adults. He has no shows of any kind.

Local Lions will again assist with the sale of tickets under the supervision of Lion Jack Hammette.

Hamlin Is Honor Student At Clemson

Perry Hamlin, son of Lewis P. Hamlin, of Brevard, qualified for the honor list for the first semester at Clemson college, and he was recognized Tuesday at the Scholarship Recognition day exercises.

Young Hamlin has also been elected to Phi Kappa Phi, an engineering fraternity. Prior to entering Clemson where he has consistently made the honor list, Hamlin was an honor student at Mars Hill. Although a senior at Clemson, he will take another year of work since the electrical engineering course of study that he is taking requires two extra semesters.

Emphasis Placed On Forestry Projects In Transylvania

FFA and 4-H boys of Transylvania county are pictured in the top left photo receiving instructions in forestry practices from Fred E. Whitfield, extension forestry specialist from State college. The county agents and the vocational teachers of the county are currently placing much stress and emphasis on forestry methods, and the group can be noted at work on a project in the top right photo. In the bottom left photo the boys can be seen cording up timber that has been removed from an acre project. Pioneer lumbermen Joseph S. Silversteen, holding the phone, and Louis Carr, are co-sponsoring the forestry project in Transylvania and are contributing $75 for prizes to boys having the best achievements. #### FISHER BILLS ARE GIVING BOARD MUCH CONCERN

Chairman Of Commissioners And County Accountant Release Statements

Two bills introduced in the 1951 legislature by Rep. Ralph Fisher and passed by both the house and the senate, provoked statements from the Transylvania county board of commissioners and the county accountant.

At a call meeting of the board last Thursday night in the courthouse the board considered two bills, one raising salaries of county officials and the other relating to the publication of financial statements.

It was stated at the meeting that the board received copies of the bills for the first time through the office of the secretary of state.

After the meeting, Willis Brittain, chairman of the board released the following statement:

"We are very much concerned over these bills. The salary bill providing pay raises for our county officials has thrown our budget out of balance. The county adopt-

PROGRAM SHAPED FOR 4-H CLUBBERS AND FFA MEMBERS

Silversteen And Carr Pledge Cash Awards For Notable Achievements

BOYS PLANT SEEDLINGS

Long recognized as a lumbering county and with only approximately six per cent of its land in cultivation, Transylvania is currently getting a "shot in the arm" in its forestry program.

Realizing that one of the best ways to encourage better farm forestry practices is to begin by teaching the youth of the county, the farm agents and the vocational teachers have worked out a program for the 4-H clubs and the FFA members. The interest in the farm forestry work is "growing by leaps and bounds," County Agent Glazener states, and this is evidenced by the increased number of boys participating in the forestry program.

The assistance of Transylvania's pioneer lumbermen, Joseph S. Silversteen, president of the Silversteen Industries, and L. S. Carr, president of Carr Lumber company, has been secured by the farm agents and the vocational teachers, Mr. Silversteen and Mr. Carr are providing $75 for cash prizes to be awarded to the boys making the most outstanding achievements. Winners this year will be selected on May 14 by the state forester from State college, Raleigh, Fred E. Whitfield.

According to Mr. Glazener, the object of the forestry program is to train youth in better farm forestry practices, such as selective cutting, that is what should come out and what should be left to grow into more profitable timber. This practice is called timber stand improvement.

"To make the work more practical, the 4-H and FFA boys select an acre of farm woodland as their project. Before beginning their work, they receive specific educational instructions on what to do and how to do it by forestry ex-
