LEIPER TO SPEAK

 tional program for the mountain region. Quoting from a release which appeared in the Asheville Citizen on November 19, "Mr. Leiper's election as president of the national travel group, will, in effect, place the capital of the American recreational travel industry in Western North Carolina for the next twelve months."
 James C. Gaither, a regional director of the Highlanders group and J. M. Gaines, president of the local chamber of commerce, have planned the December 2nd meeting as a "highlight" in the 1952-53 promotion campaign to tell the world about Brevard and Transylvania county; increase tourist business, further develop economic resources—industrial, agricultural, retail trade, educational and other. All businesses and civic groups are urged to have representatives attend this important meeting.
