PLANTATION PARTY HELD

To those of us who are true southerners, the Plantation party (junior and senior banquet) held in the Rosman cafeteria gave us all a warm feeling of real southern friendship and hospitality. The beauty of the decorations, the floral arrangements together with the table settings far surpassed anything yet seen in affairs of this kind this year at Rosman high school.

As for the folks who were invited, they all looked absolutely lovely. The junior gals, the senior gals and the lady teachers were very beautiful, resplendent in their evening dresses. As for the boys and men teachers, they were scrubbed, shined and polished beyond all expectations.

The entertainment was truly southern featuring a girls trio composed of Clara Bert Callahan, Edith Galloway and Christine Jones in a medley of old southern favorites, lively and very prettily done.

Special guests of the evening included Principal E. F. Tilson and Mrs. Tilson, Mr. Mickler Lusk and Mrs. Lusk, Maye Winget and Mr. Winget and high school faculty members.

Dorothy Whittington, faculty advisor for the junior class and sponsor of the entire Plantation party, deserves a great amount of praise from all of us connected with Rosman high. From the seniors, the juniors, and the faculty all we can say is thanks... for a wonderful, long to be remembered evening.

FINAL PANEL HELD

In a final chapel program of its series on guidance and job selection, Dr. B. A. Stevens moderator of the series presented Erwin Schranz, Dick Landeck, and Bryan Combs in a very stimulating program on "Mechanical Engineering Drawing."

Many interesting facts, little known about the trade of mechanical drawing, was disclosed to the students. Basic drawings, intricate drawings of machine parts were described and then distributed to the students for closer study.

Dr. Stevens kept the discussion and question and answer period moving at a fast pace. The interest of the entire student body was held throughout the session. This being the end of the series, we all here at Rosman wish to thank Dr. Stevens, Mr. Charles Russell and the Ecusta Paper corporation and Olin Industries for helping guide our young boys and girls toward better thoughts for a better future.

CAREER DAY AT ROSMAN

Interesting, instructive and incentive to new horizons — that's what a career day should be, and that is just what the Career Day coming up at Rosman high next Wednesday promises to be. A very interesting array of speakers in the various fields of engineering, business, beauty culture, and collegiate work will be discussed.

The featured speaker of the day will be Dr. Hollis, of Greenville, S. C., who will give the opening address. Dr. B. A. Stevens, county supervisor, will introduce the speaker. The title of Dr. Hollis' talk will be on the subject of "Choosing A Vocation."

Two quartets will feature the entertainment for the day, the Rosman boys' quartet and the girls' trio, will offer several selections.

The following is a complete list of the featured speakers: Teaching, Dr. Hollis; police work, Mr. Otis Ridgeway; home making, Mrs. Oison top. A dish fit for a king! A cut clove of garlic rubbed overtop of pork or leg of lamb before roasting gives zesty flavor. Try basting your roast with zippy barbecue sauce while it's in the oven. Sometimes try cutting tiny pockets in your roasts — pot roast, lamb, beef, pork — and inserting tiny slivers of garlic. This is a real gourmet trick — do try it!

COOK'S CORNER

Packaged biscuit mixes can star at your table if you use a little imagination with them. Try grated cheese, chopped nuts, raisins, dates, pickle relish, pimiento, blueberries, and grated orange peel mixed in. For liquids try orange juice, tomato juice, pineapple juice. Your fame as a cook will grow, believe me.

Individual casseroles have so many uses a wise cook will certainly have a set on hand. There is nothing nicer than onion soup served in them, and stews and ragouts seem to taste better served individually. When collecting a set of them, be sure that they are ovenproof so that you can cook and serve in the same container. You'll use these individual dishes "from soup to nuts." They are ideal for deep dish pies, hot fruit soups, rice and chicken recipes and a hundred other succulent foods. It is said that a French bride always included in her trousseau a dozen sturdy "marmite" bowls. By any name, they are the same and can be colorful as the rainbow, warm or match them, but do have them.

To keep your refrigerator free from the overstrong odors of melons and cabbages and the like, place a piece of charcoal on one of the refrigerator shelves. It will absorb and hold all odors so that all your foods stay sweet. Replace the charcoal occasionally as needed.

Thought for Food from My Red Rocker: A little oatmeal adds much flavor and richness when used as a thickener for soups. Try it — it's magic. And never, no, never, use soda in cooking green vegetables. Be serene at meal time and you'll have — Good appetite!

GOATS CLUB ABANDONED
We regret very much to inform you of this bit of news, but the interested public deserves to know the truth. The Mountain Goats club has been disbanded! The officials of the club decided that the extensive heat of the summer is too much for even the toughened heroes of the club to stand, so we have been considering the idea of forming a new club.

We can't decide what name to give the club so we have decided to leave it up to the public. The club's ambition is to fly from the Rosman athletic field to the top of Mt. Toxaway in a rocket. Perhaps this will give you an idea as to a name for the club. All entries must be in our hands by May 15 or they are ineligible. The winner will receive a prize of five cents.

To get back to the trip the club has planned to make, we would like to show its similarity to the trips made by the Mountain Goats club. One of the many dangers that the rocket (which, by the way, is to be made in the RHS shop by Joe Smith. It will be made of tin foil and glue) must consist is that of the flocks of jay birds

Superintendent Of Welfare Here Clarifies ADC Ruling

Mrs. Patton Says That Members Of Families Receiving Aid Expected To Work

By STAFF WRITER

"Members of families receiving aid to dependent children (ADC) are expected to work if they are able," said Mrs. C. Y. Patton, county superintendent of public welfare, in discussing the ADC program in Transylvania county.

"We regularly review every ADC case each six months or oftener in accordance with state-wide policies," Mrs. Patton said. "We carefully consider such factors as continuing need and the availability of the mother or older children for suitable work."

Mrs. Patton pointed out that ADC is a service program intended to tide families over periods of crisis in which the welfare of children is endangered. In half of the cases the aid is needed for less than 18 months. The federal funds which are a part of this aid program, it was stated, may be used only to help children in their own homes or in the homes of relatives. Children cared for elsewhere may not receive federal ADC funds.

"The ability and capacity of the mother and older children for work within the requirements of the state department of labor, is considered in establishing need and determining which must invariably be met. Also there is the danger of anti-aircraft fire from the ground if the rocket is forced to circle Boheny in order to land. But we think the boys (who, by the way, are experienced now) will try and succeed in this new venture.

ing payments in ADC. Mrs. Patton said, "A child over 18 in an ADC home (or over 16 if not in school) must be working or registered with the employment office if he is able to work. Fifty per cent of the earnings of a child (or $75 per month, whichever is the smaller amount) is considered a resource for the ADC home in figuring the strict budget upon which the aid is given. We keep in touch with the local employment office and with the county farm agent concerning availability of jobs."

"The ADC program is intended to help people in need and we expect members of families receiving aid to work as much as they are able. If a recipient refuses work he is able to perform when it is available, payments will be terminated. Each case considered on its own merits by the county welfare board which has legal responsibility for passing on all cases. The welfare of the children is given paramount consideration."

"While the county welfare board is responsible for the administration of ADC in Transylvania county, it is the responsibility of all citizens to help the board carry out these policies fairly and equitably and with due regard for human as well as material values. We believe that our citizens want this aid to be available for children who are in need so they can grow up into responsible adults and good citizens. Many fine young men and women in Transylvania county today were given this aid as children when their families were in dire straits," Mrs. Patton concluded.
