> Interested Young Men Are Urged To Contact Specialist On That Day

An Air Force aviation cadet selection team will be on the campus of Brevard college on December 10. 1953. The team members are Air Force career guidance specialists sured cars and drivers, "that if anand are prepared to counsel stuother person with your permission dents on Air Force opportunities, was driving your car at the time of training and requirements. They the accident, both his driver's liwill give assistance to all the young men interested in planning their cense and your driver's license will be suspended." Suspension becomes military service or career in the mandatory, he said, against any mo-torist who failed to meet one of the U. S. Air Force.

Capt. Robert E. Coates, the team president, advises that one of the best opportunities open in the Air Force today is the aviation cadet training program. For those who are interested in aviation and in being an officer and leader in the U. S. Air Force, the cadet program is the motorist that they can obtain the traditional source of Air Force leadership. Capt. Coates advises the young men to remain in college and receive their degree before applying for aviation cadets for this college training gives the individual a better foundation for further training and responsibility in the Air Force, thus, more rapid advancement.

For those who apply now, there will be approximately two months delay before class assignment.

To apply a person must be 19 to 261/2 years old, single and a high school graduate. For further details, contact any of the team members at Brevard college or write Aviation Cadet Selection Team No. 306, Donaldson Air Force Base, South Carolina.
