MORE FOOTBALL TALK . . . We are getting only a small amount of comment from college authorities regarding a Tornado football team at Brevard college next fall. Since Brevard high school turns out many good players each year and only a small percentage of them go off to college to play football, we feel that they would be quickly attracted to the local institution, if a grid team were in the offing. With this group as a nucleus, the college could build a team capable of giving competition to other junior colleges or prep schools in the area. And local people would certainly turn out to watch hometown boys play. A football team at Brevard college would also attract outstanding players from Hendersonville, Canton, Waynesville and other nearby towns, who seem to be ignored now by other colleges and universities of the state. We know it costs a lot of money to have a football team, but we also know that football can make money for a school and at the same time attract students. As to the initial investment, we have every reason to believe that Duke, Carolina and possibly other schools would give Brevard college uniforms, etc. Let us hear from you, Sports . . .

BASKETBALL OR BOWLING? . . . During these wintry days and evenings, activity in the sports world around these parts is confined to the basketball court or the bowling alley. And there's plenty going on in both sports. Rosman, Brevard and the Tornadoes all have games this week end, and most any time you want to bowl, you can drop down to the Brevard Bowling Center. T. T. Loftis is doing a fine job with his new alleys, and league play is a lot of fun to watch. Speaking of basketball, Coach Fitzpatrick's boys are currently going to town . . . four in a row . . . and we like the way Mack Bridges and Frank Nesbit are dropping in those baskets. Might attract some attention our way. If you want to see a good game, go down to the college gym Saturday night and watch the Tornadoes and the Spartans in a return battle. It'll be a honey!

Brevard College Is Seeking Fifth Straight Win Saturday

Spartanburg Is Opponent. Tornadoes Nosed Out A-B Last Tuesday

Brevard college's Tornadoes will be seeking their fifth straight victory when they meet Spartanburg here Saturday night in the college gym. The game will get underway at 7:30 o'clock, and townspeople are especially urged to attend.

This is a conference game, and the Tornadoes will also be seeking revenge from a three-point loss to Spartanburg earlier in the season. The Spartans nosed out the Tornadoes 69-66 at Spartanburg in that game, and Coach James Fitzpatrick feels his boys can win if they play the type of ball they have been playing in the past four games.

Tuesday night Brevard trounced Asheville-Biltmore at Enka by the score of 71 to 62. Mack Bridges, who has been leading the Tornadoes in recent games, dropped in 25 points, and Frank Nesbit was also a big factor in the victory with 21 points.

In addition to Bridges and Nesbit, other big guns in the wins of the Tornadoes were: Harold White, Don Malcolm and Don Justus. Ed Trivette has been playing nice defensive ball, Coach Fitzpatrick declares.

Besides Asheville-Biltmore, other teams suffering defeats recently at the hands of Brevard were: WCC Jayvees, Horse Shoe and Warren Wilson.

Handsome Trophies Are Awarded To Winners In Recent Golf Tournament

The four winners in the recent golf tournament at the Brevard country club received handsome trophies at a dinner meeting in the club house last Thursday night. The presentations were made by George Perkins, Jr., tourney chairman, and Dr. E. O. Roland, president of the country club, presided over the meeting, which was climaxed with the showing of outstanding golf movies. The recipients of the trophies, left to right, were: ROY ORR, winner of the championship flight or the club trophy; BILL HUFFMAN, who copped the president's flight; J. P. JONES, winner of the secretary's trophy; and E. E. "BUDGIE" FRASER, JR., whose trophy was accepted by his father. Tornadoes Defeat WCC Jayvees, 81-72

Mack Bridges took the helm to guide Brevard college through the last two quarters last Thursday night as the Tornadoes defeated Western Carolina Jayvees, 81-72.

Bridges, who scored three points in the first half, poured in 20 in the last to lead all scorers with a 23-point total.

He had plenty of help, from Frank Nesbitt, Don Malcolm, Harold White and Don Justus. All of these scored in double digits.

Randall Shields, six-foot, eight-inch center for Western Carolina, led the Jayvees with 16 points.

The game was for the benefit of the March of Dimes drive.

Waynesville Tops Local Basketeers

Waynesville rolled along to two victories over Brevard's high school teams here last Friday night.

The visiting girls easily won, 56-25 as Shirley Jones hit 21 and Betty Smith had 20. Becky Hudson's nine topped Brevard.

Waynesville's boys crew gradually pulled away from a one-point halftime lead to win 46-37. The Mountaineer scoring was split evenly, led by Donald Jordan and Jimmy Harris with 13 each. David Cudd topped all scorers with 19 for Brevard.

Study Course At Quebec Has Been Postponed

QUEBEC — The study course which was to be held this week at Oak Grove church has been postponed until next week. "Studies in Psalms" is the book to be studied and will be taught by the pastor, Rev. Dodson. Everyone is urged to attend the study course.

The workers council meeting will be held Friday night at the church. Mr. Lee Miller, S. S. supt., asks that all teachers and officers please be present.

Cottage prayer service will be held Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fisher. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Holden and Mrs. John Clark, of Rosman, visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clark and son, Garfield, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rube Morgan, of Brevard, visited Mrs. Alcovia McCall Saturday.

Dewey Banther has returned home from the hospital, where he underwent treatment. His condition remains the same.

Mrs. John Sanders has returned home after a visit with relatives in South Carolina.

Congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Montgomery, of Blackstock, S. C., on the arrival of a baby daughter, Melinda Jane. Mrs. Montgomery is the former Miss Barbara Henderson.

The supper which was sponsored by the P-TA at Quebec school on January 15th, was a great success in spite of the bad weather. We extend our appreciation to every one that attended and helped in making it successful.

After the supper J. A. Glazener gave a very interesting talk on community development and at that time the people voted to organize a community development club, with the following as officers: Bud Sitton, president; Paul Fisher, vice president; Ruby Welyczko, secretary and treasurer and Virgie Fisher, reporter.

We are looking forward to seeing many improvements take place in our community.

The Community Depends On Wages

The purpose of the Congress of Industrial Organizations is a simple one. CIO wants to provide a better and more abundant life for industrial workers through peaceful collective bargaining.

Recently, the Atlanta Journal published a map of the United States, showing the wages of workers state by state. That map showed that where there was a high degree of organization wages were high. It also showed that where the workers did not engage in collective bargaining, the wages were low. Experience has proven that the best and most productive relationship between management and workers is attained through collective bargaining. CIO has improved the living standards of millions of people. Gains for Union members have contributed to the economic well-being of many towns and cities, as the increased earnings of wage earners have poured out from pay envelopes to the merchants, grocers, butchers, doctors, dentists, druggists and into the whole of the community. Bank deposits have increased as well as the collection plates of the church, and donations to the Red Cross and other community services.

In a small Georgia town where the CIO was helping the employees of a mill organize a Union, a survey was made among merchants and business people to learn their attitude toward the Union. One merchant in that town expressed the general sentiment when he said "Wages from that mill are the economic life-blood of this town. We want the Union here to give the mill's 500 employees more money to spend. They earn it and need it badly, and they spend their earnings right here in our town."

A Virginia textile management in a huge cotton mill bitterly opposed the Union for many years. The community reflected the viewpoint of management. Finally, the Union was established and a contract was signed between the Company and the Union. Three years later, upon renewal of the contract the daily paper, which had opposed the Union's organizing, said in an editorial, "There can be no doubt that Unionism in this city has enriched the workers and provided them with a higher standard of living and a more attractive life."

CIO gives working men and women an opportunity few of them have had before, an opportunity to help formulate policies and make decisions that vitally effect the welfare of their families and their fellow men. This develops leadership, the type of leadership that can be of great value to the community and the nation. A leadership that has learned the full meaning of democracy, justice, fellowship and brotherhood.

A prosperous community depends on good wages, regularly paid, and job security. When wages drop and workers are laid off you know what happens. Cash registers fail to ring. Good wages depend on strong responsible labor unions. Individual workers cannot bargain with employers on an equal basis without a strong Union behind them. Wages are the real wealth of North Carolina. The majority of North Carolina industry may be owned by people living outside the state but the workers are North Carolinians. The profits flow out of the community, but the wages earned by the workers stay in the community and are spent with local merchants.

PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS PEOPLE, SALESMEN, TEACHERS, BAKERS, BARBERS AND BEAUTY OPERATORS . . . REMEMBER THIS: When wages in your community go up, workers spend it with you and business is good. The story in a nutshell is: WHAT HELPS LABOR, HELPS THE COMMUNITY . . .
