Christ, the Living Bread

JESUS TELLS HOW TO SATISFY SPIRITUAL HUNGER

Scripture—John 6.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

THE MIRACLE of feeding thousands with a few loaves and fishes is the only one told in all four gospels. It occurred at Bethsaida, on the Sea of Galilee.

Jesus went up into a mountain and His disciples were with Him. Multitudes followed them, and Jesus recalled that the feast of the Passover was near, and asked Philip how they could feed over 5,000 people. Philip answered that they had only two hundred pennyworth of bread which was not nearly enough. Andrew said, "There is a lad here which hath five barley loaves and two small fishes: but what are they among so many?"

"Make the men sit down," Jesus said, so all sat upon the mountain's grassy slopes, and Jesus took the loaves and fishes, gave thanks for them and distributed the food to the disciples who gave it to the people. Not only was there plenty to feed the multitude, but 12 baskets were filled with what was left.

Those who were present said: "This is of a truth that prophet should come into the world."

Seeing that these people might force Him to go with them, possibly to make Him king, Jesus slipped away and went into a mountain.

His disciples went to the sea and boarded a boat. A storm arose, buffeting them about, and then they saw Jesus walking on the water toward them. They were afraid, but He calmed them. "It is I; be not afraid."

They gladly received Him in the ship, and "immediately the ship was at the land whither they went."

The people whom Christ had fed missed Him, as they did not see Him leave Bethsaida. However, they found Him on the other side of the sea at Capernaum. They asked Him, "Rabbi, when camest Thou hither?" Jesus said to them: "Verily, verily I say unto you, ye seek Me, not because ye saw the miracles, but because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled."

"Labor not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you: for Him hath God the Father sealed."

They asked Him then what they should do that they might work the works of God? Jesus' answer was, "This is the work of God, believe on Him whom He sent."

They then asked Jesus for a sign, saying, "Our fathers did eat manna in the desert: as is written, He gave them bread from heaven to eat."

"Verily, verily," Jesus said, "Moses gave you not that bread from heaven; but My Father giveth you the true bread from heaven. For the bread of God cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world."

"Then they said unto Him, Lord, evermore give us this bread," and Jesus answered, "I am the bread of life: he that cometh to Me shall never hunger; and he that believeth on Me shall never thirst."

This annoyed the Jews who repeated His words, and they said, "Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How is it then that He saith, I came down from heaven?" These were the same doubting words that were spoken in the synagogue at Nazareth when Jesus talked to his former neighbors in His home town.

Then Christ went on to explain that the bread of life He meant was His flesh, and the drink was His blood. The flesh was crucified for our sake and the blood shed for us. If we believe in Him, remembering His sacrifice and suffering, for our sakes, that would save us for life everlasting.

This talk mystified His listeners, and many who had been His disciples "walked with Him no more."

Jesus asked His twelve disciples, "Will ye also go away?" Simon Peter answered, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life, and we believe and are sure that Thou art that Christ, the Son of the living God."

Jesus said to him, "Have not I chosen you twelve, and one of you is a devil?"

He spake of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon; for he it was that should betray Him, being one of the twelve.

There is enough material in this lesson to interest all ages of young people. Teach the younger children to think of the Lord calming the fears of His disciples when He was walking to them over the stormy water: "It is I; be not afraid," when they are afraid.
