COMMERCE GROUP

Lewis Hamlin, reported that direction signs had been erected by the state highway of South Carolina at Travelers Rest showing distance to Brevard, and also six signs in the Asheville-West Asheville section. The large sign at Travelers Rest has been repainted in colors by a commercial artist at Greenville and was reported to be in excellent shape.

The directors voted to assist the state health department in the chest X-ray program here on June 29 to July 3, and several members will canvass the business section to advertise the program and secure pledges of business firms to have the owners and employees participate in the program. Buddy Melton is chairman of the group.

A committee, headed by Don Jenkins, was asked to secure decal signs for doors of members. It was pointed out that the decals would provide advertising for members and also be an invitation to visitors to ask for information and courtesies in the office of members displaying the signs which will show membership for 1954.

Report by Mrs. Ford showed 56 members have paid dues to date this year.

CARD OF THANKS

BALSAM GROVE

to stimulate activities in other communities," Mr. Glazener said, after receiving many comments on the report of the Balsam Grove community club members.

It was the consensus that Balsam Grove had been underestimated, and now the feeling is that this upper Transylvania group is "really in the running" for prize money totaling more than $1,000.

Many of the residents of Balsam Grove, which is located 12 miles above Rosman, are part-time farmers, being employed in industries throughout the county.

A survey of 40 of the 70 Balsam Grove farms reveals the farms are about 60 acres each, with the principal crops being corn and hay. Improved pastures are being stressed, and nearly every home has a large garden.

As acres in pastures have increased, so has interest in livestock. For the 70 farms, there are more than 400 head of cattle.

Balsam Grove was founded in 1821, and derived its name from its first post office, which was located in a grove of balsams. Lumbering has been important in the community from the very beginning, and a new source of farm income is being developed in the community, that of the production of commercial and hatching eggs.

The Balsam Grove Community club was only recently organized, and accomplishments are being made now instead of being publicized by the members, T. R. Chastain, the president reports.

Among the '54 goals are: (1) increase farm income through wiser use of research findings, time and materials; (2) hold 10 corn demonstrations; (3) reduce idle acres by planting adapted crops or trees; (4) plant 50,000 white pine seedlings; and (5) improve quality of livestock through the use of better breeding.

Little Theatre Has Banquet And Elects Officers

The Brevard Little Theatre held its annual banquet and business meeting at Gaither's Rhododendron room. The affair, highlighted by the election of officers, was attended by some 50 members and guests.

Ralph Palmer succeeds Gunther Baldauf as new president of the organization. Other officers are Smith Conklin, vice president; Mrs. Bill Norris, second vice president; and Dick Davis, treasurer.

Directors are Ernest Gilstrap, Mrs. J. H. Sanders, Dr. Julius Sander, Mrs. Arthur Loeb and Mrs. Harry Dreyer.

The membership also voted on a new set of by-laws which will be used for a year on a trial basis. Charles Norlander presented the changes which had been drawn up by a special committee.

After the gavel was turned over to the new president, he announced that the play reading committee would be instructed to select all three of next season's plays this summer. This will enable members to prepare for a part they might desire, he said.
