SOCIETY DEADLINE, NOON TUESDAY

Miss White Bride Of Mr. Chambers In Mt. Berry

Miss Jo Ann White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. White, of Warren, Pa., formerly of Brevard, was married at 7:30 p. m. Sunday evening, May 22 in the chapel at Mt. Berry, Ga., to Adam Milton Chambers. The Rev. R. C. Gresham, chaplain at Mt. Berry school, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk tulle, which featured a full length skirt ending in a train. Leg-of-mutton sleeves and a sweetheart neckline were other distinctive features of the bride's gown. She wore a fingertip veil of tulle which fell from a coronet of orange blossoms. The bride carried a prayer book topped with white orchids and showered with carnations and ribbon streamers.

The bride's attendants were Misses Charlotte Ware, Norma Jean Topham, Ollie Mallard and Alice Donnell. They wore floor length dresses of crystalette crepe in heavenly blue and carried crescent shaped bouquets of white carnations.

Little Miss Noel Thomasina Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jordan, of Atlanta, Ga., was flower girl.

Charles Seeger was best man and ushers were Donald Jones, Joel Patterson, Stanley Turner.

A reception was given in honor of the couple in the library of the science building on the college campus.

Afterward for a southern wedding trip, the bride changed into a suit of pink wool with which she wore blue accessories.

Upon their return they will reside at Mount Berry, where both bride and groom are connected with the school.

They were honored at a number of pre-nuptial courtesies prior to their marriage.

The bride has a number of relatives residing in Transylvania county.

MRS. ROBERT KENNETH MORRIS

Virginia Ellis Weds Robert Morris Saturday

The marriage of Miss Virginia Hart Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Frisk, of Brevard, and Robert Kenneth Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Morris, also of Brevard, was solemnized Saturday afternoon at five o'clock in Brevard Methodist church.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Douglas Corriher, pastor, and a program of wedding music was given by Mrs. Melvin Gillespie, organist, and Lloyd Burhans, vocalist.

Selections included "Salute D'Amour," "Because," "I Love Thee," "The Pledge" and "To A Wild Rose." The traditional wedding marches were played with "O Perfect Love" being used during the vows. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung as the benediction.

Vows were spoken before a setting of white regal lilies, jade and emerald trees and seven-branched candelabras holding lighted tapers.

Given in marriage by Mr. Frisk, the bride wore a gown fashioned on princess lines of pure silk with Alencon lace trim. The full gored skirt fell into a chapel-length train. Her three-tiered fingertip veil of imported French illusion fell from a crown of illusion and Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and fleur d'amour.

Mrs. William C. Morris, Jr., sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a dress of aqua crystalette with a fitted bodice and full ballerina length skirt. Her headdress was a double bandeaux of matching crystalette and she carried an arm bouquet of yellow majestic daisies.

Bridesmaids whose dresses matched that of the honor attendant, were Mrs. Erby Bolt, of Lake Toxaway, Miss Betty Gardner of Brevard, and Mrs. Thomas Y. Galloway, of Brevard.

Rebecca Morris, of Asheville, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Lee Dunlop, of Brevard, was ringbearer.

William C. Morris, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, of Asheville, was best man and ushers were S. Carroll Brady of Tryon, Thomas Barclay IV, Charles M. Osborne, both of Brevard, and Robert K. Eberle, of Asheville.

A formal reception followed the wedding at Darlington Inn. The drawing room where the receiving line stood was lighted with white tapers. The mantle was decorated with white stock and gladioli centered with an antique ivory and lace fan.

The bride's table was overlaid with a Madeira linen cloth belonging to her grandmother. It carried out the fan motif with a white machine fan flanked with white stock, gladioli, gypsophila and candles. Iris and mountain laurel were used elsewhere in the receiving rooms.

Mrs. Lehmann Kapp greeted guests at the door. Assisting at the punchbowl were Mrs. Charles Dunlop and Mrs. Doyle Wells. The bride's book was kept by Mrs. George W. Hart, grandmother of the bride, and Mrs. J. O. Davidson. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Gilbert Booth, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Howard Wolsted, Dorothy Galloway and Mary Alice Hollifield.
