DISTRICT NEWS

Officials of the Transylvania district Boy Scouts have been busy during the past several weeks with work clearing the way for different Scout units to function properly.

The organization and extension committee, headed by Cecil Hill, has been besieged with requests for new Boy Scout troops in outlying districts. This year new troops have been organized at Penrose Community club and at Glade Creek Baptist church. Among the communities anxious to start new troops are Cherryfield, Quebec and Cedar Mountain. There has been a good deal of work done on organizing an Explorer post, sponsored by the junior chamber of commerce. Mr. Hill's committee has visited with interested members of clubs and churches, showing film and explaining the organization necessary for starting new units in scouting. Before this year is over, Mr. Hill states that he should have at least five new units chartered and doing business with newly registered Scouts and Scouters.

It is the duty of the organization committee to present renewed charters each year to fully registered Scout units. Mr. Hill's committee has had charter presentation ceremonies to the following Boy Scout troops in the last few weeks: Turkey Creek Baptist church, Troop 9; First Baptist church, Troop 2; Kiwanis club, Troop 1; Oak Grove Methodist church, Troop 11; Shoal Creek Baptist church, Balsam Grove, Troop 16; Dunn's Rock Community club, Troop 14; and Bethel A Baptist church, Troop 10.

With these new charters, there are 13 Boy Scout troops and two Cub Scout packs in Brevard and outlying districts fully manned with leaders trained to do a service to boys. These units are meeting weekly with a registered membership of approximately 275 boys. When the fall activities start it is expected that the membership will increase to at least 325. The wide spread of Scout units in Transylvania county offers to every boy

BREVARD COLLEGE

Italy today is rich in culture, history and tradition. When one walks in the magnificent and beautiful cathedrals, through art galleries and museums, along crumbling city walls that stand as relics of another age, he is seized by a sense of timelessness, and overwhelmed by the accomplishments of men and God.

Economically, Italy is a poverty-ridden nation. It happens not to be blessed with natural resources necessary to provide an adequate standard of living for its people. It is plagued with the age-old problems of over-population, widespread unemployment, and pitifully little industry. One out of ten persons is unemployed, and as many more have only seasonal employment, the annual average income per capita being only $350. Six hundred thousand families still live in caves, under stairways, within arches of Roman Aqueducts, or in improvised homes built with debris of World War II. A country the size of California, Italy has 48 million inhabitants. The people in the north fare much better than the people in the south, but even their standard of living is extremely poor, judged by the standards found in America.

However, in spite of stark poverty, problems of all kinds, and hardships, the Italian people are happy at the opportunity of joining in and taking part in scouting.

Another adult Scout committee has been busy recently organizing and training to give better service to boys. This is the commissioners, headed by Harry Kolman. Mr. Kolman has a number of neighborhood commissioners whose job is to keep in contact with different units of scouting, helping in program planning and other ways which will be of service to the units. When a Scout troop has a problem or wants an explanation in proper function, it is the commissioners who come to their assistance.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

There will be a meeting of the Transylvania district committee on Friday night of this week in the office of Duke Power company.

District committee chairman, Charles Dunlop, urges all members to attend. Meeting time is 7:30 o'clock.

Insurance Company Adopts New Name

Carl W. Stephens, local agent, has announced a change in name of the Farm Bureau Insurance company, of Ohio, on September 1 to Nationwide Insurance.

Mr. Stephens explained that the name is being changed because in a number of states there are already "farm bureau" companies, which resulted in confusion.

Premium rates will remain the same, Mr. Stephens said, and the same benefits as in the past will apply.

The Farm Bureau Insurance company, of Ohio, has more than 2,000,000 policy holders in 13 states.

The change in name, according to Mr. Stephens, was approved by the company-wide Policyholder Advisory committee.

pp, lovable people. It seems they have been accustomed to such hardships and time has taught them a marvelous working philosophy of life. Marshall Plan aid has improved the economy of the country considerably, and the people as a whole are most appreciative. The economy of the country has almost completely recovered the damages of World War II and the people do enjoy higher standards and productivity than before the war. The Italian government is making great strides in improving the lot of the poor through land reforms and social legislation. However, it will take years to really solve the problems of this land.

Communism is losing strength fast. In fact, Italian communism was never of the Marxist variety; the vast majority of persons who voted the Communist ticket in the last election were Roman Catholics who were dissatisfied with their poor economic condition and were crying for more bread.

The Italian people like not only the American dollars; they like the American people as well. In a recent popularity poll the United States was chosen first among all other nations by a wide margin.

Our trip in France and through Italy has been most delightful and we have been treated with every courtesy and consideration. Our distinguished American hostess in Italy was the American ambassador Mrs. Clara Booth Luce, who gave us an audience in the American Embassy.
