Salley Is Heard At Banquet, Contest Winners Announced

Mack Salley, general manager and chief of the fire department at Enka, said at a banquet at the country club last Thursday night that local firemen should be provided with equipment which would enable them to give better protection against fire in areas contiguous to Brevard. They lack such equipment now, the speaker said. Through the cooperation of the board of commissioners, five rural communities in Buncombe have adequate fire protection.

The banquet was tendered the firemen by the Lions, Kiwanians and Rotary clubs and the Lions were in charge of the function. Lion

MRS. McMINN IS CONTEST WINNER IN TIMES EVENT

A. N. Jenkins Is Oldest Subscriber. Essays Are Now Being Judged

Mrs. J. W. McMinn, member of a family that has been prominently identified with the growth and development of the town and county for nearly a century, is the winner of the contest of the Transylvania Times to locate the oldest paper published in Transylvania county.

Mrs. McMinn brought a copy of the Transylvania Pioneer, published on July 22, 1887, into the office, and she receives a prize of $10.

In another contest, sponsored by The Times to highlight the observance of National Newspaper week, A. N. Jenkins, retired merchant and farmer, reported that he has been a continuous subscriber to a Brevard paper since 1898. Mr. Jenkins brought a copy of the first paper to which he subscribed into the office.

The Times has also conducted an essay contest in the high schools. There were many entries, and a group of unbiased judges are now busy picking the winners. First prize is $15, second, $10 and third $5.00.

Although it wasn't entered in The Times' contest since the paper was not published in Transylvania, a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, brought into the office by Mrs. Mitchell Neely, has attracted considerable attention.

Published at Kingston, Ireland, the copy of the Gazette was dated Saturday, January 4, 1800.

A reprint of the front page of the Transylvania Pioneer is carried this week on the front page, second section.

$6,000 PLEDGED FIRST TWO DAYS, GOAL IS $22,500

Lyday Urges All To Give. Pledge Form Is Carried On Second Front

ENDS OCT. 31ST

During the first two days of the first annual United Appeal campaign approximately $6,000 has been pledged of the $22,500 goal.

General campaign director, Randall J. Lyday, says he is well pleased with the response of the public to this "give once for all" campaign, and if all citizens continue to respond generously he feels that the goal will be subscribed.

More than 225 volunteer workers are busy soliciting in all the communities of Transylvania, and Mr. Lyday points out that included in the budget of $22,500 are 17 allocations.

Cash donations are being accepted along with the pledges for giving all during 1956. Many employees in industries and in the stores in Brevard and Transylvania county are giving a day's wages, and the campaign director emphasizes the importance of everybody giving.

Rev. Robert H. Stamey, president of the United Appeal fund here, sounded a note of appreciation and optimism for the manner in which the volunteer workers in the campaign have started out on this first drive.

Persons who have not been contacted and desiring to make pledges are urged to use the form on the second front of this week's newspaper.

Transylvania's 4-H Clubs Have Booth At State Fair This Week

The 4-H clubs of Transylvania are participating in the State Fair at Raleigh this week by putting on one of the 4-H educational booths. The name of the booth is "A 4-H Roadside Market."

In this type of booth a contrast is made to show how to select, prepare and display quality produce the right way, using half of the 14 foot display, Bob Love, assistant county agent, says. The other side features the poor quality, poorly prepared and poorly displayed produce. The theme of the booth is "Quality Sells," and the lesson being taught is "Which of the Products Would You Buy?"

Sara Hunter and Charles Taylor, both members of the Brevard Senior 4-H club, left Sunday to put up the exhibit. They were accompanied by G. H. Farley, assistant county agent, and Miss Anne Beason Priest, home agent.
