COMMISSIONERS TOSS HATS IN POLITICAL RING

Entire Board Seeking Re-election. Filing Deadline Is April 14

Transylvania's three members of the county board of commissioners announced Wednesday morning that they would seek re-election in the primary to be held on May 26th. The deadline for filing is April 14th.

Freeman Hayes is the current chairman of the board, and other members are Dewey Burton and George Perkins, Sr.

In their announcement they state: "If we are nominated and elected, we promise the people of Transylvania an efficient, progressive and honest administration of the county's affairs".

Interest, politically, is increasing in the town and county, and others to date who have announced include Paul Whitmire, register of deeds; C. M. Douglas, tax collector, and Joel M. Hubbard, who is also seeking the office of tax collector.

Other offices up for election are: house of representatives and two members of the board of education.

EASTER EGGS, parties, new clothes, etc., are all a part of the Easter observance, and in all of the schools and churches of the county there will be special programs this week and on Sunday. Numerous Easter egg hunts are planned, and in the top photo the young lady seems more interested in chicks than she does the eggs. The pert little miss in the lower photograph makes it clear that she's prepared for the special day, come rain or shine, and she's taking no chances of having her Easter finery messed up with April showers.

NETTLES TO PRESIDE

A two weeks term of Transylvania county superior court will open next Monday with 126 cases listed on the criminal docket and 127 cases on the civil calendar, making a total of 253 cases in all, the largest total number of cases for a superior court term in this county in years.

Of the civil cases, 50 of them are new bills that will go before the grand jury and will probably keep this jury in session for at least two days.

Judge Zeb V. Nettles, of Asheville, will preside and Clarence O. Ridings, of Forest City, will be solicitor for the state on all criminal cases.

Next week is scheduled to be devoted to the trial of criminal cases and the following week to the trial of civil ones.

No Operators Licenses

Leading the criminal docket are cases involving charges for not having driver's licenses, or for driving after licenses had been revoked. Thirty-three are charged with this violation. Next on the list is speeding, with 27 cases involved and 21 cases of drunk driving.

The most serious offense on the docket is a rape case which ended in a mistrial in the December term, and it is considered doubtful as to whether or not the case will be tried again in this session.

James Hendrix and Don Stancil, of Rosman, are charged with raping Annie Mae Lail.

In four separate cases, Paul Pete Hamlin, of near Lake Sega, is charged with breaking, entering and larceny.

Albert Kilpatrick is charged with larceny of automobile and of operating without license.

The property was purchased from a group of individuals in Brevard who have been using the camp as a private recreational center. Included in the 130 acres are much woodland, bounded on three sides by Pisgah National Forest, a lake, a large lodge building and two three-room rustic cottages.

Miss Blackwell states that repairs will first be made to the existing facilities at the camp and prior to opening next summer three dormitory-type cabins will be constructed. The camp's capacity at first will be around 40, plus a staff, but the owners plan to expand it
