Book And Plate Hears Program On Humorists

The Book and Plate club was entertained for the last regular meeting by Mrs. Julius Sader and Mrs. Cecil Hill, president, presided.

Mrs. Hill announced that the district meeting of Federated Women's clubs will be held in Black Mountain on October 24th.

Mrs. Al Ream, chairman of the finance committee, presented the budget for the year which was accepted as read.

Members voted to give a magazine subscription for use of the patients at the hospital.

All members were asked to bring copies of magazines from their homes to each club meeting. Mrs. Charles Dunlop, chairman, will distribute these to various places.

"American Humorists" was the subject of a program given by Mrs. Jack Alexander. She traced the development of the humorous writers from the earliest times to the period of Samuel L. Clemmons (Mark Twain). Most American writers before Twain had been copyists of European models, she pointed out, and had been afraid to draw on the rich material of the American scene. Twain was a pure product of America.

The program chairman said that Twain spoke of Europe only to mock it. He shaped the American Language with great artistry. He used the America of the Mississippi River and the West as almost his only source of material. American literature owes him a greater debt than any other writer, she concluded.

The meeting ended with a social hour when members were invited into the dining room for a delicious dessert course.

Miss Roller Bride Of Airman Here On Saturday

The groom's best man was Robert Parris, of Brevard.

Poetry Is Topic Of Wednesday Club Meet

The Brevard Wednesday club met October 3rd at Silvermont, the home of the hostess, Mrs. J. S. Silverstein. Mrs. Lehman Kapp, club president, presided.

The club voted to subscribe to two magazines for the Transylvania Community hospital. It was decided to include in this year's budget contributions to the United Fund, Transylvania Music Camp Library, and to the new Transylvania Community Library.

Mrs. Kapp thanked the program chairman, Mrs. Charles Newland and the hostess, Mrs. Gordon Sprott for making the arrangements for the last meeting held September 19. At that time Marvin Culbreth, secretary, director and public relations manager of Camp Sky Ranch, a summer camp for handicapped children, was guest speaker.

After the business portion of the meeting members and guests were served delicious refreshments. Mrs. Kapp then introduced Miss Lucile Smith, program leader.

Miss Smith's subject was "Modern Trends in Poetry." She stated that movements culminating in the modern radical poetry probably had its beginning in America in the 19th century. Today's most outstanding poet, T. S. Eliot is passionately abused or praised by Modern critics. The Traditional poet believes that certain things are essentially poetic. The example she gave written by Wordsworth is as follows:

"It is the beautiful evening, calm and free; The holy time is quiet as a nun Breathless with adoration"

To the Modernist nothing is essentially poetic. T. S. Eliot writes thus about the sunset.

"The evening is spread out against the sky Like a patient etherized upon a table."

Miss Smith concluded by saying that in modern poetry we are aware of new meanings expressed in new ways, the like of which we have never heard before.

Guests of Mrs. Silverstein were Mrs. Glenn Riley, Miss Edith Beam, Mrs. J. W. Quillian and Mrs. S. P. Verner, an honorary member.

Mrs. Rhyne Gives Program At The Lutheran Meet

"Americans on the Move" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Robert Y. Rhyne before the Women of the Lutheran Church at their October meeting in the church assembly room Tuesday night, Oct. 2.

She brought out the fact that over the country, rural populations have decreased 80 percent in the past ten years. Advantages of the movement from place to place of the leaders in industrial work was emphasized, and a round table discussion of the contributions of those who move from place to place was held.

Mrs. Rhyne also led the devotions. The members were handed a soul-searching questionnaire for discussion.

The president, Mrs. Harriet Hebert, called on members to take a Saturday each to provide refreshments for the week-day church school for the children of the church, who will attend classes Saturday mornings at the church, from 9 to 11:30 a. m. starting Oct. 13, and running 32 weeks.

Announcement was made of the fellowship dinner at Hickory.

Among the women from the Brevard group, who recently attended the Workshop for Mission Study at Hickory in Lenoir Rhyne College, were: Mrs. Hebert, Mrs. J. L. Setzer, Mrs. Marvin Gaddy, Mrs. John Leroy Mills, Mrs. E. R. Gladstitch, and Mrs. Keith J. Beam, wife of the pastor.
