Plans For Polio Clinics In County In Mid-February Being Carried Forward

Principals Hear Health Officials. To Distribute Permission Forms

Plans for the polio clinics to be held in the schools were discussed at the monthly meeting of the principals held Tuesday evening at Gaither's.

The clinics are scheduled to begin the week of February 18th, with a return visit planned a month later for the second shot. A complete schedule of visits to all county schools will be announced after it is worked out.

Permission forms are being distributed this week through the schools. Parents who wish their children to receive the Salk vaccine at the clinics are asked to sign and return these blanks.

On these forms, additional information is asked for if the child has had previous shots. This is necessary in order to determine the proper spacing of further shots.

The present schedule of immunizations which is recommended is as follows: two to six weeks between the first two shots, and at least seven months between the second and third. Children who had their first and second shot only a week apart are advised to get a fourth, or additional booster.

The American Medical Association is beginning a campaign in which they are urging adults to take immunization shots against polio. Medical men are pointing out that when this disease strikes adults, there are usually devastating effects.

The vaccine was given last year in the quantity of over 60 million. —Turn To Page Five
