TAX LISTERS ARE BUSY, BOOKS IN TOWNSHIPS NOW

Will Be Brought To Court On Saturday, Osborne Cites Law

Tax listers in the townships of Transylvania have been busy since the 2nd of January, and Lewis Osborne, tax supervisor, announces that after the 10th, the books will be brought to the court house here.

He urges citizens of the county not to wait until the last of the month to list because the lines will be long at that time.

During the month of January, all county property and farm reports must be listed. The tax supervisor says there is a penalty prescribed by law for failure to do so.

Property that must be listed falls into three major categories:

1. All real estate and tangible personal property owned on January 1st, 1958.
2. A poll, or capitation, tax required of all male persons between the ages of 21 and 50 as of the first of the New Year.
3. Every dog, male or female, more than six months old owned or kept on the first.

FILM COMPANY CHECKING SITES

Photographs Shot In Many Areas Of County By Advance Photographers.

Possible locations for filming a color picture were checked Saturday by technicians from Trans Films corporation in Transylvania county.

Particular emphasis was laid on color shots around waterfalls, vistas and lake scenes by the advance photographers. Shots were made in Pisgah National Forest at Looking Glass falls, Slide Rock pool, Green Knob overlook on the Blue Ridge Parkway and at the Graveyard Fields.

Shots were also made at Paint Rock in the Balsam Grove area, Toxaway falls, Conestee, High falls on the duPont property and Lake Cascade — the latter as a possible boating scene.

Definite commitment for making the picture in this locality was not made, but the scenery shown as background was impressive, the technicians stated, following the all-day inspection trip.

The film representatives were guided by Ted Seely, ranger for Pisgah National Forest, and Tax Collector C. M. Douglas for the Chamber of Commerce.

CHERYL ANNE LYTLE, Transylvania's first baby of 1958, is greeting her mother with a yawn shortly after her arrival on New Year's day at 3:55 p. m., here at the Transylvania Community hospital. Holding the baby is Miss Jean Emery, one of the attending nurses when Little Miss Lytle arrived. Dr. James Sanders was the attending physician, and Miss Lytle weighed in at eight pounds, two ounces. Mr. Lytle is connected with the Du Pont construction forces at the new silicon plant and they live at Sapphire Manor. In the center above is Mrs. Katherine Bunch, one of the afternoon nurses at the hospital. The new baby and her parents were awarded many fine prizes by local merchants on New Year's baby derby conducted by The Transylvania Times and WPNF. (Times Staff Photo)

OPEN HOUSE IN AFTERNOON, TO BEGIN A SERIES

Celebration Events Will Be Held Nightly Through Friday. Pastors Return

BACKGROUND GIVEN

Citizens of the community are being invited by the congregation of the Brevard Methodist church to join with them in the celebration of the formal opening of the beautiful new church on Sunday and at services each evening next week.

An open house is being planned from 2:00 until 5:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, and the public is asked to first go into the chapel on the south side. From there guided tours, led by members of the building committee, will be conducted.

According to the pastor, Rev. Douglas Corriher, a formal opening service is planned at the 11:00 o'clock hour on Sunday morning. Rev. J. W. Fitzgerald, district superintendent of the Asheville district, and Rev. Emmett K. McLarty, president of Brevard college, will join with Mr. Corriher in conducting the service, which will be broadcast over WPNF.

Special music will be rendered by the college choir, under the direction of Prof. Nelson Adams, with Mrs. Louise P. Miller at the organ.

The congregation of the church first used the new edifice this past Sunday, and an overflowing audience filled the sanctuary, which will seat some 550 persons downstairs and in the balcony.

The service was conducted by the pastor, assisted by Rev. Robert H. Stacey, vice president of Brevard college. Both speakers praised the outstanding work that has been done and sacrifices made by so many members in building the new church.

A series of celebration services gets underway Sunday evening, continuing through next Friday. They will begin each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Former pastors of the church or their sons or grandsons. —Turn To Page Five

Editor Of Du Pont's "Better Living" Working On Picture-Story In Brevard

Leavitt S. White, editor of "Better Living", the employee magazine of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Company, Wilmington, Delaware, told of experiences involved in doing a picture-story for his publication at the last regular meeting of the Brevard Rotary club.

Accompanied by staff photographer, Jack Alexander, Mr. White is in Brevard this week working on a layout, "New Faces" in the community, which will appear in a later edition of "Better Living". The "New Faces" will be various Du Pont personnel, who are con-

Governor Hodges, asked about it yesterday, indicated McMahan may not remain much longer on the Capitol scene.

"He has indicated he is interested in other work," the Governor said.

It came as a surprise to a lot of folks when Hodges reappointed McMahan last spring. The reappointment failed to end speculation that McMahan, regarded as an ultra-conservative member of a conservative Utilities —Turn To Page Ten

Brevard To Have Parallel Parking In Business Area

When the weather permits the marking of the streets and the installation of new parking meters, parallel parking will be instituted in the business section of Brevard.

This action was taken by the board following the recommendations of the traffic survey in the town by the state. Parallel parking in the business area will also tie in with the new four-lane highway coming into town.

Brevard Plant Of Du Pont Is In N. Y. Times

"Du Pont builds today — to meet the needs of tomorrow" is a caption across an ad appearing in Monday's New York Times in which a picture of the Brevard Du Pont plant is included.

The caption states: "New Du Pont plant at Brevard, N. C., will soon produce hyperpure silicon on commercial scale. This material will be used by other manufacturers in making transistors, diodes and power rectifiers. Du Pont developed the first commercial process for production of hyperpure silicon, but does not make electronic devices — a typical instance of Du Pont teamwork with other —Turn to Page Ten

Two New Appointments Made At Brevard College By President

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD DINNER, 20TH

King Says Transylvania Is To Be Well Represented. Tickets Available

A United Republican funds raising dinner will be held in Winston-Salem on January 20th, and according to Eugene King, Sr., chairman of the executive committee in Transylvania, the event will be linked by closed-circuit TV and participants will be able to view other similar dinners throughout the United States.

President Eisenhower will speak from Chicago, and Vice President Nixon will be heard from New York City.

Republican Senator Earl E. Mundt, of South Dakota, will be the speaker at the Winston-Salem dinner. He is presently serving on the senate labor-rackets committee, and Mr. King says he is an excellent speaker.

Since the dinner will be the forerunner of the '58 Republican campaign, Transylvania county is expected to be well represented, the local chairman states.

Tickets may be secured from him —Turn To Page Ten
