"WITNESS TREE" MARKER WILL BE UNVEILED SUNDAY

Local Chapter Of DAR In Charge Of Event. History Is Cited

Members of the Waightstill Avery Chapter of the DAR will unveil a marker at the "Witness Tree", a 200-year old landmark in Transylvania county on the Boylston highway in a public ceremony Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

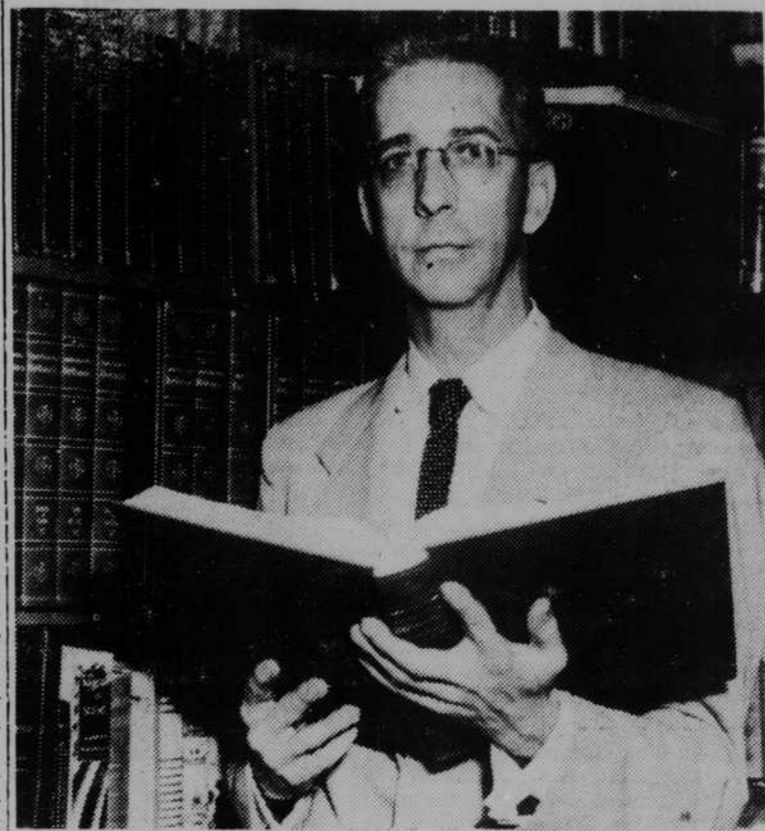

This large white oak, which is still thriving, is located some three miles from Brevard, just beyond the entrance of the Pisgah National forest and was known for many years as the beginning marker of the James Hughey land grant.

Actually, the historic tree is located in the front yard of the B. C. Shook residence.

Mrs. T. Coleman Galloway, regent of the Waightstill Avery chapter, will preside over the ceremony Sunday afternoon, and she will also welcome special guests and will be in charge of the dedication.

Mrs. Mary Jane McCrary, chairman of the Transylvania Historical commission, will tell the story of the "Witness Tree" on the program.

Special guests on the program will include Mrs. Roy H. Cagle, na—Turn to Page Twelve

JAMES C. RICKARDS, above, this month became the second Brevard man to win a set of Encyclopedia Britannica on the TV show, "The Last Word". Some months ago, Town Attorney Thomas R. Eller received a set since a suggestion he sent in was used by the panel. During this past month, Mr. Rickards' suggested topic of journalistic terminologies in current use concerning the propulsion mechanism of the atomic powered submarine "Nautilus" was used. The new set is noted above just beneath his old set, and they are valued at more than $300. ### THE MAYOR, BOARD CHAIRMAN, OTHERS MAKE STATEMENTS

Annual College Edition Published. Successful Year Anticipated

WIDE CIRCULATION

Brevard and Transylvania officials join hands with the merchants and others in the community in welcoming this week the large selected student body, faculty and staff members to Brevard college for the 1958-'59 term.

All indications point to one of the most successful years in the history of the school, which this fall begins its 105th year of educational and religious service to the youth of the state and nation.

Special Edition

This week The Times is publishing its annual Brevard college greetings edition, and all subscribers are urged to read the entire paper with interest. This paper is going not only to regular subscribers, but also to students, parents, trustees of the college and a large number of out-of-town friends of the institution.

Mayor B. H. Freeman said yesterday that it is always a real pleasure to welcome the students and faculty members to town. He praised the officials of the college on the progress that is being made at the institution.

On behalf of the county board of commissioners, Freeman Hayes, chairman, sent cordial greetings to the college student body and the faculty and staff members.

Cecil J. Hill, president of the chamber of commerce, welcomes all persons to Brevard college for the 1958-'59 term.

T. C. GALLOWAY, 71, PASSES, RITES SET

Former Brevard Postmaster Died Tuesday. Was An Attorney, Politician

Last rites for T. Coleman Galloway, 71, former postmaster and well-known Brevard attorney and political figure, will be held at 11:00 o'clock Thursday morning at the First Baptist church.

Rev. B. W. Thomason will officiate, and he will be assisted by Rev. Harold Killian.

Burial will follow in the Gillespie - Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Galloway died Tuesday afternoon at his home here, following an illness which had kept him confined for the past two months.

Mr. Galloway served as postmaster of Brevard from July 1, 1933 to January 1st, 1956. Prior to that time, he was engaged in the general practice of law from 1916, and following his retirement from the post office, he again opened his law office.

Local CTA Unit Well Represented At District Meet

Mrs. Fannye B. Harris, a member of the Classroom Teachers executive board in Transylvania county, reports that the local unit of the CTA had the largest representation of any unit in the western district at the annual luncheon, which was held at the Biltmore high school on Tuesday.

Miss Taimi Lahti, from the National Department of Classroom Teachers, was the principal speaker.

She brought an inspirational message on the new importance attached to the role of classroom teachers.

Henry Smith, the Transylvania president, was pleased with the spirit of loyalty and cooperation displayed by the Transylvania group at the meeting.

Four Lane Highway Into Brevard Being Blacktopped, Improvements Are Noted

Morningside Drive And Outland Avenue Will Be Surfaced Next Week

The work of blacktopping the new four-lane highway from the Brevard city limits to the court house is now underway.

According to highway maintenance forces in the county, the right side of the highway leading into Brevard will be blacktopped on Thursday.

Weather permitting, the other side will be surfaced this week end or on Monday and Tuesday.

The distance of this new four-lane stretch, which runs from radio station WPNF to the Brevard court house is approximately three-quarters of a mile. At the city limits it joins with the new four-laner that runs to the entrance of Pisgah National forest.

It is also announced this week that Morningside drive and Outland avenue will be blacktopped next week.

This important stretch of city streets runs for a distance of six-tenths of a mile from Park avenue back around to Neely road.

State maintenance forces are also improving the Country Club road, especially the shoulders and ditches.

Plea For Clothes, Shoes Made By P-TA

The P-TA of the Brevard elementary school has begun its annual campaign to secure warm clothing and shoes for indigent children in the local schools.

Mrs. T. R. Mitchell is in charge of collections, and she can be reached at Turner 3-4601.

Officials of the P-TA urge all persons to go through their closets, attics, etc., and give any clothing which is still good and that the children have outgrown.

They also request that the clothing and shoes be given now before cold weather.
