Baptists' 'Biblical Recorder' Will Be Printed Soon By Edwards & Broughton

BY KIDD BREWER

MOVING . . . The Baptists' Biblical Recorder, which now goes to more than 60,000 subscribers each week, is laying plans to change printers after 30 years with Bynum Printing Co. A new high-speed press will soon be installed at Edwards & Broughton Co., especially for the Baptist weekly. This firm, which has done most of the Wake Forest College printing since before the turn of the century, last printed the Recorder — at that time privately owned — about 1903.

IN SEVEN STATES . . . Barbara Massey was known by only a few people until about two weeks ago. She is the Greensboro girl charged with asking a Charlotte detective to murder Mrs. Frances Smith.

Just for curiosity, we checked with the Carolina Clipping Service here to see how the papers were handling this bit of news. They read the newspapers from seven southeastern states. We found that each big daily in the South — almost without exception ran on its front page the AP Wire-photo picture of Miss Massey. The photo was usually three columns wide — about six inches — and six inches high, or deep. The weekly, or non-daily, press treated the news more quietly. They don't do as much shouting as the big boys. In any event, Miss Massey is now known to millions.

We understand that interesting sidelights and overtones to this case are developing . . .

LEADING . . . Speaking of newspapers, the Raleigh Times — afternoon daily here — during the month of October ran more advertising than any other afternoon paper in North Carolina.

STRIP CITIES . . . The United States 25 years from now will be a nation of "strip cities". Don't be misled. This has nothing to do with clothes, B. Bardot, or shows. We refer here only to population. We quote economists.

The economic report we saw establishes about 10 great strip cities in this country . . . and one of them will begin here in North Carolina. Ours will start with Durham, will include all communities between Durham and Winston-Salem — east to Asheboro, east further south to Wadesboro — and west to Shelby. The strip city will be about 80 miles wide and go from Durham County to Atlanta.

If you live in Piedmont North Carolina within 25 miles of a large city, you are going to be in a "strip city" before you know it — and in fact may already be in one. See last week's issue of U. S. News and World Report . . . for further information on this economic study.

NEW CANDIDATE? . . . Down in Greenville, N. C., they have Miss North Carolina, Robert L. Humber, and Eastern Carolina College.

While there last week we heard several citizens say they were going to set up a campaign for J. D. Messick for Governor. Messick is head of East Carolina, now regarded as one of the fastest-growing colleges in the whole country. Greenville wants a Governor.

When State Magazine ran a survey a few weeks ago to find the ten most interesting Tarheels, one of these chosen was J. D. Messick.

BONNER OPPONENTS . . . Herbert C. Bonner, who has represented the First Congressional District in Washington since 1940, seems to be attracting opposition. It may be his age (67) or merely his long tenure in Washington. He first went there as assistant to Lindsay Warren, who resigned from the post to become Comptroller General.

Although the First is the smallest population-wise (247,894), it has 14 counties. Each of them now seems to have a candidate interested in opposing Bonner two years from now.

NOTES . . . Clyde Erwin, son of the late State Superintendent of Public Instruction (died in July of 1952), is the newest addition to the staff of the N. C. Education Association. State College-trained, Clyde, Jr., was an agriculture teacher before joining NCEA . . .

The word we get from Washington, D. C., is that you can kiss goodbye any ideas about a Federal sales tax . . . it was getting a toehold . . . now that labor has moved more solidly into Congress . . .

Although there has been joyous yelling in some quarters that the Pearsall Plan is safe now that Alabama's similar plan has been approved by Federal courts . . . Ralph Moody, Asst. Attorney General . . . and who knows . . . believes that the Durham segregation case now pending . . . is the one to watch. If it fails . . . keep an eye on it . . . you can kiss your Pearsall Plan goodbye . . . and then we will be in for real trouble . . .

The University of N. C. Press will publish next spring Rep. Brooks Hays' book, "A Southern Moderate Speaks". Yes, he spoke and it cost him his seat in Congress . . .

We feel terrible the next day, but frequently stay up to get the Jack Parr show which comes on television at 11:15. He gets some stem-winders on as guests sometimes. And, since it is so late, they really let loose — flirting with libel and slander right and left. The other night, Parr had an Oscar Levant, who in one of his remarks said: "I'm just like Eisenhower. Once I make up my mind, I'm full of indecision."
