After they were married on December 24th, 1908, they rode by buggy from the bride's parents home at Rosman to their home above at Calvert, where they have lived for the past half century. This is the same house in which Mr. Galloway

License Tags To Go On Sale Here Friday Morning

Procedures for obtaining new 1959 auto license plates were outlined here today.

Mrs. Harold Norwood, manager of the plate-issuing Carolina Motor Club at L. & H. Appliance company, said that most motorists will not have to present their FS-1 (liability insurance) forms in order to get new plates.

The majority of applicants merely will be required to sign an insurance declaration on the back of their 1959 license renewal cards.

However, those who will be changing cars, transferring ownership, or registering a car in North Carolina for the first time will be required to furnish proof in the form of FS-1 papers in order to obtain new plates, Mrs. Norwood said.

"Licenses will be issued only on the 1959 license renewal cards from Raleigh, and not on 1958 cards or title of ownership," she said.

Mrs. Norwood urged motorists who have not received renewal cards to write to the Department of Motor Vehicles in Raleigh as the cards are sent out under fourth class mail permits and are not forwarded by the Post Office Department.

The new plates go on sale Friday.

Top Stories In Transylvania In '58

The top stories in Transylvania during 1958 concerned new industry and expansion of existing industries.

The new Du Pont plant at Cedar Mountain was completed and formally opened during the year with Governor Luther Hodges as the principal speaker. The plant is the nation's first full-scale silicon plant.

The seven - million dollar expansion program at Olin Mathieson Chemical corporation at Pisgah Forest was completed, and the new No. 10 paper machine was put into operation.

Expansion of education facilities in the county were also stories in the Top 10. Construction of the modern, campus-type high school layout was started on the Brevard Country club road, and the Methodists raised $850,000 for new buildings on the campus of Brevard college.

Deaths of prominent citizens were in the Top 10.

Among those were Ed M. Anderson, publisher of The Times; Joseph S. Silversteen, pioneer industrialist of Transylvania; J. B. Jones, former superintendent of education; S. E. Varner, Sr.; T. Coleman Galloway; Miles Wallace Galloway; and, others.

Sports items were also "in the news" during the year as Brevard's Cecil Lowery starred in the Shrine Bowl classic, and the local football team was one of the highest scoring clubs in the state.

Also, during '58, the modern health center was completed; operations were started at the new fish hatchery in Pisgah National forest; much road work was completed; and, bids were let for new stretches of the Parkway in Transylvania.

And the most unbelievable story was the recording of the coldest day in North Carolina here in Brevard when the mercury dipped to 22 below zero last February.
