Construction Began Wednesday On Road From New High School To Greenville Highway, US 276

As the new Brevard high school is being rapidly completed, work was started Wednesday morning on an access highway to connect the Brevard Country club road and the Greenville highway via the new school layout.

The road has been approved by the State Highway commission, and the work is being done by local highway maintenance forces.

The road is approximately one mile in length, and it will be 20 feet wide. When it has sufficiently settled, it will be paved. Known as the Brevard high schoolhouse road, it will eliminate all traffic from lower Transylvania from going through the middle of Brevard.

Final details for the road were worked out this week by the commissioners, the board of education and highway officials.
