LITTLE THEATRE STARTS SALE OF NEW MEMBERSHIPS

Door-to-Door Canvass Is Planned, Hanna Is The Chairman

The Brevard Little theater will hold its 1959-60 season ticket sale drive on Wednesday and Thursday, September 23rd and 24th, T. F. Hanna, ticket chairman, announces. Members of the group will conduct a door-to-door canvass to sell the season memberships.

A season ticket enables the purchaser to see three Little Theater productions plus one play at the Flat Rock Playhouse next summer. Adult memberships are $2.50, and student memberships are $1.25. Individual tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

Sponsorships are also available for $10. The purchaser receives two season tickets with the Flat Rock punches.

For $25 or more, a person will become a patron, and will receive two season tickets with the Flat Rock punches.

Sponsors, patrons and season ticket buyers automatically become members of the Little Theater and are eligible to participate in the production of the plays and in membership picnics and parties.

Plans Being Made For October Drive Of United Fund, Need Is Said Greater

Campaign Director And The President Make Pleas For Support

Preliminary planning is well underway in connection with the October Transylvania United Fund campaign, according to John Ford, campaign chairman.

Division chairmen are being appointed as well as fund solicitors. "It is gratifying to note that many solicitors from last year's campaign have again volunteered to work this campaign," said Mr. Ford. He continued by saying:

"We are most fortunate in having a United Fund organization here in Transylvania county. If we did not give the United Way we would be solicited every couple of weeks throughout the year as there are dozens of agencies who would send in salesmen to solicit our dollars. Your money goes a lot further when you give to our local organization as our campaign expenses are so small.

Leslie Grogan, United Fund president for 1959-60, is most anxious to complete the campaign in the month of October and asks that all citizens be prepared to give their gifts and make their pledges as soon after the opening as possible. The date will be announced shortly.

A campaign headquarters will again be opened up in the business district making it convenient for the public.

"We must do our fair share and meet our obligations to worthwhile charities," Mr. Grogan said. "Our share will be more than last year as our population has increased and the needs have become greater, but I am confident that we

Largest Number Ever

Many Transylvania Youths Are Entering Colleges, Universities

More Transylvania county boys and girls are entering colleges and universities for the 1959-60 school term than ever before, according to a survey conducted this week by The Transylvania Times.

Brevard College is expected to draw a larger group than any other one institution; however, the exact number will not be known until registration is completed this week. The Times staff points out that some names may have been omitted because it is impossible to find out all of the young people and the colleges of their choice. Parents are invited to inform The Times of any who were overlooked, and their names will also be published.

The colleges and names of the boys and girls from here who will enroll, or have already enrolled, is as follows:

Agnes Scott—Florence Ann Gaines.
A. S. T. C.—Freda Gillespie.
Berea College—Martha Gail McCall, Barbara Severs, Beverly Taylor, and Billy Batson.
Blue Mountain College—Lana

Brevard College Opens With Total Of 407 Students, Classes Begin Today

ADULT COURSES IN THE SCHOOLS ARE CONSIDERED

Several Will Be Offered If Demand Is Sufficient. Miller In Charge

Transylvania county schools are interested in conducting an adult education program provided there is enough demand for one.

At the present time the following courses are being considered:

- (1) required high school courses which could lead to a diploma from high school, including English, history, math, and science
- (2) typing
- (3) shorthand
- (4) bookkeeping
- (5) drafting (mechanical drawing)
- (6) radio maintenance
- (7) welding
- (8) operation of heavy equipment

If some interest is shown a course will be offered in learning how to read, County Supervisor of instruction, N. A. Miller, Jr., says. All of the aforementioned courses will be offered to adults only.

The heavy equipment course would be on Saturday morning for three hours, while the remaining courses would be at night from 7:00 until 10:00 p.m., or they could be offered two nights a week for one

Patrolman Capell Is Stationed Here

Patrolman Charles F. Capell has been transferred to Transylvania from Gaston county, and he has already assumed his post here.

Patrolman Capell trained in Transylvania with Patrolman Horace Morrow, after he completed patrol school at the University of North Carolina in September, 1947. Capell and Patrolman Bill Sawyer graduated in school together, and now the two men are serving here in Brevard and Transylvania county.

A native of Buncombe county, Patrolman Capell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Capell, of Pisgah Forest.

He and his wife and son will reside on Laurel Lane.

Patrolman Capell succeeds Cpl. Jack Cobe, who was recently promoted and transferred to Fayetteville.

Dr. Ashby Johnson Is The Author Of New Book

By DOROTHY WALLACE

John Knox Press, publishers, of Richmond, Virginia, announces the publication of a new book, Communion With Young Saints, by E. Ashby Johnson.

Dr. Johnson's first pastorate was at the Brevard-Davidson River Presbyterian church, from 1942 to 46.

Dr. Johnson is director of instruction at Austin College in Texas. A friend says, "One evening with Ashby Johnson is worth more than three good books, because he has the rare ability to stimulate people to think."

In the book a preacher finds that his two sons want straight answers to such questions as "How can you tell whether this is a male or female fish?" ... "How does it feel to get drunk?" ... "If you won't go to a baseball game on Sunday, why do you watch it on TV?"

In finding the answers, they solve some of the riddles in growing up.

Anyone who asks, or tries to answer, youthful questions will find this book a friend. Both parents and their children will learn from and enjoy over-hearing these conversations.

The book is now available at bookstores.

MRS. MARY JANE McCRARY is shown above presenting the first edition of her book, The Goodly Heritage, to Rev. Frederick F. Valentine, rector of St. Phillips Episcopal church. The Goodly Heritage traces the history from St. Pauls, the first place of Episcopal worship in Transylvania county, to the present day. (Times Staff Photo)

Mrs. Mary Jane McCrary Is The Author Of "The Goodly Heritage"

"The Goodly Heritage," which is a history of St. Phillips Episcopal church of Brevard, and of St. Pauls in the Valley in the Diocese of Western North Carolina, is just off the press, and the book and its author, Mrs. Mary Jane McCrary, are being lauded by all who have seen and read it.

The history contains 70 pages of text and includes biographical sketches of the rectors, lists of the memorials, officers and organizations of the church, and a historical sketch of Faith Memorial Chapel in Cedar Mountain.

Mrs. McCrary, who is chairman of the Transylvania county Historical Commission, is well-known for her interest and work in the preservation of historical data.

Her book is dedicated "To the people of St. Phillips Parish," and it is on sale at the Parish book store.

Earle Hitch, well-known author, has written the introduction to the book. "She has labored diligently," he states, "to present the complete story."

"Encountering many gaps in the records, she managed to bridge them by consulting letters, family histories, and the reminiscences of individuals who had, in one way or another, been on the scene."

The author has been most successful in recapturing some of the early scenes, such as the services

ALL DORMITORY SPACE FILLED, McLARTY HEARD

Formal Convocation For All Is Scheduled For This Thursday Evening

RECEPTION SAT'DAY

Brevard College has opened the fall semester with an enrollment of 407 students, which is a record for recent years.

All available space in the dormitories has been taken by a capacity freshman class of 264 and 143 returning students.

Freshmen were welcomed Sunday evening by President Emmett K. McLarty.

In his remarks President McLarty stressed the importance of the new beginning each member of the class of 1961 is experiencing, and the place attitudes, motives and determination play in the college career of each student, spelling for him the difference between failure and success.

Classes start Thursday morning, followed by a formal convocation of all students and members of the faculty at 7:30 p.m.

Dean John B. Bennett will make introductions and President McLarty will deliver the address.

On Saturday, a reception, sponsored by a committee of local alumni, will be held in the Faculty lounge of the Sims Campus Center building.

Mrs. Gil Coan is chairman of this committee, assisted by Mrs. Tom E. Ramsey, Mrs. Charles Paxton, Mrs. Henry Reddick and Mrs. Lloyd Burhans.

FIREMEN WILL ATTEND SCHOOL

Western Association Will Hold Five-Day Event At Local Training Center

A training school for firemen in Western North Carolina will be held for five consecutive nights next week at the Brevard fire department training center on the Camp Illahee road, Fire Chief Dan Merrill announces today.

The first school will be held on Monday night, beginning at 7:00 o'clock and lasting until 10:00 p.m.

Instructors are being furnished by the Western Firemen's association, and Mack Salley, general manager of the American Enka corporation, will be in charge.

From 150 to 200 firemen are expected to take the course at the local training center, and representatives from all 38 members in the associations will be in attendance.

The Western association is made up of towns and cities from Rutherfordton to Marion, west to Murphy.

The latest methods of fire fighting will be offered at the new training center of the local volunteer fire department.

Goodwins Move To Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Goodwin and their family this week moved to Atlanta, Georgia, where Dr. Goodwin is now associated with the Buck Head Dental clinic.

Dr. Goodwin has practiced dentistry here in Brevard for the past 22 years, and he said that it was with much regret that they leave Brevard.

This weekend he is attending the annual convention of the American Dental association in New York City.

Their daughter, Judy, left Brevard on Monday for Raleigh, where she is a sophomore at St. Mary's college. Their son, Jack, has entered Georgia Military academy.

In the Buck Head clinic, Dr. Goodwin will be associated with Dr. J. Hugh Crossett, Dr. Clyde Gibson and Dr. C. D. Campbell.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Goodwin have been active in civic and church affairs in the community.
