Kill Hampered By Rain & Fog, Shorter Hours

Deer and bear hunters in Transylvania and throughout Western North Carolina are expecting to have "better luck" since the cold wave moved into the area on Tuesday night.

A number of things cut down the kill on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

Primarily, the rain, the fog and the warmer temperature were not conducive to deer hunting, and on orders from the North Carolina Wildlife Resources commission, hunting hours were shortened.

The hunts opened officially at noon on Monday, and on Tuesday starting hour was at 10 a.m., here in the Pisgah National forest.

The shortened hours also reduced the number of hunters.

According to Ranger Ted Seely, 154 hunters checked in here on the Davidson on Monday and got 10 deer. Tuesday, 158 hunters bagged the same number, before 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, more than 300 permits had been issued.

The organized hunts will continue this week and next, ending on November 28th.

Daily permits for deer hunting are $3.50, and permits for bear hunting may be secured for an additional $1.50.

Local hunters killing a deer on Monday and the size of the animal were: Melvin Hamilton, Penrose, four-pointer; Jack McCoy, Brevard, eight-pointer; and James Morgan, Pisgah Forest, six-pointer. Tuesday—Troy Danner, Pisgah Forest, spike buck; Ruben Whitt, Brevard, five-pointer; Otis Baynard, Brevard, eight-pointer; Harold Saltz, spike buck. Wednesday—Johnson Morgan, and Bob Warren, both of Pisgah Forest, spike bucks.

$25,000 Raised To Date In United Fund Drive, Olin Mathieson Praised

United Fund officials in Transylvania are doubling their efforts to raise the goal of $28,500, President Leslie Grogan announces today.

Donations and pledges at the present time total $25,029.00, and it is hoped that last-minute contributions will carry the drive over the top locally.

Olin Mathieson Chemical corporation at Pisgah Forest and the employees there have contributed $14,365.00, and UF officials are most appreciative for this outstanding contribution.

This is said to be an extremely high amount for the Transylvania UF, since a number of employees live in other counties and give there.

James M. Wulpi, the executive director, urges all solicitors in the uptown area to complete their solicitations right away so the campaign can be concluded within the coming week.

Outstanding gifts received this past week here in Transylvania county were from the following: McCrary auto, Hayes Buick, J. A. Ford, Jr., Robt. T. Gash, Lewis P. Hamlin, R. H. Ramsey, Jr., Dr. C. L. Grahl, Carl Stephens, R. F. Colwell, Crest stores, Owensby Bros. Amoco, Kearns Grocery, Parsons Jewelry, Duke Power employees, Mrs. V. C. Hill and others.
