Many Floats & Other Entries Are Entered

Everything is in readiness for the gigantic Christmas parade in Brevard Thursday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

The parade, which is being described as the biggest and best that Brevard has ever had, will begin forming at the Brevard-Davidson River church on East Main street at 2:30 o'clock.

Many professional floats have been entered, along with the Brevard and Hendersonville bands, beauty queens and other entries too numerous to mention.

Santa Claus will come to town atop the biggest float in the group, and he will have candy for all his little friends.

Many of the stores in Brevard will stay open Thursday evening for the convenience of the shoppers who have come to town to see the big parade.

Santa will make his headquarters at the chamber of commerce office in the new library building, and on Friday and Saturday of this week, he will be glad to greet his friends there from 4:00 until 5:00 o'clock. During that time, Mrs. Lehman Kapp, librarian, will read a Christmas story to all children visiting there, and Santa will talk with them afterwards. Santa will return to the library for visits on the following Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 10, 11 and 12, and 17, 18 and 19.

The route of travel of the parade on Thursday will be as follows: Up East Main street and across the square to the bank; left on Caldwell to Oakdale; left again on Oakdale to South Broad; then, up Broad and across the square to the Brevard college campus where it will disband.

Many From Transylvania To Attend WNC Awards Luncheon This Saturday

A delegation of some 50 persons from Transylvania county is expected to attend the Awards luncheon in Asheville Saturday, when the winning rural areas in the 1959 Western North Carolina Rural Development program will be announced.

The Pisgah Forest community is representing Transylvania in the final judging, and County Agent Jim Davis predicts that this organized Rural Development club will make a good showing in the WNC competition.

During the past five years, Transylvania county has been in the "top three" winning communities. Last year the Balsam Grove copped third place.

Previously, Cedar Mountain was runner-up in the WNC contest, and in 1956 that community was tops. Prior to that year, Little River was a first place winner, and Dunn's Rock was a runner-up.

At this Saturday's meeting, the principal speaker will be Brooks Hays, director of the Tennessee Valley authority, former congressman from Little Rock, Arkansas and immediate past president of the Southern Baptist convention.

Presiding at the awards luncheon will be Leroy H. Feagin, president of the Asheville Agricultural Development Council of the Asheville Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the area development program in cooperation with the agricultural agencies. The luncheon is sponsored by the Agricultural Council.

Cash awards of $2,000 will be

Cases Discovered

Report Made On Sale Of TB Seals, Group Is Busy

Miss Marie J. Strasser, treasurer of the Transylvania county tuberculosis committee, today reported that the receipts from the current Christmas seal total $402 through November 23. In last year's drive, $423 had been received by November 24th and total receipts through December first amounted to $633.

Miss Jeanette Austin, chairman of the local organization, reported that two active cases of tuberculosis have been found within the past two weeks. "This is a rather high percentage," Miss Austin stated, "when you consider that only 33 people were X-rayed in this special clinic which was held for people who are receiving county assistance. This group included many elderly and disabled persons."

The Health Department and the TB committee chose this particular group because of the fact that over half of the new cases of TB occur in the age group that begins at 44, and because of the economic status.

One of the newly found cases is an eighty-four year old woman who entered the sanatorium at Black Mountain last week, and the other is a housewife in her early thirties with five children, whose ages range from 6 to 14 years, Miss Austin revealed.

In both of these cases, arrangements for sanatorium admission were made by the Health Department.

the affray with his girl friend, testify, ruled that Officer Owen shot Glaze in self defense and in line of duty.

Testimony at the hearing revealed that Officers Owen and Fisher were called to the community center about 1:00 a.m. As they attempted to break up the fight between Whitmire and his girl friend and to put them in the car, rocks were thrown at them and shots were fired from the mob.
