Henry Goes To Florida

Tom Henry resigned this week as Town Manager of Brevard.

He has accepted a similar position with the city of Melbourne, Florida.

In his new position, he will have 180 employees under his supervision, and his starting salary will be $9500 with a raise after six months.

J. J. Spitznogle, mayor and acting manager of Melbourne, stated here yesterday that Mr. Henry was chosen for the job out of 44 applicants.

He further stated that John Turner and Wally Fordyce, members of the Melbourne Board of Aldermen, own property here in Brevard, and that Rudi Oudshoof, also an alderman, owns property in Highlands.

During their visits here in the past two summers, they have seen remarkable progress made in the Town of Brevard.

Melbourne has a population of 13,000, with Cape Canaveral on the outskirts. It has a 2500 acre airport, and according to Mayor Spitznogle, is the fastest growing town in America.

Mayor Spitznogle stated that the Town of Melbourne is most fortunate in securing a man of Mr. Henry's ability and experience.

Mr. Henry's present contract expires May 15th; however, he has accumulated several weeks of vacation and can leave the active management of the Town earlier than that date.

If the new board desires his services, he will remain as Town Manager until the middle of next month.

In this letter of resignation, he concluded:

"I want to thank the good people of this community who have cooperated with the Board of Aldermen and with me. I shall remember them always."

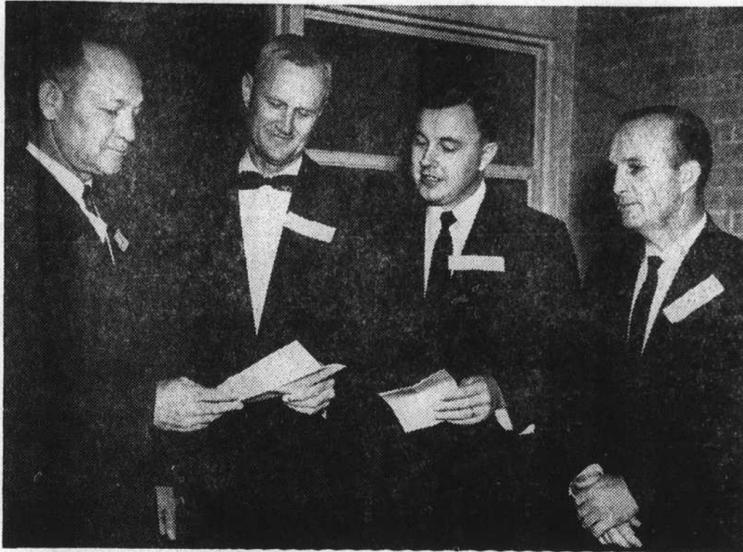

Second Drive-In Window At Bank To Open Friday

The new drive-in window number two will open here Friday morning at the First Union National Bank, Vice-president Ralph J. Duckworth announces.

It will be open each Friday, Saturday and Monday during the regular banking hours, Mr. Duckworth states.

As business justifies, it will be open on other days.

Registration Of Brevard Voters Heavy, Large Vote Is Expected

With an extraordinarily heavy re-registration of voters in the town of Brevard, a large vote is expected in the General Election next Tuesday.

Actually, more than 2,100 persons were registered at the two precincts during the past three Saturdays.

Four years ago some 1,317 votes were cast in the Mayor's race, in which B. H. Freeman emerged victorious over two other candidates.

From the total registration this year, it would appear that over 2,000 votes will be cast next Tuesday.

However, town officials are expecting many challenges on Saturday.

They advise that it would appear that there are many persons on the new books who do not meet the requirements of law. They further point out that a mis-registration in voting is punishable under the state law by imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Town officials also point out that it appears that many new taxpayers will be added to the books, since some persons registering have not paid poll taxes previously and will be subject to a penalty for non-listing.

In addition, the town revenue from poll taxes should be increased for years to come, and also, several new automobiles are expected to be discovered and added to the tax lists.

The complete registration of voters here has been a controversial subject. Shortly after it was started, Jess Galloway petitioned the courts to have it restrained on the grounds that the McMillan looseleaf registration system was illegal. However, Judge Francis O. Clarkson denied the petition and declared the system as legal.

An appeal was filed last Saturday morning at 11:45 o'clock to the Supreme Court and the town's counter case will be filed on Thursday.

The Times Thanked For Part Played In Progress

Brevard, N. C.
April 26, 1961
Mr. John I. Anderson
Editor, Transylvania Times
Brevard, N. C.

Dear Mr. Anderson:

I want to thank the Transylvania Times for everything that it has done toward making our town more progressive during the time that I have been a citizen of our town. You have taken a stand on vital issues and have worked for the improvement of the general conditions of our town.

Of course, you have had the backing of the good citizens in this community. This is what makes a town grow. I have considered it a pleasure to work with these people during my stay here and I shall miss them when I go away.

I want the people of this town to know how fortunate they are in having such a splendid newspaper which states the facts and is fearless when the good of the community is at stake. The newspaper is the vanguard of the public conscience and you have certainly exercised your position as Editor to effect this end.

I hope all of you will visit with me as you pass through Melbourne, Florida. It will always be a pleasure to see my old friends.

Sincerely yours,
Tom Henry

Belk's Annual Founder's Day Sale Underway

Belk's annual Founders Day sale is currently underway, Jim Smith, manager of the Brevard department store, announces today.

Mr. Smith says that the late W. H. Belk, founder of Belk's, was truly a pioneer in establishing present-day merchandising methods in the South. Just 70 years ago he put into practice policies which today are widely accepted and praised, but which at the time were considered radical and rash.

When he became a small town merchandise man in Monroe, at the age of 26, he insisted on two qualities as the fundamental basis of his store operation. They were absolute integrity and honesty — and hard work. On this foundation of honesty and hard work, he built a way of doing business:

- (1) buy for cash in large quantity
- (2) sell for cash at a low mark-up
- (2) sell at one established price for all customers — no bargaining
- (4) strict honesty and fair dealing with customers and associates
- (5) money refunded to customers on goods promptly returned
