Transylvanians To Participate In Parade For "Miss America"

Brevard and Transylvania county will be well represented at the gigantic "welcome home" parade being staged in Asheville Saturday for Maria Beale Fletcher, Miss America of 1962.

The Brevard high school band, under the direction of John D. Eversman, will head a contingent from Brevard consisting of Shirley Hammill, reigning "Miss Brevard", Mayor B. W. Thomason and Brevard Jaycee president Chester Kilpatrick, who have all been invited to participate in the parade. In addition to these, three regular Brevard policemen and four members of the police auxiliary will be on hand to help direct traffic at the parade, which is expected to draw some 100,000 persons to Asheville. These men are being sent in answer to a plea from the Asheville police department for trained personnel to direct

Chief Bill Thurston stated that the Asheville police department was very cooperative in sending instructors to Brevard to help train the local officers, and that this would give Brevard an opportunity to help repay this kindness.

PATROLMAN BILL SAWYER is shown adjusting the seat belt in his patrol car. He and other patrol personnel believe in the seat belt which wards off serious injury and even death in accidents, and they urge Transylvanians to have them installed and use them whenever they drive.

County Agent Jim Davis will preside over the program, and the invocation will be by Rev. Dan Wallen.

For" Vote Is Said A Vote For A Better State

Transylvania voters will join with others across North Carolina next Tuesday in voting in the statewide special bond

Governor Terry Sanford has called this an election "for progress" in North Carolina, and he urges all qualified voters to go to the polls and cast

Many groups and individuals have been working for the successful passage of the election in Brevard and Transylvania county, and there has been no rganized opposition.

The polls will open at 6:30 m., and will remain open until

The election was called by the 1961 General Assembly and it authorizes the issuance of $61,665,000 of bonds of the state to provide for capital improvements for state institutions and agencies.

The registration books were pened in the county on October 4th, and closed on the 28th. It was not a new registration but the books were open for new voters and persons who had moved rom one precinct to another.

In a feature story elsewhere on this page The Times explains how this election will not raise taxes. Editorially, this newspaper has endorsed the election and urges all qualified voters in the town county to vote.
