

On The Political Front

In a closed session last Saturday afternoon, the Democratic Executive committee recommended George Perkins, Brevard business man; Ralph Lyday, Brevard accountant; and George Shuford for appointment to the Transylvania county Board of Elections.

When this was done, Mr. Russell adjourned his phase of the meeting, but another was called by vice chairman, Mrs. Sue Wilson, and other items of business were transacted by the 32 persons remaining.

Some 38 persons voted on the election board appointees. Two groups were in the running. The winners were backed by the vice chairman, and the other group, T. J. Wilson, Mrs. Inez Whitmore and Rev. Ben F. Ormand, were sponsored by the chairman.

The vote was 21 to 17 in favor of the Perkins-Lyday-Shuford ticket.

In the final session of the afternoon, the committee recommended that Dewey Burton be named as acting postmaster and Charles Y. Patton, Jr., be appointed as postmaster at the Brevard post office.

Both of these offices have been the subject of long factional differences, and Patton was top man in recent examinations. The vote Saturday was 25 for Burton with others not voting, and Patton got 35 votes.

Girl Scouts Celebrate Thinking Day

Thinking Day, an internationally celebrated occasion in remembrance of the founders of the Girl Scouting program, was celebrated last Thursday at the Girl Scout Little House by members of Troop 162.

Parents, troop committee members and sponsors were invited guests.

The flag ceremony was presented by Nena Lyda, Nancy Pace, Ann Houck, Lynn Ashworth, Carol Coleman, and Ann Collins.

Thinking Day topics were discussed by the following: Judy Meece, "Highlights of Lord and Lady Baden Powell's Lives;" Janet Eastes, "World Association's Pin and Flag;" Deborah Barr, "Dimes for Daisy;" and Heridel Ryan, "Uses of the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund."

Troop members made their contributions to the World Friendship fund, placing coins taped to the petals of golden flowers in a wicker basket. The basket was displayed next to a lighted globe, and 13 candles were added as the Girl Scout laws were given. Assisting were Marchia Charles, Betty Jo Hammill, and Darlene Hogsd.

The highlight of the evening was a surprise presentation to the girls from their sponsors.

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING of the new Pisgah Forest Baptist church is shown above. Construction will begin in the immediate future on the sanctuary, with a seating capacity of 425. Rev. James Ballard is pastor of the church.

Work To Begin On First Unit Of New Pisgah Forest Church

Construction is expected to begin in the immediate future on the first of three units for the Pisgah Forest Baptist church.

This structure will contain a sanctuary with a seating capacity of 425 and 7,300 square feet of floor space. The basement of the building will be used by the younger age groups of the church.

The site for the structure is a 13½ acre woodland hilltop, not far from the present location of the church.

Distinguishing characteristics of the first unit will be the steeple which will rise 100 feet above the ground. Ribbons of stained glass beginning at the ground level on each side of the steeple and continuing to the beginning of the spire will illuminate the interior of the sanctuary walls above and around the baptistry.

Robert L. Daniels, architect, of Brevard, is the architect for the building.

Rev. James H. Ballard, pastor of the church, states that it has shown remarkable gains within the past three years. Spiritual growth and increased giving have resulted in growth in membership and attendance, he pointed out.

The site of the new structure was purchased in December, 1959, for $14,000. This indebtedness, which was to be paid over

Making Labor Survey

The Industrial committee of the Brevard Chamber of Commerce is making a labor survey in Brevard and Transylvania counties.

According to Leslie Grogan, the chairman, an industry is interested in locating in this area, providing that there are at least 40 experienced women available.

Types of experience needed are as follows: knitting machine operators, sewing machine operators and fixers, cutting machine operators, knitting machine fixers.

An application is being carried this week on page five, first section, and women with experience, as desired above, are asked to fill them in and mail or take them to the Brevard Chamber of Commerce, located in the library, adjacent to the court house.

The industrial committee has no guarantee in the world that the company will locate in Transylvania, but if there is experienced labor available, the county's chances will be enhanced.

"It's another good lead the committee is checking out as completely as possible," Freeman Hayes, president of the Chamber of Commerce, declares.

Patton Expected To Receive PO Postmastership

Charles Y. Patton, 37-year-old Brevard filling station operator is expected to be named postmaster here at Brevard in the near future.

The Transylvania Board of Education has published a colorful brochure which carries complete information on the County School system.

In the preface it is stated, "We have attempted, in this brochure, to give you a brief look at the school system in Transylvania county."

Such sub-heads are highlighted: accreditation, length of year, holidays, related organizations, the various schools, curriculum, recreation, etc.

The attractive brochure has seven pictures and is available on request by interested persons. According to Supt. Wayne Bradburn, several hundred have been distributed to the larger industries in the county which expect to employ new persons in the immediate future.

The Chamber of Commerce is also using them to answer inquiries, and others are being distributed to schools throughout the state.

Charles Bryson Is The Junior Champion

A Transylvania man is still the champ. For the third consecutive year, Hugh N. Lambert has been named state corn champion.

This announcement was made at N. C. State college in Raleigh, on Wednesday, February 21st, at a luncheon sponsored by the North Carolina Seedmen's association.

This marks the first time since the 100-Bushel Corn club was started in 1947, that a person has won the award three times.

Mr. Lambert's prize-winning yield was 162.06 bushels per acre, actual harvest, and he grew the yield with VPI 648.

He was awarded a plaque from the Seedmen's association and a $50.00 savings bond.

In addition to his state honors, Mr. Lambert, who is 81 years old and lives at route one, Brevard, has been the Transylvania county champion and the Western district champion for the past four years.

In the junior contest, Charles Bryson, with 153.89 bushels, was named one of three district winners and he also received a plaque and a $50.00 savings bond.
