

A 30-TON DRILLING MACHINE was too much for the platform at the Southern Railway depot here Tuesday morning. As it was being unloaded from a flatbed railway car, it crashed through the platform. Observers say it was miraculous that it didn't turn over and receive extensive damages. Railway and other crews worked for five hours getting it righted on solid ground. Today, the machine is being moved, under its own power, to the site of the new satellite tracking station in upper Transylvania. There it will be used for drilling foundations. It is said that there are only four of these custom-made drilling machines in America. This particular one was shipped to Brevard from Denver, Colorado. (Times Staff Photo)

Moltz Mansion To Serve As Club, Lake Toxaway Course

The Moltz Mansion, one of the show-places of North Carolina's mountain area, is being purchased to serve as the club house for the Lake Toxaway Country club.

R. D. Heinisch, secretary-treasurer of the club, said that 34 acres of landscaped grounds, five other buildings and the exquisite gardens were included in the purchase from Mrs. Carl Moltz.

Work has already started on the 18-hole golf course at Lake Toxaway and the course is being laid out so that the start and finish of both nine holes will be at the club house.

The club anticipates taking possession of the grounds in February and the mansion itself next May, and to have at least nine holes ready for play next summer. The entire course will be in use in 1964.

Membership in the Country club will be by invitation.

The Country club will have complete facilities. Guest rooms and suites will be available in the mansion and adjacent cottages will be suitable for family groups. Dining rooms will provide meals for residents and members.

In addition to golf, there will be tennis courts, horseback riding, swimming in the club's pool as well as in Lake Toxaway, pack trains and other outdoor recreational facilities. A trap shooting range is contemplated. Ice skating is proposed in the winter months. The golf season will be between April and November.

Locals In Babe Ruth Play-Offs

Brevard "All-Stars" and Asheville collided Wednesday night to determine the team to represent District I in the state Babe Ruth league play-offs next Monday night in Hickory.

Last Friday night Brevard defeated Black Mountain, and then Tuesday night the local "All-Stars" were on the short end of a close 3-1 ball game with Asheville.

The play-off is a double-elimination event.

Dickie Truesdail pitched Brevard to victory over Black Mountain. He gave up only four hits.

Tuesday night's game was described as one of the best ever witnessed in these parts. It took only one hour and 40 minutes to play.

"Miss Brevard" Had Thrilling Experiences At State Contest

By FREDDIE NORRIS

Tuesday, July 10th, marked the end of many weeks of preparation and the beginning of one of the busiest and most exciting weeks in the life of Shirley Hammill, Brevard's 1962 representative to the Miss North Carolina Beauty Pageant.

This writer had the delightful responsibility of chaperoning Shirley to Charlotte — and I do mean chaperone.

The first instruction we received on registering was that Shirley was never to answer the door, telephone, or speak to any male unless in the presence of the chaperone; and absolutely no male was to be allowed in the room, except the immediate family.

With Shirley's registration on Tuesday she became part of the largest pageant ever held — either local, state, national, or worldwide. North Carolina's reputation as the largest and best state pageant soon became evidenced by the number of notables attending. Among the judges were Brad H. Frapart, business manager of the Miss America Pageant and Mrs. Margaret (Peg) O'Neal, official chaperone of Miss America.

The pageant Mistress of Ceremonies was Marilyn Van DerBur, Miss America of 1958, and T. V. Mistress of Ceremonies Saturday night was Marian McKnight Carmody, Miss America of 1957. Of course, the favorite by far was Maria Fletcher, the current Miss America, who crowned Janice E. Barron of Morganton, Miss North Carolina for 1963.

We rushed from registration Tuesday to the Coliseum for orientation and from orientation back to our room to unpack and change for the night's activities. By happy mistake we were assigned an extra large room. It was so luxurious that we were sorry we could only spend about six hours out of 24 in it. (Sleep was something you just didn't get around to.)

Things really swung into high
