

Programs Varied At Center

A varied program is scheduled this weekend at the Transylvania Music camp.

Soprano Irene Jordan, one of the true stars of the Metropolitan Opera, will be featured on Friday and Saturday evenings. Also on Saturday evening, a memorial program will be presented.

Jan Peerce, probably America's greatest tenor, will be the soloist Sunday afternoon.

A coloratura soprano and a native of Birmingham, Alabama, Miss Jordan will sing Mozart's Motet, Exultate Jubilate, on Friday evening, and Vittorio Giannini's, The Medead on Saturday evening.

Also on Saturday evening, Miss Jordan will sing the soprano solo parts in the Faure Requiem.

The Medead was written especially for Miss Jordan by Giannini, who is dean of the new advanced division of the Brevard Music Center.

The composition is a four-movement, 40 minute-long "monodrama" for solo soprano and symphony orchestra written for the singer under a 1959 Ford Foundation Grant which singled Miss Jordan out as one of the top 10 U. S. performing artists to whom the Foundation wished to show "public appreciation of the richness and variety of America's musical resources at their highest level."

Five long-time friends of the Brevard Music Center and Atlanta Art Association jet plane crash victims will be memorialized Saturday evening with the presentation of the Faure Requiem.

Patrons of the Center who have died within the past year are Walter K. Straus, an official of the Olin Matheson Chemical Corporation in Brevard and an organizer of the Town of Brevard Music Center committee; —Turn to Page Six

County Court To Begin Busy Session Next Monday Morning

The General County Court of Transylvania county opens Monday, August 6th for a two weeks mixed term of both criminal and civil cases. According to Clerk of Court F. McCall, this term might well be the heaviest since the founding of the court last September.

Both jury and non-jury cases will be tried. Of the 140 criminal cases on the docket, about 20 are set for jury trials, involving about 14 defendants. The present heavy docket has built up because the County Court tries no cases during the time Superior Court is in session.

Solicitor Bruce Morton will prosecute and announces that he will start calling the criminal calendar at 9:30 a. m. on the first day of court. All defendants are warned that if each is not personally present in court at the calling of his case, a capias instanter for immediate arrest will be issued to bring any missing defendants into court.

Additional work for the court will involve defendants previously given suspended sentences, but who have failed to make required payments of fines and costs. Judge Robert T. Gash announced that he expects to order several of those to start serving their sentences for failure to live up to the conditions to their suspended sentences.

Two civil cases are expected to be tried Wednesday or Thursday, with the court finishing out the week with criminal cases. The civil cases to be tried before a jury are Jeanne Peterson vs. Flora Mae Brooks and Clara Brooks and James Marshall Kilpatrick vs. The Prudential Insurance company.

The second week of court will involve civil cases without a jury, as follows: Maude — Turn to Page Twelve

Construction Well Underway On Du Pont's Photo Products Plant

Morrison Named Manager, Will Succeed Grogan

As part of a shift in production emphasis from silicon to photographic products at the DuPont company's Brevard plant, the company today appointed Albert B. Morrison, Jr., production manager of its photo products department to succeed Leslie S. Grogan of the pigments department as plant manager effective September 1st.

DuPont said that assumption of management of the Brevard facility by the photo products department coincides with the scheduled start-up of processing of photographic materials in October. Construction of additional photographic manufacturing facilities are in full swing at the Buck Forest site and these should be completed next year, at which time employment is expected to increase from 220 to about 450 persons. More than 500 are now engaged in construction.

Mr. Grogan, who has been active in Brevard civic affairs, was assigned by the company's pigments department to the Brevard plant in 1957. He was responsible for start-up of silicon production at Brevard in 1958 and has continued as plant manager since that time.

In his new assignment as assistant manager of the pigments department's Baltimore plant, Mr. Grogan will be associated with the production of titanium dioxide, a major DuPont product with which he had been identified for a number of years. The company will continue its silicon operations at Brevard, but on a reduced scale.

Mr. Grogan is an alderman of the town of Brevard, a trustee of Brevard College, a director of the Brevard Chamber of Commerce, and a director of the 1st Union National Bank, Brevard branch. He is a director of the Transylvania county United Fund, a trustee of the Brevard Methodist church, and a trustee of the Transylvania Community hospital.

A native of Newark, N. J., Mr. Grogan, who is 53, was graduated from the University of Maryland. From 1940 to 1950 he was a member of DuPont's engineering construction division, serving in a number of key construction posts. He joined the pigments department in 1950 and prior to his assignment to the Brevard plant was assistant manager of the titanium dioxide plant at Edge Moor, Del.

Mr. Morrison, 42, is a native of Meadowbrook, W. Va., and a graduate of Virginia Military Institute. He served more than four years in the Army in World War II. —Turn to Page Seven

Galloway Is Recommended For PO Post

Thomas W. (Bill) Galloway has been recommended for acting postmaster at Rosman.

Congressman Roy A. Taylor sent his name to the Post Office Department recently after receiving an endorsement from the Transylvania County Democratic Executive Committee. The committee met July 14, and voted 25-1 to recommend Galloway, according to county Chairman Bill Lyda.

In recent examinations for the office, Calvin C. Raxter was the only one reported certified on the eligibility list, but the Democratic executive committee refused to endorse him because of his party (Republican) affiliation. Galloway passed this test but did not meet the residence requirements. He has since met that condition.

Last February, the former executive committee recommended Dewey Burton for the Rosman postmastership.
