

Derailment Of Locomotive And Five Freight Cars Creates Much Excitement

A SOUTHERN RAILWAY FREIGHT TRAIN was derailed last Saturday afternoon at the Hannah Ford road crossing between Brevard and Rosman, and the pictures above vividly show the pile-up. Actually, the locomotive and five cars were derailed, and only one car and the caboose remained on the tracks. Much damage was done as the cars plowed up tracks and ties for a considerable distance. A railway derrick was shipped from Asheville and the engine and cars were hoisted back onto the repaired tracks late Tuesday. The freight train was hauling sand, stone and cement for the new satellite tracking station above Rosman when the accident occurred. The left photo above shows the derailed locomotive, and the pile-up of cars is pictured at the right. (Times Staff Photos)

Seeking To Send High School Students Locally

A suit seeking admission of 56 Negro junior and senior high school students to Transylvania county schools was filed last Friday in U. S. District Clerk Thomas Rhodes' office in Asheville.

Asheville attorney Ruben J. Dailey instituted the suit against the Transylvania County Board of Education, county schools Supt. C. W. Bradburn, board Chairman E. B. Matheson and board members Thomas E. Ramsay, Eugene M. Morris, Harry F. Morgan and D. S. Winchester.

The suit seeks a temporary restraining order asking admission of the plaintiffs for the '62-'63 school year, a speedy hearing, a permanent injunction restraining assignment on a racial basis or a reorganization plan for assignment on a nonracial basis of both pupils and teachers.

Alleging that the plaintiffs must be transported by bus 21 miles to Hendersonville, it notes that eight Negro pupils have been assigned to the previously all-white Brevard junior and senior high schools for this fall.

Plaintiffs named in the action include Georgia Anna Conley, Robert Conley, Jr., Leonard Ossie Bailey, Cail Elliott, Keith Elliott, Tommy Ferguson, James Edward Gardin, Jr., Ruby Gardin, Harold Chatman, Dwight
