

College President Says Thanks

Mr. John Anderson, Editor The Transylvania Times Brevard, N. C.

Dear Mr. Anderson:
On behalf of Brevard College and the whole campus community, please let me thank you and your entire staff at The Transylvania Times for the splendid College Edition of The Times published last week.
One small boy's definition of a friend:
"Somebody who knows all about you — and still likes you".
Certainly you and your staff qualify under most any definition as a friend of the College, and we on the campus feel most fortunate to have your support.

Thank you especially for introducing our excellent faculty and staff to the people of Brevard and the surrounding area. Those of us who have lived in Brevard for several years know something about the friendliness of the citizens, and it is always pleasing to hear new-comers, such as the recent additions to our faculty and staff, express appreciation for the way the community has welcomed them.

For this special edition of The Times, and for the many ways by which you help the College, please accept this word of thanks.

Sincerely yours,
Emmett K. McLarty, Jr.

Good Response Is Reported As '63 United Fund Campaign Begins

No Decision Reached In Bank Matter

North Carolina Bank Commissioner Ben R. Roberts told The Times Wednesday morning that no recommendations or decisions had been made by the banking commission concerning the controversial applications of Northwestern Bank and the First Citizens Bank and Trust company to establish banking facilities in Brevard.

Mr. Roberts said his recommendations would be made, as previously stated, before the full commission at their meeting on October 24th.

Last week a story in the Charlotte Observer said that the decision as to which bank would be established in Brevard might be delayed for a long time, pending an investigation of the banking laws by a special study committee.

Mr. Roberts said he had not issued any statements regarding postponements of the Brevard decision. He follows a strict rule of not revealing his recommendations in advance. As a matter of fact, Mr. Roberts' recommendations are not made public even by the commission.

State's First Drive Of Year Underway Here

The 1963 United Fund campaign is now in full swing in Brevard and Transylvania county.

Campaign chairman, Chester Kilpatrick, urges all citizens of the community to respond generously and give their "fair share" when they are contacted by the solicitors.

Actually, the drive opened Monday morning at 7:00 o'clock with a kick-off breakfast at Gaither's for the campaign workers.

Over 40 area chairmen and solicitors attended the "feed" which was presided over by the campaign director. President John Bailey welcomed the group, and supplies were given out by the executive secretary, Jim Wulpi.

The group heard Bob Reardon, of Carolinas United, tell of the importance of the success of the drive, and he said that Brevard was the first town in North Carolina to begin the '63 United Fund campaign.

The second was Hickory, which opened at 8:30 that same morning.

The United Fund office is now open here each morning from 9:00 until 12:00 noon in the building on the corner of Broad and Jordan that was formerly occupied by Cassell's.

The goal this year is $30,664.00, which is approximately the amount that was raised in the town and county last year.

Mr. Kilpatrick announced at the breakfast that the First Union National Bank for the second year in a row was the first organization to contribute 100 per cent for the firm and the employees. He expressed his appreciation to W. A. "Bill" Keith and his staff.

Auto, and Dewey Burton's Store, in Rosman; Tom McKinney store, Cathey's Creek; Hi-Bunyan Grocery, Cedar Mountain; Ray Johnson's Terrace Service, Pisgah Forest; Penrose grocery, Penrose; and Merrill's Grocery, Little River; Bill Wilson, See-Off community; and Coy Compton's Grocery, Dunn's Rock.

Now Holding Successful WNC Fire Training School Locally

Approximately 200 firemen from Western North Carolina are participating in the third annual W.N.C. Firemen's Association Fire school here in Brevard.

The school opened Monday night in the county court house. T. L. "Buck" McCall welcomed the firemen in behalf of the Brevard Fire department and the W.N.C. Firemen's association.

The men were introduced to the instructors and assigned to classes by Sherman Pickard, school coordinator and instructor from the office of State Insurance Commissioner in Raleigh.

H. B. Self, president of the North Carolina Firemen's association, of Rocky Mount, was present for the opening of the school. George Bartlett, first vice president, of Spruce Pine, is expected to be here for a part of the activities.

Ten classes are being held simultaneously with two classes being conducted at the fire station, three at the Brevard Senior High school, and five at the Brevard Training grounds.

Instructors from the Raleigh office serving with Mr. Pickard are Elwood Inscow and David Lee.

Chief Fred Dalton, director of the school, of the Skyland department, and Chief Dan Merrill, of the Brevard department, stated they were well pleased with the number in attendance. They praised highly the fine work the instructors are doing and the keen interest shown by the firemen.

The public is invited to observe the simulated fire fighting activities at the training grounds.

Justice Douglas Hikes Into Pisgah Wilderness

Associate Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court William O. Douglas, one of the world's more active hikers and a walking authority on the world's mountains, this week described the Pisgah and Balsam Highlands as "a bit of Heaven."

On a four-day visit to the Pisgah and Nantahala National Forests, Justice Douglas covered some 40 miles by car and on foot from sunup to sundown on Monday.

He hiked some eight miles into the proposed Shining Rock wildlife area, a 13,400-acre tract located at the headwaters of East Fork of Pigeon River in Haywood County, and climbed up to Shining Rock itself, a 5,940-foot outcropping of white quartz.

Mr. Douglas later visited the site of the first forestry school in America at the Pink Beds, established in 1898 by Dr. Carl Schenck. "As a boy," said Douglas, "I dreamed of becoming a forest ranger."

On Tuesday Mr. Douglas and his hiking companions traveled by car to the Craggy Mountains scenic area north of Asheville where they hiked to the falls of Waterfall Creek and later to one of the few virgin sugar maple stands in Eastern America.

In order to meet the growing needs of the county, an Industrial Cooperative Training program is being set up in both Brevard senior high school and Rosman high school this year.

John Loftis Is Now Enrolled At St. Andrews In Scotland

John Edgar Loftis, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Loftis, Maple street, Brevard, is now enrolled at St. Andrews University, St. Andrews, Scotland.

A member of the 1962 graduating class at Brevard high school, young Loftis is looking forward to an exciting year of study at the noted university in Scotland.

He decided to enroll at St. Andrews after an uncle, Rev. Bill Vassey, who is taking his doctorate there, suggested that he should do so.

Young Loftis is living with Mr. and Mrs. Vassey at St. Andrews, and the three sailed for Scotland last weekend from New York.

Cast Is Chosen For Next Play, Little Theatre

The results of try-outs Monday night for "Charley's Aunt" have been announced by Maggie Masters, chairman of the BLT casting committee.

The Brevard Little Theatre will open its 13th season with the presentation of "Charley's Aunt", a three-act comedy by Brandon Thomas, at the American Legion Hall, November 16 and 17. The play, a long-time favorite of theatre audiences, was first produced in New York in 1894.

Leonard Poteet, who will be remembered for his role as Japanese houseboy last year in "Majority of One" will play Lord Fancourt Babberley, a college student who also plays the part of "Charley's Aunt".

Oscar Smith, a Brevard College student who played the part of the butler in BLT's "Watch on the Rhine", will be Jack Chesney, a college student who laughs his way through life and through his "drive" sets the pace of the play. His friend, Charlie Wykeham, will be played by Dick Seiler, who played in "Majority of One". Shirley Hammill, who

Some 405 delegates attended the meeting at the Robert E. Lee hotel.

Mr. Westwood is associate construction engineer for the State Highway Commission, handling the western part of North Carolina. His territory reaches roughly from Morganton to Murphy.

"Our plans for the highway and prison employees go hand in hand with better service for the people of North Carolina," he said as he assumed office. "That has always been our aim."

James A. Sanders, of Burgaw, highway landscape engineer, was named first vice president, and C. B. Wicker, of McCain, head of the state prison sanatorium, was chosen second vice president.

Otis Banks, of Raleigh, executive secretary of the association for many years, was re-elected to this position.

The group heard addresses from George Randal, director of the state prison system, and C. W. Lee, chief engineer of the state highway system, at its final business session.
